GOP Disputes Harriman on No Relief Money

Wicks Says Fund Near 2 Million

Senator Cites No Figure Given Ike

Disputing Gov. Harriman's statement that no state funds were available now for relief from flood damages, Republican legislative leaders at Albany, and Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, declared today that nearly two million dollars was at hand.

Walter J. Mahoney, senate majority leader, according to the Associated Press, and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck said in a statement that Harriman had at his disposal $1,795,000 in the state's governmental emergency fund.

THE GOP chiefs urged Harriman to consider making immediate allocations from the fund.

"We will approve such action, by signing the required certificates of intent, immediately upon receiving the necessary request from the the governor," Heck and Mahoney said.

Under law, the governor, with approval of legislative leaders, can initiate action to dispense emergency funds through state departments.

SEN. WICKS explained the procedure in an interview with The Freeman on Monday stressing that "when an emergency arises from floods, fires and other causes, funds may be immediately available by the state.

The Associated Press quoted Gov. Harriman, Saturday, as having said at his Long Island estate that:

"There is no state money available. The situation must be surveyed, after immediate needs are taken care of, and, if necessary, funds must be sought through the legislative committees.

"THERE ARE NO funds available in the governor's office..."

Sen Wicks said today, "The Legislature and legislative leadership stand ready to approve within their authority any emergency plan to permit maximum state action to alleviate personal suffering and hardship and to help restore services and facilities damaged by the tragic flood in the southeast section of New York state especially at Ellenville, Port Jervis and in the Pleasant valley area of Dutchess county."

Attention was called by Sen. Wicks to a story on page one of the New York Times today which reported amounts requested by

$160,000 Is Voted For Sewers, Streets

Street and sewer construction for a development off Pearl street extension was approved by the Common Council which authorized $160,000 for the projects at a recessed meeting last night.

Improvement of a sewer line in Broadway between Delaware avenue and East Chester street was authorized at a cost of $30,000, a fire department request for two pumpers for volunteer companies was left with the finance committee, and a resolution by two aldermen proposing general city pay boosts was referred to Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

THE COUNCILMEN, who had held three meetings this month, adjourned to meet Sept. 14, instead of the regular meeting date Sept. 6.

A letter from Patrolman Sheldon O'Rourke presenting his impressions of a course on juvenile delinquency at St. Lawrence University, was read and filed, and Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly instructed City Clerk Bernhard S. Kramer to express appreciation for the report in a letter to O'Rourke.

Kramer, who had also attended the session this year, and on two other occasions, said he would have a report for the aldermen at the regular September meeting. His phase of the course, he said, dealt largely with the psychiatric approach to crime prevention, and new methods advocated for prevention and adjustments of offending individuals.

Continued Ferry Up to Authority

Continued ferry service between Newburgh and Beacon after next month will depend upon decision of the New York State Bridge Authority, it was indicated today.

In operation since colonial days, the ferry service is due to end Sept. 30, it was announced recently. The bridge authority has been requested to take action similar to that which provided continued ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff a decade ago when former transport service ended.

Financial difficulties were given as the reason for stopping the ferry.

3 Local Agencies Move To Aid Flooded Farms

Relief for farmers finding it difficult to obtain loans to repair flood damage and continue operations is planned by officials of three local agricultural agencies, it was announced today.

A press release from F. A. Norman, county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, 54 John street, said that a movement has been started to have the flood sectors declared disaster areas in order to receive recognition for emergency loans from his organization.

Mr. Norman said that a meeting held August 22 by officials of the Farmers Home Administration.

It was at this meeting that the movement started relative to the disaster area declaration so that farmers unable to obtain needed credit locally to repair damages and continue operations might be eligible for emergency loans from the Farmers Home Administration.

Dutchess Fair Preparing For Opening on Saturday

The bustling Rhinebeck showgrounds were being readied today for the Dutchess County Fair which opens Saturday and runs for five days and nights. Opening hour will be 8 a. m. daily, except for a 1 p. m., opening Sunday.

After a survey of the showgrounds, Pierre Cookingham, fair president, said that without a doubt this would be "the biggest and best fair we've ever had."

Every inch of exhibit space was sold out 10 days ago, and all available tents have been hired for cattle and special exhibits, said Mr. Cookingham. He pointed out that in addition to the permanent exhibit halls on the grounds, more than 95,500 square feet of area has been covered with tents for the show.

This, of course, doesn't include the canvas for the big King Reid shows which will be on the grounds with 325 features. This alone covers six acres, and features scores of rides for adults as well as children.

Governor Averell Harriman will be one of the first visitors to the fair Saturday. He is to arrive at the showgrounds at 11 a. m., and will spend an hour or more inspecting exhibits. Former Governor Dewey also said he hopes to visit the fair.

Opening day features include the judging of the 17 Grange

Denial Is Answered On Action

Wicks Outlines Ellenville Aid

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks' recent comment on flood relief for stricken county areas, drew a denial of any action, to date, from Ellenville's mayor and another statement today from the senator lists steps taken in behalf of the Ellenville area.

Mayor Eugene Glusker of Ellenville, said in a telegram this morning to Senator Wicks that he had no record in his office of any offer of assistance from the senator as reported in The Freeman Monday.

HE SAID he had been in constant communication with Governor Harriman and Senator Lehman's office, had had in Ellenville "the top men" in the state flood controls and Army Engineering Corps. "At this writing the State Department of Public Works is ready to step into this area to take complete charge of restoring this area to its former condition. Of course, we welcome any assistance your office may give this village in its hour of need. Sincerely, Mayor Eugene M. Glusker."

IN REPLY to Mayor Glusker, Senator Wicks wired as follows: lows:

"You state your office has no record of my office offering assistance to you during recent flood. During such a grave emergency one cannot wait to be asked. We acted. Our county Civil Defense organization, under the able leadership of Bill Rose, had 300 workers in action in Ellenville. Our county highway department offered you their full assistance.

Meeting Friday On Bridge Repair

An emergency meeting of the board of supervisors has been called for Friday evening at 8 o'clock. At that time consideration will be given to repair of damage done to bridges and public structures by the flood last week.

A survey has been made of the damage to bridges in the county and it is apparent that the loss will run well over a half million dollars. In places the bridges have been completely destroyed and others have been severely damaged.

The loss far exceeds the bridge appropriation made available for bridge work in the annual budget. Additional funds will have to be provided.

Offices Open Here For Disaster Help

Two flood-disaster relief offices were opened in Kingston today, one by the Small Business Administration and the other by the Veterans Administration.

Simultaneous with a declaration by the Small Business Administration that all of Connecticut and 11 counties in Rhode Island, New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts are disaster areas as a result of devastating floods, a local office, one of 12 temporary disaster loan offices in the devastated areas, was opened at 259 Fair street in the office of the New York State Department of Commerce. The other SBA New York state office was opened in Port Jervis.

THE OFFICE'S purpose is to facilitate relief to residents and businessmen who are flood victims.

Arthur E. Long, acting regional director, Region 2, SBA, with main offices at 1790 Broadway, New York, made the announcement of temporary offices. The local office is in charge of John R. Glassford, financial specialist.

Sullivan, Orange, Ulster, Dutchess and Rockland counties are the affected disaster areas in New York state, according to W. Norbert Engles, acting administrator of Small Business Administration, Washington, D. C.

APPLICATION forms will be on hand and assistance will be given at the local office by staff members to prepare properly the necessary information for consideration by the administration. In addition, applications for disaster loans may be filed at the regional office, 1790 Broadway, New city.

Today's action was in addition to that taken last Friday when eight counties in Pennsylvania and five in Massachusetts were declared disaster areas.

8 Agencies Are Making Survey for Assistance

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—The administration checked its available resources and conferred with congressional leaders today as it sought to provide 80 to 100 million dollars for flood relief without a special session of Congress.

That figure on the needs of the water-ravaged northeast was given yesterday by Van Peterson, civil defense administrator, after a White House conference put eight agencies to work surveying what they can do immediately.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower said yesterday he will call a special session of Congress if it is needed to make enough relief funds available. Most lawmakers expressed hope the money can be obtained out of appropriations already made.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said after the agency conference, however, that a special session is "always in the picture and is still a possibility until we get further along with our discussions."

Lt. Gen. S. D. Sturgis Jr., chief of army engineers, announced early today he has ordered immediate mobilization of military and civilian engineering and construction personnel to remove debris, health and safety hazards and to restore public facilities temporarily.

FORTY-EIGHT. engineering officers headed northward from Ft. Belvoir, Va., and others were called from eastern, central and southern states to supplement field parties already at work in the New England area.

In addition to the engineers, yesterday's White House conference included representatives of Civil Defense, the Budget Bureau, the Commerce Department, housing agencies, the Justice Department, the Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM) and the Small Business Administration (SBA).

Peterson said that aside from the engineers, more time will be required to determine what help the other agencies can give.

THE WHITE HOUSE said Eisenhower talked yesterday with some leaders of Congress to get their opinions and let them know what was being planned. Others, not immediately available, were to be reached today.

There was a general feeling that agencies might be able to use funds already appropriated, with the understanding Congress might replace them as needed with supplemental appropriations next year.

Peterson said $11,600,000 now is available and Chairman Hayden (D.-Ariz.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee said another 10 million dollars could

Race Issue Answer Up To People

The greatest strength of the law which 10 years ago created the State Commission Against Discrimination rests in "the support and approval of the people," Former County Judge J. Edward Conway, a member of the commission, told the Lions Club at its weekly luncheon meeting yesterday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

This support has been "in full measure," Judge Conway said. "The prophets of doom who cried out against its enactment 10 years ago have been proved wrong in every one of their gloomy forecasts. They foresaw a Gestapo-like control of business and we have found almost universal willingness to comply and cooperate. They claimed that business would be driven out of the state by boycotts. In this to accept and act upon the principle of equality of opportunity even before the law was enacted.

"THOSE WHO saw only disaster through the adoption of this law due to anticipated incompetence of employes, race riots and strikes, have seen instead a smooth transition toward a new and brighter day. Industry has profited mightily by the employment of those with the highest skills irrespective of race, creed or national origin.

"Mutual respect for ability and capacity took the place of the much feared racial tensions and no strike was ever called because of the employment of any persons of a particular race, creed or national origin. This tribute belongs not only to the far-sighted legislators who passed the law but as well to the leaders of industry, union labor, organizations working in the field and to our citizens who believed in the law."

Judge Conway said that within the past 10 years the commission had seen gifted and competent Negroes rise high in the professions, business, science and the arts and that the only

Ulster Red Cross Ready To Accept Flood Funds

Contributions for relief of flood-stricken communities are now being received by the Ulster county chapter, American Red Cross, it was announced today by Mrs. William H. Merrill, chairman of the local chapter.

Communications from national headquarters indicated the scope of the disaster and the nature of the relief and rehabilitation problem faced by the Red Cross, she pointed out, urging county residents to respond as generously as possible.

An initial appropriation of $2,000,000 has been made by the American Red Cross for the preliminary phases of its relief operation.

According to E. Roland Harriman, head of the National Red Cross, the cost of adequately caring for these flood sufferers will run into many additional millions of dollars. He has urgently appealed to "all Americans" to contribute to a Red Cross flood relief fund which will be earmarked entirely for use in the flood area.

"Over the years the American people have made it possible for the Red Cross to meet disaster needs and to alleviate human suffering," he declared in a telegram to the local chapter.

"Now we are again faced with the specter of distress and human suffering over a great area of the populous east. In the name of the affected people I ask everyone to contribute generously through their local Red Cross chapter."

He said the Red Cross had

O'Rourke Stresses Prevention Angle In Report on JD Course for Police

Attendance at a course on juvenile deliquency, said Patrolman Sheldon O'Rourke in a recent letter to Mayor Frederick H. Stang, has broadened his knowledge as a policeman.

O'Rourke, Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw and City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer recently returned from St. Lawrence University, Canton, where they attended the course for several days. The others, who had previously attended the course, expressed views similar to those of the patrolman.

Mayor Stang, reviewing the letter today said: "I think it is excellent. It shows interest by our policemen in a problem which we are now studying, and can only mean good results.

Officer O'Rourke's letter said: Dear Mayor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for an experience that would take years to acquire in the field. I feel that I am compelled to make a report of my activities for the past week, because of the great opportunity you presented me.

As you know, this Institute has been formed to enlighten police officers, such as myself, on the subject of Juvenile Delinquency The courses I attended are listed as follows. The Basic Orientation to Juvenile Delinquency by Dr. Paul Tappan. My second class was the subject of Youth Problems, by Mr. Donald MacNamara. Last but not least, The Community and Juvenile Delinquency, by Dr. James Brennan, who because of his experience as a policeman in the New York City Juvenile Bureau, along with his degrees on Sociology, is an excellent authority.

Mayor, all of these men have pointed out their theories on our problem. I say "our problem," even though we are fortunate to have a low rate of de-

He has urgently appealed to "all Americans" to contribute to a Red Cross flood relief fund which will be earmarked entirely for use in the flood area.

"Over the years the American people have made it possible for the Red Cross to meet disaster needs and to alleviate human suffering," he declared in a telegram to the local chapter.

"Now we are again faced with the specter of distress and human suffering over a great area of the populous east. In the name of the affected people I ask everyone to contribute generously through their local Red Cross chapter."

He said the Red Cross had

O'Rourke Stresses Prevention Angle In Report on JD Course for Police

Attendance at a course on juvenile deliquency, said Patrolman Sheldon O'Rourke in a recent letter to Mayor Frederick H. Stang, has broadened his knowledge as a policeman.

O'Rourke, Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw and City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer recently returned from St. Lawrence University, Canton, where they attended the course for several days. The others, who had previously attended the course, expressed views similar to those of the patrolman.

Mayor Stang, reviewing the letter today said: "I think it is excellent. It shows interest by our policemen in a problem which we are now studying, and can only mean good results.

Officer O'Rourke's letter said:

Dear Mayor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for an experience that would take years to acquire in the field. I feel that I am compelled to make a report of my activities for the past week, because of the great opportunity you presented me.

As you know, this Institute has been formed to enlighten police officers, such as myself, on the subject of Juvenile Delinquency The courses I attended are listed as follows. The Basic Orientation to Juvenile Delinquency by Dr. Paul Tappan. My second class was the subject of Youth Problems, by Mr. Donald MacNamara. Last but not least, The Community and Juvenile Delinquency, by Dr. James Brennan, who because of his experience as a policeman in the New York City Juvenile Bureau, along with his degrees on Sociology, is an excellent authority.

Mayor, all of these men have pointed out their theories on our problem. I say "our problem," even though we are fortunate to have a low rate of de-

Few Drivers Need Medical Approval To Renew License

Albany, Aug. 23 — Failure of drivers, seeking to renew their operators' licenses, to fully understand the new regulation requiring a doctor's statement in certain cases has led to literally thousands of telephone calls to all offices of the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly said yesterday.

Commissioner Kelly pointed out that not all drivers need to present a medical certificate of safe driving capability in order to renew their licenses. Only those who have a history of fainting spells, diabetes, stroke, Bright's disease, excessive high blood pressure and any heart ailment are subject to the new rule which went into effect last year.

THOSE APPLICANTS who have suffered any of these ailments since obtaining their last license will not be able to have their licenses renewed until their cases have been reviewed by the Bureau's Safety Division, in either New York city or Albany.

If the affliction occurred before the applicant received his previous license, he then needs only to present the doctor's statement that in his judgment the applicant is capable of driving safely. His new license will be issued but the case will be earmarked for later review by the Safety Division.

The commissioner also said yesterday that renewals are coming in slowly and suggests that all operators check their licenses to learn the expiration date. About 3,500,000 operators' licenses throughout the state will be void after September 30 of this year.

Will Coax Firms To New York State

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)— The Commerce Department will open an office in downtown Chicago this fall for its mid-western representative.

Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson announced the move yesterday and said it was part of a campaign to induce mid-western firms to expand into New York state. The office site has not been chosen.

Rene Risch of Chicago has been the representative since Oct. 1, 1953. He will have a secretary. His salary of $9,228 will not be changed.

Dickinson said the department has had promotion representatives in the mid-west since 1946.

Tillson

Tillson, Aug. 23—The Tillson Volunteer Fire Company annual carnival, postponed due to heavy rains first, then to local area flood conditions, will be held Saturday evening, Aug. 27, at the fire grounds. A good crowd attended the activity Saturday evening. It is hoped that a larger crowd will be in attendance next Saturday.

Mrs. Walter Born and daughter Maureen and Mrs. Peter Hoffman, Jr., and daughter Patricia recently visited relatives and friends in New York city.

90 'Y' Boys Attend Rodeo at Tumbleweed

Ninety boys from the YMCA attended the rodeo Saturday at Tumbleweed Ranch and despite a minor accident the youngsters were in agreement that the day afforded much experience.

Led by Frank Rebollo, Boys' Secretary at the YMCA, they first stopped for a swim at the Saugerties Bathing Beach and then continued on to the ranch for the rodeo program.

Few Drivers Need Medical Approval To Renew License

Albany, Aug. 23 — Failure of drivers, seeking to renew their operators' licenses, to fully understand the new regulation requiring a doctor's statement in certain cases has led to literally thousands of telephone calls to all offices of the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly said yesterday.

Commissioner Kelly pointed out that not all drivers need to present a medical certificate of safe driving capability in order to renew their licenses. Only those who have a history of fainting spells, diabetes, stroke, Bright's disease, excessive high blood pressure and any heart ailment are subject to the new rule which went into effect last year.

THOSE APPLICANTS who have suffered any of these ailments since obtaining their last license will not be able to have their licenses renewed until their cases have been reviewed by the Bureau's Safety Division, in either New York city or Albany.

If the affliction occurred before the applicant received his previous license, he then needs only to present the doctor's statement that in his judgment the applicant is capable of driving safely. His new license will be issued but the case will be earmarked for later review by the Safety Division.

The commissioner also said yesterday that renewals are coming in slowly and suggests that all operators check their licenses to learn the expiration date. About 3,500,000 operators' licenses throughout the state will be void after September 30 of this year.

Will Coax Firms To New York State

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—The Commerce Department will open an office in downtown Chicago this fall for its mid-western representative.

Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson announced the move yesterday and said it was part of a campaign to induce mid-western firms to expand into New York state. The office site has not been chosen.

Rene Risch of Chicago has been the representative since Oct. 1, 1953. He will have a secretary. His salary of $9,228 will not be changed.

Dickinson said the department has had promotion representatives in the mid-west since 1946.

Tillson

Tillson, Aug. 23—The Tillson Volunteer Fire Company annual carnival, postponed due to heavy rains first, then to local area flood conditions, will be held Saturday evening, Aug. 27, at the fire grounds. A good crowd attended the activity Saturday evening. It is hoped that a larger crowd will be in attendance next Saturday.

Mrs. Walter Born and daughter Maureen and Mrs. Peter Hoffman, Jr., and daughter Patricia recently visited relatives and friends in New York city.

90 'Y' Boys Attend Rodeo at Tumbleweed

Ninety boys from the YMCA attended the rodeo Saturday at Tumbleweed Ranch and despite a minor accident the youngsters were in agreement that the day afforded much experience.

Led by Frank Rebollo, Boys' Secretary at the YMCA, they first stopped for a swim at the Saugerties Bathing Beach and then continued on to the ranch for the rodeo program.

HEARINGS ON COMMUNISM

The sort of hearings conducted recently by the House un-American Activities Committee into Communist infiltration into the entertainment world inevitably must produce some puzzled reactions.

Only one of the 23 witnesses called in New York acknowledged Red affiliation, saying he was formerly a member of the Communist party and naming eight others as having such links.

The others either invoked the Fifth Amendment, the First Amendment or generally bucked committee questioning without falling back on constitutional support for their resistance.

Constitutional protection is intended to be real, not fictional. Nevertheless, when individuals publicly decline to answer questions put by a duly constituted congressional committee, they must understand that some suspicion is sure to attach to their performance.

Their reasons for refusal to answer these queries candidly may be important to them. But by now they certainly must realize that their reputations suffer as much or more by that action as they would if they frankly admitted party membership.

ART AND DIPLOMACY

The change in attitude inside the Soviet Union—if a change is what it is—is being reflected in fields other than diplomacy. In the last several months there has been a new receptiveness to Western culture. Western artists, writers and musicians are being invited to come to Russia.

If the new Soviet approach to world affairs is sincere then the attention being given to Western writing and art could have significance. Diplomats conduct the formal relationships between countries. Yet art can be a common denominator through which people come to know and understand one another.

Since the revolution in Russia there have been strict regulations placed on what writers, artists and musicians might circulate there. It would be fine if now those restrictions would be raised and the Russian people allowed to examine the Western world as it is expressed by its poets, its painters and its musicians.

PRICE TAG ON SAFETY

The trouble with traffic is the dog-in-the-manger, says Joseph C. Ingraham, traffic specialist of the New York Times and author of the new book, "Modern Traffic Control." He means by that the number of interested parties who reject solutions that might step on their own toes.

Automobile clubs oppose toll roads and scientific tests for drunken drivers, in the supposed interest of their own members. Manufacturers preach safety, yet step up the speed and power in their new models. Dealers oppose compulsory brake and headlight inspection. Insurance companies balk at compulsory accident insurance. Landlords are unwilling to provide garage space in new buildings. Cities fail to ban curb parking, and police fight attempts to turn their regulatory authority, even in part, over to other bodies.

This is no new story. Perhaps we do not have traffic safety because so few are willing to pay the price.

BEWARE BIG SKEETERS

The British have developed an airplane that has been dubbed the "flying mattress." Its wings are inflated with air. When the pilot has descended, he deflates the wings, folds them up and stows them in the fuselage.

All this is convenient, but the manufacturer will doubtless issue a word of caution: Watch out for pointy church steeples.

Television has become a powerful magnet in many living rooms. Yet it's amazing how well people somehow survive even when the set is on the blink.

Why limit library visits to book searching? Peace and quiet is a fast disappearing and therefore treasured commodity. Why not enjoy a little reading in library calm?

WHAT IS BANKING?

John J. McCloy, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chase-Manhattan Bank in New York, defined the nature of banking in a manner that indicates the degree to which this service industry has become socialized in this country. He said:

". . . It is relevant to note that in supporting their objective to foster the soundness and capability of banks, the supervisory authorities place certain definite limits on the competitive process. For example banking is not a business which anyone can enter who has the necessary capital and who desires to go into it. Indeed, existing banks are not even free to expand as they may desire. The supervisory authorities—the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Reserve Board, the FDIC, or the various state banking agencies—exercise control over entry into banking; they control the ability of existing banks to establish new branches; and their approval is usually required for any increase in capital stock. Today in New York City, for example, it is not possible for a bank to open new branches in many areas of the city. Frequently the supervisory authorities will not permit additional offices on the ground that there is already an established bank in the area and the opening of a new branch might lead to excessive competition. This same situation prevails in many other areas of the country as well. Hence one of the primary requisites for free competition—freedom of entry—is generally absent in banking. . . ."

It was never intended, either by the Congress or by state legislative bodies, when bank legislation was passed, that competition should be eliminated from banking, just as when railroad legislation was passed, it was never intended to reduce the railroads to non-competitive operations strangled by the bureaucrats of the Interstate Commerce Commission. These are two examples of bureaucratic excesses which do not serve the people who are led falsely to believe that they are in some manner protected by officials.

Mr. McCloy says: ". . . Banking is not a business which anyone can enter . . ." which is only too true. But who are the political appointees who determine who is to be permitted to enter the banking business? It would be interesting if a Congressional committee would gather data on how many employes of the Federal Reserve Board or the Comptroller of the Currency, who looks after banks in the Federal system, or the State Banking Boards and control agencies have found employment with banks while they were working for government or immediately after they were fired or retired. It is not unusual to hear, a year or two in advance, that such and such an official will get a job in such and such a bank when he is retired—and he does.

But from what vast experience are these bank controllers and examiners recruited? Often they are lawyers without much practice who get a government job; often they are young men on the Civil Service to whom a million dollars is a shocking fact. Some of these bank examiners are so ignorant of normal business practices that their inspections become an absurdity at which practical bankers laugh but the recommendations of which they must obey.

The banks in a city like New York, in prosperous times, pile up money which they cannot use freely, but which life insurance companies can use freely. The laws governing the movement of money are so inconsistent that all sorts of sideline groups go into indirect banking business by devices which give them a competitive advantage in the principal function of any bank which is to lend money at interest with the object of making a profit.

Whenever, in the capitalist system, the object is to make a profit, the prospect of a loss is ever-present. The capitalist system is a risk economy. Socialism provides security by government guarantees; it also reverts to slavery, which is the surest way of guaranteeing security. If banks or any other industries in a capitalist country are to serve without any risk at all, then they become government institutions. When you look at McCloy's list of controlling agencies, it is clear how close the banks are to being government agencies. And if the bankers do what the government wants them to do, whether or not it is sound or even honest, the banker is a great man; otherwise, he can be hounded out of the business.

That Body of Yours

MORE ABOUT LITTLE STROKES

Yesterday we wrote of the frequency with which little strokes occur and how often they are not recognized as such until there have been a series of them, often bringing serious personality changes. Is there anything to be done for this condition? Perhaps the disease can be delayed by keeping the weight down to normal. But what we should remember is that many people do get better after a little stroke. Some persons may go for ten or fifteen years in good health before another little stroke occurs. Many lose the symptoms so quickly that it is difficult to believe anything important has happened. Several things might have happened in these mild cases. For example, the nerve cells may be only slightly injured; shock to a small area of brain has passed off; impulses in the brain may be rerouted around the area destroyed; the blood circulation may set up a new route for itself around the plugged artery.

The prognosis, or outlook, depends largely, of course, on how much of the brain has been destroyed. The outlook is not good for those whose character and ability have been badly changed for the worse. Should the patient be told he has had a little stroke? Dr. Walter Alvarez says, "I think it wise to discuss the possibility that there has been a little stroke, if only because so many of these people have a good hunch as to what has happened to them the day they suddenly felt ill. This being true, they can hardly think much of the ability or frankness of the doctor who does not seem even to suspect what they had and why they have remained so long disabled, miserable, and unable to work. When the doctor and the family refuse to mention little strokes, the patient feels all the more frightened, isolated and deserted."

The family of the patient should be told something about little strokes so that they can be more understanding and more forgiving of the patient's cantankerousness. The family needs to know that the brain has been bady injured and because of this a kind, reasonable father may become unkind and unreasonable. In many cases, a man's employers or partners need to know quickly that he is never likely to work again. Then they can retire him with a pension. Many a man who has lost his drive and skills should be retired quickly, before he wrecks the morale of the department or perhaps, if he is in business for himself, before he loses his business.

In summary, in millions of cases, little thromboses in the brain slowly, over the course of 10 or 15 years, pull a person down, slow him up, age him, and eventually kill him. Unfortunately, unless the physician suspects the nature of the patient's trouble and asks about a sudden dizzy spell or a momentary blackout, the diagnosis of a coronary attack or cancer may be made. Dr. Alvarez says he usually prescribes one or two tablets daily of iodobrassid (Lipoiodine) and others have found that three grains daily of thyroid substance has helped symptoms.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Harold E. Stassen will be the new boy at bat for the United States when the United Nations disarmament subcommittee convenes in New York Aug. 29 for another conference.

All of Stassen's predecessor pinch hitters have taken bean balls or struck out on this pitch before. They include Bernard Baruch, Benjamin V. Cohen, Morehead Patterson and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., now U. S. chief delegate to the UN.

Lodge sat in at the beginning of the London disarmament talks earlier this year. But when no progress was made, he turned the job over to his deputy, James J. Wadsworth.

Though Lodge is jealous of his position as head man on UN affairs, it is now expected that Stassen will do most of the disarmament negotiating this fall.

STASSEN WAS MADE President Eisenhower's cabinet "Secretary for Peace" last March. His assignment was to develop administration disarmament policies. He has been working at it full time since July 1.

Stassen has prepared plans for several new approaches to the disarmament and arms inspection problems. They have not been greeted with much enthusiasm by either the State Department or the Pentagon, however.

Secy. of State John Foster Dulles says there are no new disarmament plans. He declares that when the UN disarmament subcommittee resumes work, the U. S. will start from President Eisenhower's own plan put before the Big Four at Geneva. This calls for unrestricted aerial inspection of each other's military installations by the U. S. and U.S.S.R.

Stassen had nothing to do with the inception of this policy. It was more the President's own brainchild, with Nelson Rockefeller and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, assisting at its birth.

ALL THIS WOULD seem to make Stassen's position not exactly the most clearly defined thing in Washington. But assurances are given that everything is harmonious and the administration is working like a team.

This is in spite of the fact that many skeptics still don't understand just how the President's inspection plan is going to work. This is emphasized by present experience with inspection teams in Korea.

In tackling this tough problem Stassen will in a sense be returning to clean up a job he started 10 years ago.

As an Americain delegate to the United Nations charter-writing conference at San Francisco in 1945, Stassen served on the committee to consider ways and means for peaceful settlement of international disputes.

ON THIS COMMITTEE he initiated what became Article 51 in Chapter VII of the charter, which deals with acts of aggression. Stassen's Article 51—not in the original Dumbarton Oaks draft—took the position that every country should have the right to self defense, if it was attacked, until such time as the Security Council could restore peace.

"At San Francisco, it was thought that the means for peaceful settlement of disputes provided in the U.N. Charter would make an arms race unnecessary," Stasten recalls.

What happened was just the opposite. While the western powers disarmed for five years after the end of World War 2, the Russians did not. Then came the Red attack on Korea. Rearmament began all over again.

Gov. Stassen's assignment at New York is to try to correct this mistake and reverse this trend. Up to now, everyone has failed at it. If Stassen should succeed, his political future might become a lot less clouded.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Geneva — One of the funniest pictures of David A. Morse, the Hicogalorum of the International Labor Office at $20,000 a year, tax-free, plus car, chauffeur and gasoline, was published, at our expense, by his own publicity department in the July issue of the ILO News. It shows Morse standing at the portal of his palace on the shore of Lake Geneva (beautiful beach adjoins the palace gardens) engaged in official discussion with the Minister of Labor and Welfare of Nigeria. This dignitary is Chief Festus Sam Okotie-Eboh and he is wearing an old-fashioned two-dollar straw hat with a cluster of Cassowary plumes sticking about two feet in the air over Morse's nude scalp. Festus Sam is wearing a jacket like the top of a pajama suit and a triple strand of beads down to his sternum and a longer loop down to his belt-buckle with a spool strung onto it. He has a watch on his left wrist. He is leaning on a walking stick with a white ferrule about five inches long and he is clutching in his left fingers a liberal fold of a long dress which has a couple of yards of voluminous train kicked forward on the ground, revealing a black leather European shoe as big as a seagoing barge. The dress is a rich brocade with ivy leaves and a special figure that looks like a conventionalized Aleutian crab.

To Festus Sam's left stands James P. Mitchell, the U. S. Secretary of Labor and Sam's official opposite number. Mitchell and Morse are smiling at Sam and Sam wears a quizzical grin which might be construed as "what goofy characters these Americans are, wearing collars and ties and tailored pants when they could wear plumes, beads and brocade dresses.

The cut-line, by Morse's official press-agent, Ed Allen, a Colonel in the Reserve of our gallant armed forces, says Morse, Festus Sam and Mitchell are discussing "ways for ILO to help improve labor-management relations throughout the world. (ILO News Photo.)"

Nigeria may not be one of those places where people drink their bath-water and eat their young, but the public officials do wear Cassowary plumes, clamshells and trains.

Mitchell is a mysterious stranger who was brought in to cover Ike's embarrassment after Martin Durkin, the president of the plumbers' union racket and a Democrat, of course, resigned in a blast of abuse at the AF of L convention in St. Louis. In March, 1954, soon after Mitchell took over Durkin's job, he fired Spencer Miller, one of the few honest, idealistic unionists in the whole United States on a trumped up charge that Miller made "indiscreet" remarks at a dinner given by Morse's ILO in Geneva on Thanksgiving Day, 1953.

Miller's job was assistant secretary of labor. The fact is that Ike had thrown in with Dave Dubinsky's underground political apparatus operated by the old inveterate, unregenerate Bolshevik Communists, Jay Lovestone and Irving Brown. For some fantastic if not idiotic reason, Ike had let himself be convinced that this Dubinsky team was a fine, absolutely anti-Communist layout, notwithstanding the undisputed history of Lovestone and Brown and their failure, under public challenge, to present proof that they had ever recanted.

Miller knew Lovestone and Brown of old and he soon turned up evidence that Lovestone, a mysterious conniver and political propagandist, was appointing so-called, labor attaches in our embassies all over the non-Soviet world. At this dinner in Geneva, on Thanksgiving Day, 1953, Miller was asked to read Ike's Thanksgiving proclamation. Miller was a greenhorn in the bureaucratic mazes of Morse's Geneva hicogalorum so he didn't know there was a rule or tradition which forbade speeches at this hoe-down. Therefore, as the highest U. S. officer present, he read the customary clap-trap, always kicked off by some hack White House secretary and signed with a rubber stamp.

This script was so lousy, however, that poor Miller figured he could do no harm by adorning it with a couple of Joe Millers. So he teed off on Churchill, the late President Taft and Adlai Stevenson. He thought nothing more about it but the American "labor attache" from the U. S. Embassy in Japan nopped up and let go a beef about the Stevenson gag and offered a toast to the defeated nominee of the repudiated Democratic party. Miller realized that all his jokes were turkeys, but when one of the Lovestone attaches crawled him for the Stevenson gag after the dinner, he decided to explain and apologize to Stevenson, who sent a graceful reply. Miller promptly mailed this to the character who had made the squawk after the dinner.

Nobody has intimated that Miller was drunk because he is very sedate if not T-T. Others present were fairly well loaded, according to Thanksgiving cus.-tom. Miller, incidentally, is on the faculty of New York U and is honored among men for building the marvelous Jersey Turnpike without a dollar of graft to anyone, including union thieves. This may be an overstatement because surely some larceny must have occurred but, still, the job is notorious among the union mobs and, of course, among the contractors, as a very repugnant performance. However, it probably is not a precedent, for to err is human and some fun, too.

During his brief tenure as assistant secretary of labor, Miller narrowed down on the Lovestone machine with its hidden power in embassies all over. You saw perhaps recently that an investigator for the House committee was indicted on a charge of swiping a report on Lovestone from a secret file of the air force.

Somebody squealed from Geneva to Eisenhower that Miller had made "indiscreet" remarks at the Geneva Thanksgiving brawl. Mitchell fired Miller in March, 1954, and Ike gave him a snarling letter acknowledging his resignation. The pretext of the "indiscretion" is a raw fake. Miller was fired because he was learning too much about Lovestone, Brown, Dubinsky and their worldwide political machine operating through "labor attaches" paid with our taxes all over the world. Lovestone and Brown threatened to run our gutters red with the blood of American patriots and never have recanted under challenge.

Strife in N. Africa Signal That Cold War to Continue

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 23 — The "cold war" goes on despite the professions of peaceful purpose which emanate regularly from the Communist leaders.

While the quarrels inside Morocco and Algeria are by no means of Communist origin, there is no question but that Communist money and scheming inside both countries has inflamed the situation.

Thus, for example, the North African Liberation Committee, which has been behind these disorders, operates on Egyptian territory. The French have been well aware for some time that the Egyptian government has permitted the committee to broadcast from its territory a good deal of inflammatory propaganda directed to Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia. A Communist station in Budapest keeps up a similar line.

BY PROMOTING agitation and even sending funds and some arms to stir up trouble, the North African committee was able to synchronize the uprisings. Newsmen knew in advance of the expected disorders. It all has the markings of a carefully nurtured plot to cause embarrassment to the French.

But the real objective as it affects the Western allies is broader. One result has been to withdraw thousands of troops from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe and another has been to imperil the American air bases in Morocco.

A "cold war" to some extent has the same objectives as a hot war. The purpose is to weaken the enemy's military strength and organization. NATO isn't as strong without the French divisions now in Africa as it would be with them. Likewise, if an atomic attack came suddenly, it is questionable whether American overseas bases wouldn't be subject to sabotage and interference by locally armed bands. The United States does not maintain large bodies of troops overseas to guard these bases and, in an emergency, would have to divert divisions from Europe to Africa to safeguard the bases from which our bombers must take off.

It is true, of course, that the basic issues of nationalism didn't start with the Communists, but the latter took advantage of the ferment. Even when self-rule is granted, however, troubles for the parent country do not cease. The adoption of a plan for autonomy in Tunisia was merely the prelude to the fomenting of internal dissension elsewhere in North Africa. Once there is a plan also for Algeria and Morocco, other sources of friction will be developed by the Communists.

Back of the strategy of infiltration and subversion is the idea that this form of warfare is least expensive and can pay off in actual control or intimidation of the smaller governments once they obtain their independence. The Egyptian independence movement had Communist backing and, once the British were driven out, the Egyptian leaders found it expedient to adopt a sort of neutrality as between the East and the West. Meanwhile, the use of Egyptian territory as a base for operations against the territory of another nation—France—does not seem to be frowned upon by the oft-glorified United Nations.

THE "ANTI-COLONIALISM" propaganda generated by the Communists finds a certain receptiveness among those Americans who at the same time seem to ignore Communist colonialism as practiced in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Lithuania, Estonia and Lativia. All these countries not only have lost their independence but have been terrorized into submission by the military power of the Red armies.

Very little is being said in America about the tragic plight of the peoples of those countries. The American instruments of propaganda abroad for the most part keep hands off for fear of offending the Communists. There is little mention of self-liberation. Incidentally, whenever any good excuse is lacking for America's failure to exert moral force in behalf of oppressed peoples, the argument is made that "liberation" of the oppressed peoples is likely "to bring on a world war."

THE EVENTS in North Africa show that the Communists are winning many sectors in the "cold war" while the Western countries still are lulled into complacency by the "peace offensive." Even the brutal shooting down of an unarmed American airplane in the demilitarized zone in Korea doesn't cause any anxiety in the Kremlin because it doesn't stir any official expression of resentment here. Small wonder the Communists pursue their "cold war" tactics so intensively.

HEARINGS ON COMMUNISM

The sort of hearings conducted recently by the House un-American Activities Committee into Communist infiltration into the entertainment world inevitably must produce some puzzled reactions.

Only one of the 23 witnesses called in New York acknowledged Red affiliation, saying he was formerly a member of the Communist party and naming eight others as having such links.

The others either invoked the Fifth Amendment, the First Amendment or generally bucked committee questioning without falling back on constitutional support for their resistance.

Constitutional protection is intended to be real, not fictional. Nevertheless, when individuals publicly decline to answer questions put by a duly constituted congressional committee, they must understand that some suspicion is sure to attach to their performance.

Their reasons for refusal to answer these queries candidly may be important to them. But by now they certainly must realize that their reputations suffer as much or more by that action as they would if they frankly admitted party membership.

ART AND DIPLOMACY

The change in attitude inside the Soviet Union—if a change is what it is—is being reflected in fields other than diplomacy. In the last several months there has been a new receptiveness to Western culture. Western artists, writers and musicians are being invited to come to Russia.

If the new Soviet approach to world affairs is sincere then the attention being given to Western writing and art could have significance. Diplomats conduct the formal relationships between countries. Yet art can be a common denominator through which people come to know and understand one another.

Since the revolution in Russia there have been strict regulations placed on what writers, artists and musicians might circulate there. It would be fine if now those restrictions would be raised and the Russian people allowed to examine the Western world as it is expressed by its poets, its painters and its musicians.

PRICE TAG ON SAFETY

The trouble with traffic is the dog-in-the-manger, says Joseph C. Ingraham, traffic specialist of the New York Times and author of the new book, "Modern Traffic Control." He means by that the number of interested parties who reject solutions that might step on their own toes.

Automobile clubs oppose toll roads and scientific tests for drunken drivers, in the supposed interest of their own members. Manufacturers preach safety, yet step up the speed and power in their new models. Dealers oppose compulsory brake and headlight inspection. Insurance companies balk at compulsory accident insurance. Landlords are unwilling to provide garage space in new buildings. Cities fail to ban curb parking, and police fight attempts to turn their regulatory authority, even in part, over to other bodies.

This is no new story. Perhaps we do not have traffic safety because so few are willing to pay the price.

BEWARE BIG SKEETERS

The British have developed an airplane that has been dubbed the "flying mattress." Its wings are inflated with air. When the pilot has descended, he deflates the wings, folds them up and stows them in the fuselage.

All this is convenient, but the manufacturer will doubtless issue a word of caution: Watch out for pointy church steeples.

Television has become a powerful magnet in many living rooms. Yet it's amazing how well people somehow survive even when the set is on the blink.

Why limit library visits to book searching? Peace and quiet is a fast disappearing and therefore treasured commodity. Why not enjoy a little reading in library calm?

WHAT IS BANKING?

John J. McCloy, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chase-Manhattan Bank in New York, defined the nature of banking in a manner that indicates the degree to which this service industry has become socialized in this country. He said:

". . . It is relevant to note that in supporting their objective to foster the soundness and capability of banks, the supervisory authorities place certain definite limits on the competitive process. For example banking is not a business which anyone can enter who has the necessary capital and who desires to go into it. Indeed, existing banks are not even free to expand as they may desire. The supervisory authorities—the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Reserve Board, the FDIC, or the various state banking agencies—exercise control over entry into banking; they control the ability of existing banks to establish new branches; and their approval is usually required for any increase in capital stock. Today in New York City, for example, it is not possible for a bank to open new branches in many areas of the city. Frequently the supervisory authorities will not permit additional offices on the ground that there is already an established bank in the area and the opening of a new branch might lead to excessive competition. This same situation prevails in many other areas of the country as well. Hence one of the primary requisites for free competition—freedom of entry—is generally absent in banking. . . ."

It was never intended, either by the Congress or by state legislative bodies, when bank legislation was passed, that competition should be eliminated from banking, just as when railroad legislation was passed, it was never intended to reduce the railroads to non-competitive operations strangled by the bureaucrats of the Interstate Commerce Commission. These are two examples of bureaucratic excesses which do not serve the people who are led falsely to believe that they are in some manner protected by officials.

Mr. McCloy says: ". . . Banking is not a business which anyone can enter . . ." which is only too true. But who are the political appointees who determine who is to be permitted to enter the banking business? It would be interesting if a Congressional committee would gather data on how many employes of the Federal Reserve Board or the Comptroller of the Currency, who looks after banks in the Federal system, or the State Banking Boards and control agencies have found employment with banks while they were working for government or immediately after they were fired or retired. It is not unusual to hear, a year or two in advance, that such and such an official will get a job in such and such a bank when he is retired—and he does.

But from what vast experience are these bank controllers and examiners recruited? Often they are lawyers without much practice who get a government job; often they are young men on the Civil Service to whom a million dollars is a shocking fact. Some of these bank examiners are so ignorant of normal business practices that their inspections become an absurdity at which practical bankers laugh but the recommendations of which they must obey.

The banks in a city like New York, in prosperous times, pile up money which they cannot use freely, but which life insurance companies can use freely. The laws governing the movement of money are so inconsistent that all sorts of sideline groups go into indirect banking business by devices which give them a competitive advantage in the principal function of any bank which is to lend money at interest with the object of making a profit.

Whenever, in the capitalist system, the object is to make a profit, the prospect of a loss is ever-present. The capitalist system is a risk economy. Socialism provides security by government guarantees; it also reverts to slavery, which is the surest way of guaranteeing security. If banks or any other industries in a capitalist country are to serve without any risk at all, then they become government institutions. When you look at McCloy's list of controlling agencies, it is clear how close the banks are to being government agencies. And if the bankers do what the government wants them to do, whether or not it is sound or even honest, the banker is a great man; otherwise, he can be hounded out of the business. That Body of Yours

Yesterday we wrote of the frequency with which little strokes occur and how often they are not recognized as such until there have been a series of them, often bringing serious personality changes. Is there anything to be done for this condition? Perhaps the disease can be delayed by keeping the weight down to normal. But what we should remember is that many people do get better after a little stroke. Some persons may go for ten or fifteen years in good health before another little stroke occurs. Many lose the symptoms so quickly that it is difficult to believe anything important has happened. Several things might have happened in these mild cases. For example, the nerve cells may be only slightly injured; shock to a small area of brain has passed off; impulses in the brain may be rerouted around the area destroyed; the blood circulation may set up a new route for itself around the plugged artery.

The prognosis, or outlook, depends largely, of course, on how much of the brain has been destroyed. The outlook is not good for those whose character and ability have been badly changed for the worse. Should the patient be told he has had a little stroke? Dr. Walter Alvarez says, "I think it wise to discuss the possibility that there has been a little stroke, if only because so many of these people have a good hunch as to what has happened to them the day they suddenly felt ill. This being true, they can hardly think much of the ability or frankness of the doctor who does not seem even to suspect what they had and why they have remained so long disabled, miserable, and unable to work. When the doctor and the family refuse to mention little strokes, the patient feels all the more frightened, isolated and deserted."

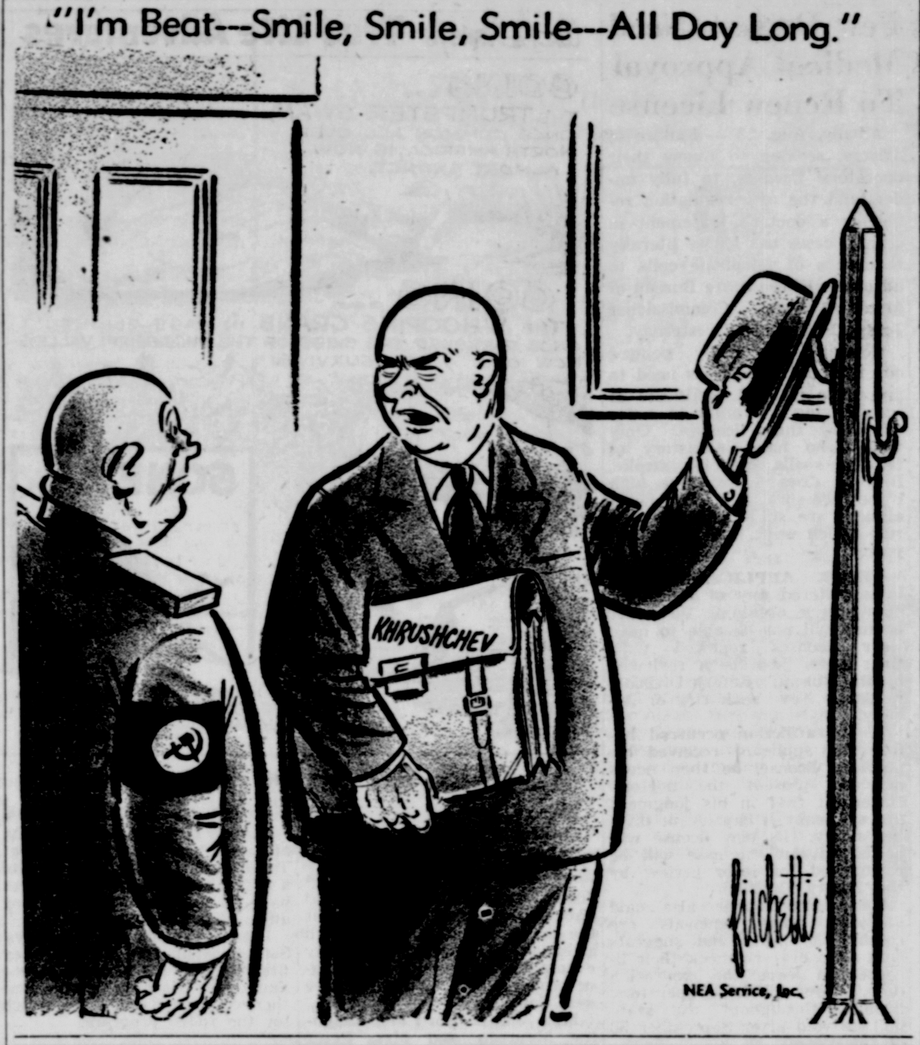

The family of the patient should be told something about little strokes so that they can be more understanding and more forgiving of the patient's cantankerousness. The family needs to know that the brain has been bady injured and because of this a kind, reasonable father may become unkind and unreasonable. In many cases, a man's employers or partners need to know quickly that he is never likely to work again. Then they can retire him with a pension. Many a man who has lost his drive and skills should be retired quickly, before he wrecks the morale of the department or perhaps, if he is in business for himself, before he loses his business.

In summary, in millions of cases, little thromboses in the brain slowly, over the course of 10 or 15 years, pull a person down, slow him up, age him, and eventually kill him. Unfortunately, unless the physician suspects the nature of the patient's trouble and asks about a sudden dizzy spell or a momentary blackout, the diagnosis of a coronary attack or cancer may be made. Dr. Alvarez says he usually prescribes one or two tablets daily of iodobrassid (Lipoiodine) and others have found that three grains daily of thyroid substance has helped symptoms.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Harold E. Stassen will be the new boy at bat for the United States when the United Nations disarmament subcommittee convenes in New York Aug. 29 for another conference.

All of Stassen's predecessor pinch hitters have taken bean balls or struck out on this pitch before. They include Bernard Baruch, Benjamin V. Cohen, Morehead Patterson and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., now U. S. chief delegate to the UN.

Lodge sat in at the beginning of the London disarmament talks earlier this year. But when no progress was made, he turned the job over to his deputy, James J. Wadsworth.

Though Lodge is jealous of his position as head man on UN affairs, it is now expected that Stassen will do most of the disarmament negotiating this fall.

STASSEN WAS MADE President Eisenhower's cabinet "Secretary for Peace" last March. His assignment was to develop administration disarmament policies. He has been working at it full time since July 1.

Stassen has prepared plans for several new approaches to the disarmament and arms inspection problems. They have not been greeted with much enthusiasm by either the State Department or the Pentagon, however.

Secy. of State John Foster Dulles says there are no new disarmament plans. He declares that when the UN disarmament subcommittee resumes work, the U. S. will start from President Eisenhower's own plan put before the Big Four at Geneva. This calls for unrestricted aerial inspection of each other's military installations by the U. S. and U.S.S.R.

Stassen had nothing to do with the inception of this policy. It was more the President's own brainchild, with Nelson Rockefeller and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, assisting at its birth.

ALL THIS WOULD seem to make Stassen's position not exactly the most clearly defined thing in Washington. But assurances are given that everything is harmonious and the administration is working like a team.

This is in spite of the fact that many skeptics still don't understand just how the President's inspection plan is going to work. This is emphasized by present experience with inspection teams in Korea.

In tackling this tough problem Stassen will in a sense be returning to clean up a job he started 10 years ago.

As an Americain delegate to the United Nations charter-writing conference at San Francisco in 1945, Stassen served on the committee to consider ways and means for peaceful settlement of international disputes.

ON THIS COMMITTEE he initiated what became Article 51 in Chapter VII of the charter, which deals with acts of aggression. Stassen's Article 51—not in the original Dumbarton Oaks draft—took the position that every country should have the right to self defense, if it was attacked, until such time as the Security Council could restore peace.

"At San Francisco, it was thought that the means for peaceful settlement of disputes provided in the U.N. Charter would make an arms race unnecessary," Stasten recalls.

What happened was just the opposite. While the western powers disarmed for five years after the end of World War 2, the Russians did not. Then came the Red attack on Korea. Rearmament began all over again.

Gov. Stassen's assignment at New York is to try to correct this mistake and reverse this trend. Up to now, everyone has failed at it. If Stassen should succeed, his political future might become a lot less clouded.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Geneva — One of the funniest pictures of David A. Morse, the Hicogalorum of the International Labor Office at $20,000 a year, tax-free, plus car, chauffeur and gasoline, was published, at our expense, by his own publicity department in the July issue of the ILO News. It shows Morse standing at the portal of his palace on the shore of Lake Geneva (beautiful beach adjoins the palace gardens) engaged in official discussion with the Minister of Labor and Welfare of Nigeria. This dignitary is Chief Festus Sam Okotie-Eboh and he is wearing an old-fashioned two-dollar straw hat with a cluster of Cassowary plumes sticking about two feet in the air over Morse's nude scalp. Festus Sam is wearing a jacket like the top of a pajama suit and a triple strand of beads down to his sternum and a longer loop down to his belt-buckle with a spool strung onto it. He has a watch on his left wrist. He is leaning on a walking stick with a white ferrule about five inches long and he is clutching in his left fingers a liberal fold of a long dress which has a couple of yards of voluminous train kicked forward on the ground, revealing a black leather European shoe as big as a seagoing barge. The dress is a rich brocade with ivy leaves and a special figure that looks like a conventionalized Aleutian crab.

To Festus Sam's left stands James P. Mitchell, the U. S. Secretary of Labor and Sam's official opposite number. Mitchell and Morse are smiling at Sam and Sam wears a quizzical grin which might be construed as "what goofy characters these Americans are, wearing collars and ties and tailored pants when they could wear plumes, beads and brocade dresses.

The cut-line, by Morse's official press-agent, Ed Allen, a Colonel in the Reserve of our gallant armed forces, says Morse, Festus Sam and Mitchell are discussing "ways for ILO to help improve labor-management relations throughout the world. (ILO News Photo.)"

Nigeria may not be one of those places where people drink their bath-water and eat their young, but the public officials do wear Cassowary plumes, clamshells and trains.

Mitchell is a mysterious stranger who was brought in to cover Ike's embarrassment after Martin Durkin, the president of the plumbers' union racket and a Democrat, of course, resigned in a blast of abuse at the AF of L convention in St. Louis. In March, 1954, soon after Mitchell took over Durkin's job, he fired Spencer Miller, one of the few honest, idealistic unionists in the whole United States on a trumped up charge that Miller made "indiscreet" remarks at a dinner given by Morse's ILO in Geneva on Thanksgiving Day, 1953.

Miller's job was assistant secretary of labor. The fact is that Ike had thrown in with Dave Dubinsky's underground political apparatus operated by the old inveterate, unregenerate Bolshevik Communists, Jay Lovestone and Irving Brown. For some fantastic if not idiotic reason, Ike had let himself be convinced that this Dubinsky team was a fine, absolutely anti-Communist layout, notwithstanding the undisputed history of Lovestone and Brown and their failure, under public challenge, to present proof that they had ever recanted.

Miller knew Lovestone and Brown of old and he soon turned up evidence that Lovestone, a mysterious conniver and political propagandist, was appointing so-called labor attaches in our embassies all over the non-Soviet world. At this dinner in Geneva, on Thanksgiving Day, 1953, Miller was asked to read Ike's Thanksgiving proclamation. Miller was a greenhorn in the bureaucratic mazes of Morse's Geneva hicogalorum so he didn't know there was a rule or tradition which forbade speeches at this hoe-down. Therefore, as the highest U. S. officer present, he read the customary clap-trap, always kicked off by some hack White House secretary and signed with a rubber stamp.

This script was so lousy, however, that poor Miller figured he could do no harm by adorning it with a couple of Joe Millers. So he teed off on Churchill, the late President Taft and Adlai Stevenson. He thought nothing more about it but the American "labor attache" from the U. S. Embassy in Japan nopped up and let go a beef about the Stevenson gag and offered a toast to the defeated nominee of the repudiated Democratic party. Miller realized that all his jokes were turkeys, but when one of the Lovestone attaches crawled him for the Stevenson gag after the dinner, he decided to explain and apologize to Stevenson, who sent a graceful reply. Miller promptly mailed this to the character who had made the squawk after the dinner.

Nobody has intimated that Miller was drunk because he is very sedate if not T-T. Others present were fairly well loaded, according to Thanksgiving custom. Miller, incidentally, is on the faculty of New York U and is honored among men for building the marvelous Jersey Turnpike without a dollar of graft to anyone, including union thieves. This may be an overstatement because surely some larceny must have occurred but, still, the job is notorious among the union mobs and, of course, among the contractors, as a very repugnant performance. However, it probably is not a precedent, for to err is human and some fun, too.

During his brief tenure as assistant secretary of labor, Miller narrowed down on the Lovestone machine with its hidden power in embassies all over. You saw perhaps recently that an investigator for the House committee was indicted on a charge of swiping a report on Lovestone from a secret file of the air force.

Somebody squealed from Geneva to Eisenhower that Miller had made "indiscreet" remarks at the Geneva Thanksgiving brawl. Mitchell fired Miller in March, 1954, and Ike gave him a snarling letter acknowledging his resignation. The pretext of the "indiscretion" is a raw fake. Miller was fired because he was learning too much about Lovestone, Brown, Dubinsky and their worldwide political machine operating through "labor attaches" paid with our taxes all over the world. Lovestone and Brown threatened to run our gutters red with the blood of American patriots and never have recanted under challenge.

Strife in N. Africa Signal That Cold War to Continue

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 23 — The "cold war" goes on despite the professions of peaceful purpose which emanate regularly from the Communist leaders.

While the quarrels inside Morocco and Algeria are by no means of Communist origin, there is no question but that Communist money and scheming inside both countries has inflamed the situation.

Thus, for example, the North African Liberation Committee, which has been behind these disorders, operates on Egyptian territory. The French have been well aware for some time that the Egyptian government has permitted the committee to broadcast from its territory a good deal of inflammatory propaganda directed to Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia. A Communist station in Budapest keeps up a similar line.

BY PROMOTING agitation and even sending funds and some arms to stir up trouble, the North African committee was able to synchronize the uprisings. Newsmen knew in advance of the expected disorders. It all has the markings of a carefully nurtured plot to cause embarrassment to the French.

But the real objective as it affects the Western allies is broader. One result has been to withdraw thousands of troops from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe and another has been to imperil the American air bases in Morocco.

A "cold war" to some extent has the same objectives as a hot war. The purpose is to weaken the enemy's military strength and organization. NATO isn't as strong without the French divisions now in Africa as it would be with them. Likewise, if an atomic attack came suddenly, it is questionable whether American overseas bases wouldn't be subject to sabotage and interference by locally armed bands. The United States does not maintain large bodies of troops overseas to guard these bases and, in an emergency, would have to divert divisions from Europe to Africa to safeguard the bases from which our bombers must take off.

It is true, of course, that the basic issues of nationalism didn't start with the Communists, but the latter took advantage of the ferment. Even when self-rule is granted, however, troubles for the parent country do not cease. The adoption of a plan for autonomy in Tunisia was merely the prelude to the fomenting of internal dissension elsewhere in North Africa. Once there is a plan also for Algeria and Morocco, other sources of friction will be developed by the Communists.

Back of the strategy of infiltration and subversion is the idea that this form of warfare is least expensive and can pay off in actual control or intimidation of the smaller governments once they obtain their independence. The Egyptian independence movement had Communist backing and, once the British were driven out, the Egyptian leaders found it expedient to adopt a sort of neutrality as between the East and the West. Meanwhile, the use of Egyptian territory as a base for operations against the territory of another nation—France—does not seem to be frowned upon by the oft-glorified United Nations.

THE "ANTI-COLONIALISM" propaganda generated by the Communists finds a certain receptiveness among those Americans who at the same time seem to ignore Communist colonialism as practiced in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Lithuania, Estonia and Lativia. All these countries not only have lost their independence but have been terrorized into submission by the military power of the Red armies.

Very little is being said in America about the tragic plight of the peoples of those countries. The American instruments of propaganda abroad for the most part keep hands off for fear of offending the Communists. There is little mention of self-liberation. Incidentally, whenever any good excuse is lacking for America's failure to exert moral force in behalf of oppressed peoples, the argument is made that "liberation" of the oppressed peoples is likely "to bring on a world war."

THE EVENTS in North Africa show that the Communists are winning many sectors in the "cold war" while the Western countries still are lulled into complacency by the "peace offensive." Even the brutal shooting down of an unarmed American airplane in the demilitarized zone in Korea doesn't cause any anxiety in the Kremlin because it doesn't stir any official expression of resentment here. Small wonder the Communists pursue their "cold war" tactics so intensively.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

One typical example of "sacred parasites," desperately attempting to hook on to the gravy train, occurred in the T.V.A. country. An intense barrage of telegrams and letters descended upon Washington in protest against a projected slash in Federal subsidies for this Socialistic agency. This movement was probably instigated by the Governor of Tennessee and his Fair Deal Socialistic followers, aided and abetted by their cohorts in T.V.A.

Mr. Hutton

All members of Congress, as well as those of the Executive Branch of the Federal and State Governments, are supposed to be our trusted servants. It is their obligation, under the oath of office, before God and their consituents, to put the welfare of all ahead of the few; to restore constituional government; to abolish each and every unnecessary bureau and agency; to deflate the gravy train of parasites, who have been eating honest and hard-working Americans out of house and home. Foolish waste and spending must be stopped; taxes must be cut; the budget must be balanced.

These things must be accomplished if we are to save America. This, Mary and Joe, is your job. I'm doing mine. Will you do yours? Will you write your Congressmen and tell them to get started on the job — and no foolin'? If they want your votes to keep them in their jobs, you tell them what to vote for!

As this column has often pointed out, the double of a slam contract that has been voluntarily bid by good players cannot gain very much and many lose a large amount. The hand shown today illustrates the point.

South's slam contract was ambitious, and he would probably have gone down if West had kept quiet. South happened to be Jay T. Feigus of Brooklyn, for many years a leading tournament player; and West's double was all Feigus needed to find the winning line of play.

South won the openeing trump lead in his own hand and immediately led the low heart towards dummy. West had to play low, since to put up the ace of hearts would give declarer an eventual discard on dummy's queen of hearts.

Dummy's queen of hearts therefore won the second trick. Feigus took two top diamonds, ruffed a diamond with the ace of trumps, and then led out the rest of his trumps and the last high diamond.

By this time South was down to one heart and two clubs. West had to save the blank ace of hearts and two clubs, after which he was given his heart trick. West then had to lead away from the king of clubs, giving declare two club tricks and the doubled slam contract.

If West had beaten the contract without doubling, he would have earned 100 points. The double would have increased that score of 200 points, if successful. Hence West risked close to two thousand points in the attempt to pick up an extra hundred. This is not good gambling, especially when it doesn't pay off!

Little lady in a big town

When the little old lady hung up the phone, she was smiling. Then her expression changed. Which subway did he say to take? At which stop would he meet her — 169th Street . . . or was it 196th Street?

She asked one of our attendant operators in Penn Station for help. Our operator found out that the lady was on a surprise visit from the Midwest to her son's home in Queens. But now she couldn't remember his directions. And she was too embarrassed to call him back.

From the son's address, our operator knew the right subway stop was the 169th Street station in Jamaica. She lived in Queens herself. Was going off duty. The lady could ride with her. A short time later they arrived — and the surprise visitor was in the arms of her waiting son.

It was just a small favor for the operator to do. But we believe it's typical of telephone folks everywhere. They're always ready to do something "extra." And that's what makes your telephone service so personal, so friendly and so helpful. New York Telephone Company.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, Aug. 24—The annual clambake sponsored by the Pine Hill Volunteer Fire Company at the Bonnie View Hotel, Pine Hill, Sunday afternoon was well-attended. Local participants included: Earle Every, Robert and Jerry Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, Ernest Gardner, Howard and Kenneth Umhey.

Mt. Tremper Grange members began the painting of the Shandaken Reformed Church of Mt. Tremper Saturday morning. The volunteer workers plan to redecorate the outside of the church and adjacent recreation hall. The Grangers will meet every Saturday, weather permitting, until the project is finished.

Mrs. Edward Harlan of Newburgh was the weekend guest of Mrs. Francis Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Reese Smith Jr. She is a former local resident.

Arthur Reid is planning a trip to Canada in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Short and family of Oneonta were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Umhey. Mrs. Short, the former Ruth Maben of Allaben, is Mrs. Umhey's sister.

The third annual concert of the Onteora Summer Chorus will take place in the auditorium of the Onteora Central School Thursday, Sept. 1, at 8:30 p. m. Tickets may be purchased from area chorus members Mrs. Lindsay Hoyt, Mrs. Francis Phillips, R. Carlton Hoyt or William Spanhake.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Poolt of New York are spending some time here. Mrs. Poolt, formerly Mrs. Becker of this village, is recuperating from a broken hip.

The annual bazaar of St. Francis de Sales Parish, held in the parish hall Saturday was well attended.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

One typical example of "sacred parasites," desperately attempting to hook on to the gravy train, occurred in the T.V.A. country. An intense barrage of telegrams and letters descended upon Washington in protest against a projected slash in Federal subsidies for this Socialistic agency. This movement was probably instigated by the Governor of Tennessee and his Fair Deal Socialistic followers, aided and abetted by their cohorts in T.V.A.

Mr. Hutton

All members of Congress, as well as those of the Executive Branch of the Federal and State Governments, are supposed to be our trusted servants. It is their obligation, under the oath of office, before God and their consituents, to put the welfare of all ahead of the few; to restore constituional government; to abolish each and every unnecessary bureau and agency; to deflate the gravy train of parasites, who have been eating honest and hard-working Americans out of house and home. Foolish waste and spending must be stopped; taxes must be cut; the budget must be balanced.

These things must be accomplished if we are to save America. This, Mary and Joe, is your job. I'm doing mine. Will you do yours? Will you write your Congressmen and tell them to get started on the job — and no foolin'? If they want your votes to keep them in their jobs, you tell them what to vote for!

Sees Difficulty In Ending Camps With Red Ties

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—State Sen. Edward P. Larkin, Nassau county Republican, said today it would be difficult for his legislative committee to devise legislation to put out of business children's summer camps which allegedly are Communist dominated.

"IT WILL BE very difficult to devise legislation which would not crucify the innocent in an attempt to get at the guilty," he said as the committee began its third day of public hearings.

Most of the morning session was taken up in questioning two witnesses about the financial structure of AROW Farms, in Monroe, N. Y., a summer resort primarily for persons of Russian descent. The name, AROW, is an abbreviation for the Russian words meaning The American-Russian Fraternal Society, the committee was told.

Ryan Pleads Innocent

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Joseph P. Ryan, president emeritus of the International Longshoremen's Association, independent, pleaded innocent today to an indictment charging evasion of $32,777 in federal income taxes for three years 1949 through 1952. The plea was entered before Federal Judge William B. Herlands. Ryan was represented by Seymour Waldman, attorney, and was freed in $1,000 bail for trial Sept. 12. The indictment charged Ryan failed to report income of $81,123 for the years involved and also charged the making of false claims for dependents.

Mystery Payment

Tampa, Fla. (AP)—Tampa police, plagued with a series of break-ins, are shaking their heads over this one. Mrs. Curile Harris was awakened by a noise at her front door. She asked who was there and a stranger's voice told her: "Look in your chair." She thought it was a prankster and went back to bed. The next morning she found $1.37 in small change in a front porch rocker. She could offer no explanation for the incident.

Costly Sneeze

Flint, Mich. (AP) — When Charles Simms sneezed while driving to work, his car struck the back end of a police car, causing $300 damage to each car. Policeman Howard Breeden had a broken arm and Policeman Charles Williams was slightly injured. And Simms got a ticket.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Louise Marie Klock

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise Marie Klock of 31 Washington avenue who died August 21 were held Tuesday night from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, with the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, officiating. Cremation took place this morning at the Gardner-Earl Crematory in Troy.

Warren G. Vining

Funeral services for Warren G. Vining of 183 Green street were held from the Francis J. McCardle Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, Tuesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Virgil R. Brisco, pastor of the Alliance Gospel Church, officiating. The services were largely attended. During the days of reposal at the funeral home many called to express condolence to the bereaved. Numerous and beautiful floral pieces completely banked the casket. Burial took place in St. Remy Cemetery. Bearers were John Manfro, Fred Hulbart, Bernard Peterson, Gerard LaTore, William Bence and William Bell.

France Recalls 60,000 Reservists Due to Uprisings

Paris, Aug. 24 (AP)—France recalled 60,000 young reservists to the colors today to bolster her forces in Morocco and Algeria, strained by Nationalists uprisings over the weekend.

At the same time Premier Edgar Faure and President Rene Coty hurried to Paris for urgent consultations on consequences of the clashes which took an estimated 2,000 lives.

THE DEFENSE ministry said recall of the reservists, most of them in the 23 to 24 age bracket, will be spread over a three to four month period.

First to be put back in uniform will be such specialists as signal corps men and engineers. They will restore communications disrupted by the rebels as they swept into small cities and towns.

France already has an estimated 125,000 troops in Algeria and more in Morocco.

Assault Charge Dismissed in Court

Alphonso Williams, 26, of 46 Meadow street, was arrested by Mary Boggs on a third degree assault charge early today after police were called to the Greyhound bus terminal on Railroad avenue.

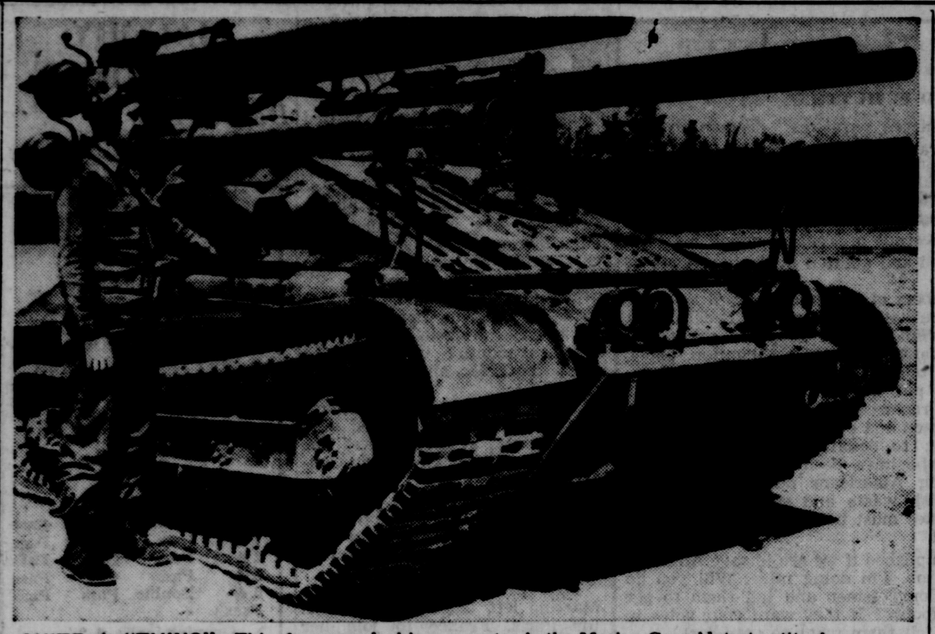

The charge was dismissed when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino because the complainant failed to appear. Officers William Slover and Special Patrolman Thomas Whispell were dispatched to the bus terminal when trouble was reported there at 3:45 a. m.

John Bonstell, 19, of 102 Hasbrouck avenue, was arrested on a "dangerous speed" charge by Officer Gilbert Gray at Broadway and Elmendorf street at 11:50 p. m. yesterday. Judge Mino today fined him $25 and suspended execution of a 10-day jail sentence.

Illegal Bathtubs?

Anderson, S. C. (AP)—Bootleggers have a new gimmick that presents a nice legal question for officers. Sheriff Clint McClain reports that some of the dealers in illegal booze empty a case at the time into a big stew pot, and put the pot in a bathtub in their homes. Comes a customer, the bootlegger ladles up the purchase. Comes the law—and adequate warning—the bootlegger tips over the stew pot, and the liquor gurgles down the drain, sometimes chased with a dash of disinfectant to kill the smell. State law says the liquor and the container must be confiscated. McClain figures he'll have to get a ruling from the attorney general on whether to haul in the tubs, too.

QUITE A "THING"—This fearsome-looking monster is the Marine Corps' latest antitank weapon. The "land-going destroyer" is called "Ontos," a Greek word meaning "The Thing." Developed by the Army, Ontos carries six 106-mm. recoilless rifles, four 50-caliber spotting rifles and one 30-caliber machine gun. Before firing the forward-aiming recoilless rifles, Marine crews draw a bead with the spotting rifles. All six 106-mm. rifles may be fired in salvo. Ontos is called a hit-and-run weapon because after firing, the vehicle runs quickly for cover to reload. Its General Motors 145-h.p. engine speeds it at 40 m.p.h. Ontos will be produced at the Allis-Chalmers' La Porte, Ind., plant.

8 Agencies . . .

be obtained immediately by presidential transfer of funds of other agencies.

BECAUSE of this and what he said is broad presidential authority to direct all federal agencies to make available materials, supplies and help to flood victims, Hayden said he doesn't believe a special session is necessary.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said in a statement that "of course everyone will cooperate to bring relief to flood-stricken areas." He said the President has "considerable authority to act now," adding: "That is what Congress would approve his doing."

DIRECTOR Arthur S. Flemming said ODM has available 900 million dollars of a revolving fund for defense mobilization, and is studying whether part of this might be used for loans or guarantee of loans in rehabilitating facilities which produce defense items.

The possibility of rapid tax amortization and preferential award of defense contracts to aid the stricken areas also is being considered, he said.

The SBA prepared to establish emergency loan offices in the areas, and housing officials said a temporary Federal Housing Administration office is expected to be established at Waterbury, Conn. The FHA also was assembling home trailers for transfer to places where they are needed.

The death toll came in for a recount, revising the number of known dead from 180 down to 176.

The death figures by states were: Pennsylvania, 100, with an unknown number still missing; Connecticut, 49, with 71 known missing; Massachusetts, 13; New Jersey, 6; New York, 4; Rhode Island, 1; Virginia, 3.

Bit by bit further repairs were made. Here and there another road was opened. The New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported 50,000 of the approximately 66,000 telephones put out of service had been restored.

VOLUNTARY contributions of clothing, food and money came to the aid of flood victims. The Red Cross launched a special flood relief drive with the strong backing of President Eisenhower, who handed his own personal check to National Red Cross Chairman E. Roland Harriman.

"His gift was a generous one—an example to others who have not yet acted," Harriman commented later.

In Washington the CIO opened a flood relief fund with an initial allotment of $100,000 to help an estimated 50,000 members made homeless or jobless by the catastrophe.

Tentative damage estimates by the various states totalled around three billion dollars. Connecticut figured its losses at more than one billion; Massachusetts, one billion; Pennsylvania, half a billion to a billion; Rhode Island and New Jersey, 100 million or more each; New York, 15 million.

Berserk Airman Kills 3

Manston, England, Aug. 24 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force man went berserk today and, firing a gun in each hand, killed three persons and wounded a half dozen or more at a south England fighter base. The gunman commandered a car by threatening the driver and fled to a nearby beach resort, spreading terror among the bathers. Air force police and British civil police cornered him on the beach. A gun battle followed, and the American was wounded. British police said the gunman then committed suicide. In his crazed shooting spree the gunman killed an American master sergeant, another U. S. serviceman, and a Royal Air Force airman.

Five Killed Near Batavia

Batavia, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—Five persons were killed today in a smashing head-on collision between an automobile and a tractor-trailer on Route 20 about 10 miles southeast of here. Police said the driver of the truck was Stanley Lipowski, 33, of Lancaster, N. Y. He was hospitalized in Batavia but was not believed seriously hurt. A spokesman at Brooks Funeral Home, Pavilion, identified the victims as Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wilcox of York, Livingston county, and their three young children.

Race Issue . . .

limit that should ever be placed upon the Negro "is that placed upon all others—the limit of his own ability."

HE POINTED out that a complaint of discrimination is investigated by a field representative who reduces it to writing and requires that it be sworn to. It is then referred to one of the commissioners for investigation. In this he has the aid of the staff and the power of subpoenae.

When the facts are ascertained, Judge Conway said, a determination must be made as to whether there is probable cause to credit the allegations of the complaint. If not, the complaint is dismissed. If probable cause exists the law requires that efforts be made by conference to conciliate and adjust the matter.

"This is the source of our greatest gratification for out of almost 4,000 cases, all but five have been so adjusted." The law has teeth if it needs them, however. The commission can issue a cease and desist order, if necessary.

JUDGE CONWAY said if in our daily contacts—business and social—"we show respect for the rights of all we will strengthen our nation and inculcate loyalty to our democracy. We will enjoy freedom by granting freedom to all. He said the right to life, liberty and pursuit of happiness could be lost "far more easily than they were won. Their misuse and abuse by many could well mean their strict limitation and final termination in this land. That is why we must cherish in our hearts the truths we speak with our tongues. That is why, we must guard by thought and word and deed, the rights of all—for no man is free until all men are free."

Offices Open

ministration permits homes or businesses damaged by the floods to apply for rehabilitation loans at three per cent interest.

LEO V. LANNING, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office at Albany, as a result of a three-county survey—Ulster, Sullivan and Delaware—has designated the local VA office, 286 Fair street, as an emergency area office to serve any veteran victims of the recent flood disaster.

Mr. Lanning, in setting up the emergency office, stated he was doing so in view of the presidential proclamation creating a disaster area and guaranteed efficient action in all qualified cases.

VA's Loan Guaranty personnel will work from the Kingston office throughout the three-county area, he said, and F. William Sheehan, officer in charge of the local office, said it would remain open throughout the week and until further notice to handle such applications.

Almost Two

flooded states from the federal government.

THE TIMES SAID, "New York submitted no estimate of damages, and its allocation of federal funds was not determined, although the amount was discussed in terms of a few million dollars. One suggestion was $3,000,000."

Meanwhile, Harriman planned to meet today The Associated Press said, with representatives of the army engineers to discuss flood problems. The governor's office said Harriman would issue a statement after the meeting.

"The board of supervisors has been requested by State Superintendent of Public Works to furnish a detailed estimate of cost of restoration of public facilities and removal of debris from streams. Such data now being prepared, I pledge to Ellenville and other affected areas of the town of Wawarsing my fullest cooperation during present emergency. Signed. Arthur H. Wicks."

Reports Thought Unfounded on Body

Police indicated today that reports of a body seen in the Hudson river near Kingston Point beach appeared to be without foundation.

Two swimmers, who came in from the beach float Monday night reported seeing what appeared to be a body, and a general search of the area and grappling were started. It ended without anything to substantiate the report.

The beach closed Monday night after the report, but reopened at noon yesterday. The Kingston police and fire departments, and men from the sheriff's department assisted in the search. Bernard Redmond, of the local recreation department remained in the area throughout the night.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—The stock market piled up further gains in active trading early this afternoon.

Very heavy trading in steels boosted these prices from 1 to 3 points while throughout the rest of the list the gains ran from one to around five.

Along with steels, advances were scored by rails, oils, aircrafts, chemicals, building materials and radio-televisions.

O'Rourke Stresses

linquency. I know we haven't any sex offenders or a narcotic problem, but there is a problem in vandalism, thievery, teenage gangs and youths frequenting our bars. Although the percentage may be small, our city is growing and we should prepare ourselves to handle this matter. Although at the present time many of our cases do not go before Children's Court, we are letting these children down.

A good example of this can be found by the number of repeater cases. Therefore, we must look to ourselves for the cause. At the Institute they stressed that it is definitely a police matter to see that a child is treated not in a physical sense, but we must look into his environment and mental outlook. This does not mean that as policemen we should become social workers, but it does mean that as policemen we should try in every way possible to organize our community. We must use the facilities that we have at our disposal, such as our school system, our church organizations, our business groups and last but not least, educate our police officers to have an attitude of preventing crime, rather than apprehension of crime.

To do this, a policeman would have to have a lot of sincere and charitable help from people; charitable to the extent of surrendering their leisure time to look at this problem. Mayor, an officer must require certain qualifications for this type of work. He must have an attitude and a personal goal towards helping others. He must feel that the material things in life are not always the greatest, but the thought that he has helped straighten out one boy or girl would be most gratifying.

The Institute further pointed out that this problem of delinquency entails a lot of background work on the subject. We must find out the home situation of the child involved. We must have knowledge of his school activities and his religious background, if any. The Institute suggested that a board or panel be formed, so that when this information is compiled, they can look it over, think it out and hope to come up with some type of treatment. These men can work with the police department by close and sincere organization. If their findings indicate there is no hope for this child, it will then be in order to take the necessary police steps, such as Children's Court and sentencing.

Sir, by this sort of panel we will know that when one of our boys or girls goes to court, that we as policemen and as an organized community, have done our best and that we have not sold them short. The Institute does not claim that this system is a cure-all, but it can be a step in the right direction.

Mayor, I feel that these courses have enlightened me in a great many ways, and if you would like to discuss this matter in detail, I would be more than pleased to talk it over with you. I feel also that since attending this Institute I have a broader scope and a better knowledge of my work. I think, on these matters, I can be more tolerant, more helpful and above all, a better policeman.

Thank you very much.

Sheriff Reports Road Conditions Near Ellenville

Roads in the Ellenville area are passable and improving but still difficult in spots, according to information in the Ulster County Sheriff's Office.

Route 52 east and west of Ellenville is open to one-way traffic. The Minnewaska Trail is "open but dangerous" due to a washout. The secondary roads are being improved daily by highway crews. The roads that are closed are marked.

Route 209 between Ellenville and Wurtsboro is limited to one-way traffic. There is also a short detour.

Route 97 is closed between Narrowsburg and Port Jervis and Route 55 between Barryville and Eldred. Secondary roads are open but still in dangerous condition. They are reported improving. Motorists are urged to use caution.

Route 55 in Dutchess county is closed west of Pawling.

Route 42 nouth of Forestburg in Orange county is reported closed where a bridge is out.

Sees Difficulty In Ending Camps With Red Ties

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—State Sen. Edward P. Larkin, Nassau county Republican, said today it would be difficult for his legislative committee to devise legislation to put out of business children's summer camps which allegedly are Communist dominated.

"IT WILL BE very difficult to devise legislation which would not crucify the innocent in an attempt to get at the guilty," he said as the committee began its third day of public hearings.

Most of the morning session was taken up in questioning two witnesses about the financial structure of AROW Farms, in Monroe, N. Y., a summer resort primarily for persons of Russian descent. The name, AROW, is an abbreviation for the Russian words meaning The American-Russian Fraternal Society, the committee was told.

Ryan Pleads Innocent

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Joseph P. Ryan, president emeritus of the International Longshoremen's Association, independent, pleaded innocent today to an indictment charging evasion of $32,777 in federal income taxes for three years 1949 through 1952. The plea was entered before Federal Judge William B. Herlands. Ryan was represented by Seymour Waldman, attorney, and was freed in $1,000 bail for trial Sept. 12. The indictment charged Ryan failed to report income of $81,123 for the years involved and also charged the making of false claims for dependents.

Mystery Payment

Tampa, Fla. (AP)—Tampa police, plagued with a series of break-ins, are shaking their heads over this one. Mrs. Curile Harris was awakened by a noise at her front door. She asked who was there and a stranger's voice told her: "Look in your chair." She thought it was a prankster and went back to bed. The next morning she found $1.37 in small change in a front porch rocker. She could offer no explanation for the incident.

Funeral services for Warren G. Vining of 183 Green street were held from the Francis J. McCardle Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, Tuesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Virgil R. Brisco, pastor of the Alliance Gospel Church, officiating. The services were largely attended. During the days of reposal at the funeral home many called to express condolence to the bereaved. Numerous and beautiful floral pieces completely banked the casket. Burial took place in St. Remy Cemetery. Bearers were John Manfro, Fred Hulbart, Bernard Peterson, Gerard LaTore, William Bence and William Bell.

France Recalls 60,000 Reservists Due to Uprisings

Paris, Aug. 24 (AP)—France recalled 60,000 young reservists to the colors today to bolster her forces in Morocco and Algeria, strained by Nationalists uprisings over the weekend.

At the same time Premier Edgar Faure and President Rene Coty hurried to Paris for urgent consultations on consequences of the clashes which took an estimated 2,000 lives.

THE DEFENSE ministry said recall of the reservists, most of them in the 23 to 24 age bracket, will be spread over a three to four month period.

First to be put back in uniform will be such specialists as signal corps men and engineers. They will restore communications disrupted by the rebels as they swept into small cities and towns.

France already has an estimated 125,000 troops in Algeria and more in Morocco.

Assault Charge Dismissed in Court

Alphonso Williams, 26, of 46 Meadow street, was arrested by Mary Boggs on a third degree assault charge early today after police were called to the Greyhound bus terminal on Railroad avenue.

The charge was dismissed when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino because the complainant failed to appear. Officers William Slover and Special Patrolman Thomas Whispell were dispatched to the bus terminal when trouble was reported there at 3:45 a. m.

John Bonstell, 19, of 102 Hasbrouck avenue, was arrested on a "dangerous speed" charge by Officer Gilbert Gray at Broadway and Elmendorf street at 11:50 p. m. yesterday. Judge Mino today fined him $25 and suspended execution of a 10-day jail sentence.

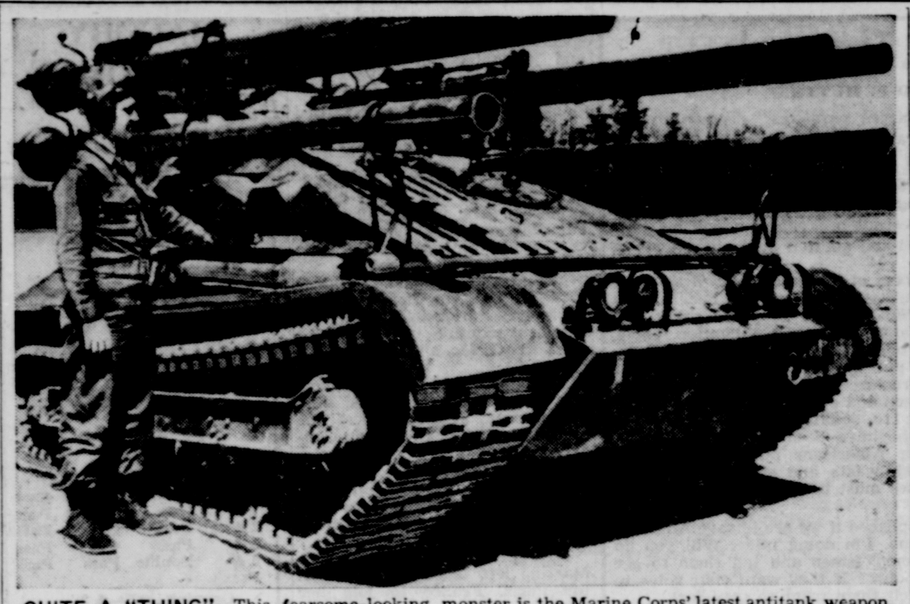

Illegal Bathtubs?

Anderson, S. C. (AP)—Bootleggers have a new gimmick that presents a nice legal question for officers. Sheriff Clint McClain reports that some of the dealers in illegal booze empty a case at the time into a big stew pot, and put the pot in a bathtub in their homes. Comes a customer, the bootlegger ladles up the purchase. Comes the law—and adequate warning—the bootlegger tips over the stew pot and the liquor gurgles down the drain, sometimes chased with a dash of disinfectant to kill the smell. State law says the liquor and the container must be confiscated. McClain figures he'll have to get a ruling from the attorney general on whether to haul in the tubs, too.

QUITE A "THING"—This fearsome-looking monster is the Marine Corps' latest antitank weapon. The "land-going destroyer" is called "Ontos," a Greek word meaning "The Thing." Developed by the Army, Ontos carries six 106-mm. recoilless rifles, four 50-caliber spotting rifles and one 30-caliber machine gun. Before firing the forward-aiming recoilless rifles, Marine crews draw a bead with the spotting rifles. All six 106-mm. rifles may be fired in salvo. Ontos is called a hit-and-run weapon because after firing, the vehicle runs quick! for cover to reload. Its General Motors 145-h.p. engine speeds it at 40 m.p.h. Ontos will be produced at the Allis-Chalmers' La Porte, Ind., plant.

8 Agencies . . .

be obtained immediately by presidential transfer of funds of other agencies.

BECAUSE of this and what he said is broad presidential authority to direct all federal agencies to make available materials, supplies and help to flood victims, Hayden said he doesn't believe a special session is necessary.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said in a statement that "of course everyone will cooperate to bring relief to flood-stricken areas." He said the President has "considerable authority to act now," adding: "That is what Congress would approve his doing."

DIRECTOR Arthur S. Flemming said ODM has available 900 million dollars of a revolving fund for defense mobilization, and is studying whether part of this might be used for loans or guarantee of loans in rehabilitating facilities which produce defense items.

The possibility of rapid tax amortization and preferential award of defense contracts to aid the stricken areas also is being considered, he said.

The SBA prepared to establish emergency loan offices in the areas, and housing officials said a temporary Federal Housing Administration office is expected to be established at Waterbury, Conn. The FHA also was assembling home trailers for transfer to places where they are needed.

The death toll came in for a recount, revising the number of known dead from 180 down to 176.

The death figures by states were: Pennsylvania, 100, with an unknown number still missing; Connecticut, 49, with 71 known missing; Massachusetts, 13; New Jersey, 6; New York, 4; Rhode Island, 1; Virginia, 3.

Bit by bit further repairs were made. Here and there another road was opened. The New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported 50,000 of the approximately 66,000 telephones put out of service had been restored.

VOLUNTARY contributions of clothing, food and money came to the aid of flood victims. The Red Cross launched a special flood relief drive with the strong backing of President Eisenhower, who handed his own personal check to National Red Cross Chairman E. Roland Harriman.

"His gift was a generous one—an example to others who have not yet acted," Harriman commented later.

In Washington the CIO opened a flood relief fund with an initial allotment of $100,000 to help an estimated 50,000 members made homeless or jobless by the catastrophe.

Tentative damage estimates by the various states totalled around three billion dollars. Connecticut figured its losses at more than one billion; Massachusetts, one billion; Pennsylvania, half a billion to a billion; Rhode Island and New Jersey, 100 million or more each; New York, 15 million.

Berserk Airman Kills 3

Manston, England, Aug. 24 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force man went berserk today and, firing a gun in each hand, killed three persons and wounded a half dozen or more at a south England fighter base. The gunman commandered a car by threatening the driver and fled to a nearby beach resort, spreading terror among the bathers. Air force police and British civil police cornered him on the beach. A gun battle followed, and the American was wounded. British police said the gunman then committed suicide. In his crazed shooting spree the gunman killed an American master sergeant, another U. S. serviceman, and a Royal Air Force airman.

Five Killed Near Batavia

Batavia, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—Five persons were killed today in a smashing head-on collision between an automobile and a tractor-trailer on Route 20 about 10 miles southeast of here. Police said the driver of the truck was Stanley Lipowski, 33, of Lancaster, N. Y. He was hospitalized in Batavia but was not believed seriously hurt. A spokesman at Brooks Funeral Home, Pavilion, identified the victims as Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wilcox of York, Livingston county, and their three young children.

Race Issue . . .

limit that should ever be placed upon the Negro "is that placed upon all others—the limit of his own ability."

HE POINTED out that a complaint of discrimination is investigated by a field representative who reduces it to writing and requires that it be sworn to. It is then referred to one of the commissioners for investigation. In this he has the aid of the staff and the power of subpoenae.

When the facts are ascertained, Judge Conway said, a determination must be made as to whether there is probable cause to credit the allegations of the complaint. If not, the complaint is dismissed. If probable cause exists the law requires that efforts be made by conference to conciliate and adjust the matter.

"This is the source of our greatest gratification for out of almost 4,000 cases, all but five have been so adjusted." The law has teeth if it needs them, however. The commission can issue a cease and desist order, if necessary.

JUDGE CONWAY said if in our daily contacts—business and social—"we show respect for the rights of all we will strengthen our nation and inculcate loyalty to our democracy. We will enjoy freedom by granting freedom to all. He said the right to life, liberty and pursuit of happiness could be lost "far more easily than they were won. Their misuse and abuse by many could well mean their strict limitation and final termination in this land. That is why we must cherish in our hearts the truths we speak with our tongues. That is why, we must guard by thought and word and deed, the rights of all—for no man is free until all men are free."

Offices Open

ministration permits homes or businesses damaged by the floods to apply for rehabilitation loans at three per cent interest.

LEO V. LANNING, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office at Albany, as a result of a three-county survey—Ulster, Sullivan and Delaware—has designated the local VA office, 286 Fair street, as an emergency area office to serve any veteran victims of the recent flood disaster.

Mr. Lanning, in setting up the emergency office, stated he was doing so in view of the presidential proclamation creating a disaster area and guaranteed efficient action in all qualified cases.

VA's Loan Guaranty personnel will work from the Kingston office throughout the three-county area, he said; and F. William Sheehan, officer in charge of the local office, said it would remain open throughout the week and until further notice to handle such applications.

flooded states from the federal government.

THE TIMES SAID, "New York submitted no estimate of damages, and its allocation of federal funds was not determined, although the amount was discussed in terms of a few million dollars. One suggestion was $3,000,000."

Meanwhile, Harriman planned to meet today The Associated Press said, with representatives of the army engineers to discuss flood problems. The governor's office said Harriman would issue a statement after the meeting.

"The board of supervisors has been requested by State Superintendent of Public Works to furnish a detailed estimate of cost of restoration of public facilities and removal of debris from streams. Such data now being prepared, I pledge to Ellenville and other affected areas of the town of Wawarsing my fullest cooperation during present emergency. Signed. Arthur H. Wicks."

Reports Thought Unfounded on Body

Police indicated today that reports of a body seen in the Hudson river near Kingston Point beach appeared to be without foundation.

Two swimmers, who came in from the beach float Monday night reported seeing what appeared to be a body, and a general search of the area and grappling were started. It ended without anything to substantiate the report.

The beach closed Monday night after the report, but reopened at noon yesterday. The Kingston police and fire departments, and men from the sheriff's department assisted in the search. Bernard Redmond, of the local recreation department remained in the area throughout the night.

Thursday is the deadline for reservations to attend the annual clambake Sunday of Kingston Lodge 550, BPO Elks at Glenerie Lake Park, according to Exalted Ruler Charles Higgins, who said Elks and friends are invited to patronize the event. Starting time is 11 a. m. with the main bake at 3 p. m.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—The stock market piled up further gains in active trading early this afternoon.

Very heavy trading in steels boosted these prices from 1 to 3 points while throughout the rest of the list the gains ran from one to around five.

Along with steels, advances were scored by rails, oils, aircrafts, chemicals, building materials and radio-televisions.

O'Rourke Stresses

linquency. I know we haven't any sex offenders or a narcotic problem, but there is a problem in vandalism, thievery, teenage gangs and youths frequenting our bars. Although the percentage may be small, our city is growing and we should prepare ourselves to handle this matter. Although at the present time many of our cases do not go before Children's Court, we are letting these children down.

A good example of this can be found by the number of repeater cases. Therefore, we must look to ourselves for the cause. At the Institute they stressed that it is definitely a police matter to see that a child is treated not in a physical sense, but we must look into his environment and mental outlook. This does not mean that as policemen we should become social workers, but it does mean that as policemen we should try in every way possible to organize our community. We must use the facilities that we have at our disposal, such as our school system, our church organizations, our business groups and last but not least, educate our police officers to have an attitude of preventing crime, rather than apprehension of crime.

To do this, a policeman would have to have a lot of sincere and charitable help from people; charitable to the extent of surrendering their leisure time to look at this problem. Mayor, an officer must require certain qualifications for this type of work. He must have an attitude and a personal goal towards helping others. He must feel that the material things in life are not always the greatest, but the thought that he has helped straighten out one boy or girl would be most gratifying.

The Institute further pointed out that this problem of delinquency entails a lot of background work on the subject. We must find out the home situation of the child involved. We must have knowledge of his school activities and his religious background, if any. The Institute suggested that a board or panel be formed, so that when this information is compiled, they can look it over, think it out and hope to come up with some type of treatment. These men can work with the police department by close and sincere organization. If their findings indicate there is no hope for this child, it will then be in order to take the necessary police steps, such as Children's Court and sentencing.

Sir, by this sort of panel we will know that when one of our boys or girls goes to court, that we as policemen and as an organized community, have done our best and that we have not sold them short. The Institute does not claim that this system is a cure-all, but it can be a step in the right direction.

Mayor, I feel that these courses have enlightened me in a great many ways, and if you would like to discuss this matter in detail, I would be more than pleased to talk it over with you. I feel also that since attending this Institute I have a broader scope and a better knowledge of my work. I think, on these matters, I can be more tolerant, more helpful and above all, a better policeman.

Thank you very much.

Sheriff Reports Road Conditions Near Ellenville

Roads in the Ellenville area are passable and improving but still difficult in spots, according to information in the Ulster County Sheriff's Office.

Route 52 east and west of Ellenville is open to one-way traffic. The Minnewaska Trail is "open but dangerous" due to a washout. The secondary roads are being improved daily by highway crews. The roads that are closed are marked.

Route 209 between Ellenville and Wurtsboro is limited to one-way traffic. There is also a short detour.

Route 97 is closed between Narrowsburg and Port Jervis and Route 55 between Barryville and Eldred. Secondary roads are open but still in dangerous condition. They are reported improving. Motorists are urged to use caution.

Route 55 in Dutchess county is closed west of Pawling.

Route 42 nouth of Forestburg in Orange county is reported closed where a bridge is out.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Aug. 23—Recent callers in the hub of the reservoir country included Mrs. Fred Cabana and daughter, Mrs. Mario Zucchini of Springfield, Mass. Mrs. Cabana is the former Dora Collins of the Samsonville area. The two women were accompanied by Dora's sister, Mrs. Irving Barringer of Palentown and Samson Osterhoudt, one of the Town of Rochester's oldest and best known residents who now makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barringer. Osterhoudt recalls driving over to the old village of Shokan with an ox-load of bark for the Mayer tannery in days before the waterworks. "Couldn't use oxen on the road nowadays," the 80-year old Samson opines.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buley and daughter have returned to their home near Atlahta, Ga., following a visit with relatives in the Tonche Mountain section of the Ashokan. The Buleys drove north via the Great Smokies and planned to go back by the coast line route. They are acquainted with Dr. Earl McRae, one of the south's most eminent surgeons who was a classmate of Clyde Winchell.

Harold Carlson, local KHS alumnus, was numbered among the local volunteers who aided in the search Sunday evening for the south side lad reportedly swept over the spillway of the Ashokan Reservoir.

Joseph and Rose (Cohen) Elefant are observing the 20th anniversary of the Cohen family's entry into the business life of the twin villages. Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Cohen took over the Joseph Bershader general store at Ashokan, August 14, 1935, and later moved the business to the Elefant present location next door. Mrs. Elefant is the sister of Frank and Willie Cohen, War 2 veterans and Kingston storekeepers.

Having a birthday Sunday Aug. 28, is Mrs. Harold Buley, Town of Hurley matron who as Kathleen Phillips resided in Shokan several years. Mrs. Buley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phillips of Glenford, has ten children.

Orange County Onion Crop Hit by Floods

A recent celebration by Orange county onion farmers in observance of a bountiful crop was transformed into disappointment this week as the bac
ers began counting their losses after waters of the rampaging Wallkill river had covered almost 2,000 acres of the region, soaking crops and forcing evacuation of homes in Pellets Island.

While the complete estimate of destruction will not be ascertained until salvage operations are completed, Fred Kirchner, area supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, said the losses may run as high as 50 per cent.

Crated onion crops standing in the fields were swept by the flood waters, and Pine Island farmers reported as many as one thousand crates carried away in the flood currents.

Fined for Violation

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 24 (AP) —A white cab driver was fined $5 for allowing a Negro servicewoman to ride in his taxi with several white servicewomen. Raymond Saice was charged in Recorders Court yesterday with violating Montgomery's passenger segregation ordinance. Police said they saw several WAVES, one of them a Negro, riding together in the cab.

British Aviators Complete Single Day Hop to N. Y.

London, Aug. 24 (AP) — Two British aviators had dinner at home with their wives last night just as they planned—after flying to New York for lunch.

Pilot John Hackett and Navigator Peter Moneypenny made the double transatlantic flight of 6,914 miles in 13 hours 46 minutes 56.2 seconds flying time. It was the first London-New York-London round trip in one day.

"WE EXPECTED it to go right, and it did go right," Hackett, 32, told a news conference.

The two men, pilots for a civilian airline, flew a photoreconnaissance version of the Royal Air Forces' twin-jet Canberra bomber. An earlier model of the same plane made the first transatlantic round trip in a single day three years ago, but from northern Ireland to Newfoundland and back—2,766 miles shorter than the flight yesterday.

Hackett and Moneypenny were timed out on their flight from London at 7:17 a. m., and whistled back over the check point at Croydon Airport at 9:41 p. m. In New York they landed at the U. S. Navy's Floyd Bennett Field for refueling and a quick lunch of scrambled eggs.

GM Aero Train Is Answer to Costs

Lagrange, Ill., Aug 24 (AP)—General Motors' answer to the soaring cost of operating passenger trains is its experimental "aerotrain."

Seating 400 persons in 10, 40-foot coaches, the low-slung modernistic train presents several railroads firsts. GM executive N. C. Dezendorf said Monday at its christening.

POWERED by a 12-cylinder, 1,200 horsepower engine, the "aerotrain's" low center of gravity—45 inches above the rails—and its lightweight construction make it capable of a top speed of 102 MPH.

Each coach rests on four wheels instead of the usual eight and nylon-reinforced bellows are used instead of steel springs to smooth out the ride.

A luggage compartment, similar to a bus, opens from outside the coach. Each coach is equipped with airplane-type pantries for preparing and serving light meals.

THE DOORS between the cars open by a touch of the rubber insulation and stay open as long as the doorway is in use.

The Aerotrain will be shown to the public at GM's powerama Aug. 31 to Sept. 25 south of Chicago's Soldier Field.

The Locomotive Costs $200,000 and the passenger cars can be built for $1,000 a seat, Dezendorf said, as compared to the $2,500 a seat for conventional passenger cars.

THE "AEROTRAIN" was built, Dezendorf said, at the request of several railroad presidents who are concerned with the annual loss in passenger service—estimated at more than 700 million dollars. A second "Aerotrain" is being built. Both will be turned over to the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central for exhibition and test runs.

Postpone RVA Meeting Due to Conventions

Due to National and Department conventions of Regular Veterans Association in New York city Aug. 22-25, the regular monthly meeting of Ulster County Memorial Post and Auxiliary will be held Thursday, Sept. 1, instead of this week as originally scheduled.

The post delegates to the convention are George W. Nichols and Fred Mertine and auxiliary delegate is Mrs. Mildred W. Nichols, RN, who is also national assistant welfare officer and president of the local auxiliary.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Aug. 23—Recent callers in the hub of the reservoir country included Mrs. Fred Cabana and daughter, Mrs. Mario Zucchini of Springfield, Mass. Mrs. Cabana is the former Dora Collins of the Samsonville area. The two women were accompanied by Dora's sister, Mrs. Irving Barringer of Palentown and Samson Osterhoudt, one of the Town of Rochester's oldest and best known residents who now makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barringer. Osterhoudt recalls driving over to the old village of Shokan with an ox-load of bark for the Mayer tannery in days before the waterworks. "Couldn't use oxen on the road nowadays," the 80-year old Samson opines.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buley and daughter have returned to their home near Atlanta, Ga., following a visit with relatives in the Tonche Mountain section of the Ashokan. The Buleys drove north via the Great Smokies and planned to go back by the coast line route. They are acquainted with Dr. Earl McRae, one of the south's most eminent surgeons who was a classmate of Clyde Winchell.

Harold Carlson, local KHS alumnus, was numbered among the local volunteers who aided in the search Sunday evening for the south side lad reportedly swept over the spillway of the Ashokan Reservoir.

Joseph and Rose (Cohen) Elefant are observing the 20th anniversary of the Cohen family's entry into the business life of the twin villages. Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Cohen took over the Joseph Bershader general store at Ashokan, August 14, 1935, and later moved the business to the Elefant present location next door. Mrs. Elefant is the sister of Frank and Willie Cohen, War 2 veterans and Kingston storekeepers.

Having a birthday Sunday Aug. 28, is Mrs. Harold Buley, Town of Hurley matron who as Kathleen Phillips resided in Shokan several years. Mrs. Buley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phillips of Glenford, has ten children.

Orange County Onion Crop Hit by Floods

A recent celebration by Orange county onion farmers in observance of a bountiful crop was transformed into disappointment this week as the bnac
ers began counting their losses after waters of the rampaging Wallkill river had covered almost 2,000 acres of the region, soaking crops and forcing evacuation of homes in Pellets Island.

While the complete estimate of destruction will not be ascertained until salvage operations are completed, Fred Kirchner, area supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, said the losses may run as high as 50 per cent.

Crated onion crops standing in the fields were swept by the flood waters, and Pine Island farmers reported as many as one thousand crates carried away in the flood currents.

Fined for Violation

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 24 (AP) —A white cab driver was fined $5 for allowing a Negro servicewoman to ride in his taxi with several white servicewomen. Raymond Saice was charged in Recorders Court yesterday with violating Montgomery's passenger segregation ordinance. Police said they saw several WAVES, one of them a Negro, riding together in the cab.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Art Gallery Features Harth Trio Recital

Woodstock, Aug. 24—A recital of the Sidney Harth Trio will be presented at the Gallery Evening of the Woodstock Artists Association, in the Gallery garden, Friday, at 8:30 p. m. The participating artists are Sidney Harth, violinist; Teresa Testa, violinist and Grace Whitney, cellist. They will play works by Gossec, Beethoven, Kodaly, Prokofieff and Boccherini.

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, Sidney Harth is a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Music, a student of Joseph Kuitzer, Georges Enesco, and Mishel Piastro. A participant by special invitation to the Bachcasalo Prades Festival in 1950, Mr. Harth also made a tour of North Africa, France and Corsica for Les Jeunesses Musicales de France, and a State Department sponsored tour of Germany in 1952. He was the winner of Naumberg Award in 1948 with subsequent appearances on the Telephone Hour and in Town Hall in New York.

Harth was leader of the Woodstock String Quartet and the Musical Arts Quartet, as well as a faculty member of Bennington College. With Teresa Testa (Mrs. Harth) he formed a violin duo that has appeared on coast-to-coast tours and made several record albums.

Teresa Testa was a former member of the Cleveland Ensemble, a student of Kuitzer and Louis Persinger. She made two nationwide tours for Columbia Concerts as violinist of the Columbia Concerts Trio. She now makes her home in Louisville with her husband. She is assistant concert-master of the Louisville Orchestra and a member of the Louisville String Quartet.

Mr. and Mrs. Harth have one daughter Laura, aged two.

Grace Whitney, cellist of the trio, is the principal cellist of the Louisville Orchestra. A native of Chicago, she is a member of the Louisville String Quartet. She toured throughout the country with the Whitney Chamber Music Players, and is also on the staff of NBC in Chicago. At present she is a member of the faculty of the University of Louisville.

Robert Pick to Speak At Parnassus Square

Woodstock, Aug. 24—The public is invited to a lecture to be given by Robert Pick at Parnassus Square Galleries on Saturday at 8:30 p. m.

Mr. Pick will answer the provocative, unanswerable question, "What Makes a Book Live?" The question was asked by artist Pat Collins several weeks ago of another speaker.

Robert Pick is the author of "Guests of Don Lorenzo" and several other books. The last book, "Escape of Socrates," published by Alfred A. Knopf, is now being published in three countries.

He has been a visiting professor at the University of Kansas City and twice a Guggenheim Fellow. Also he is a steady contributor to the Saturday Review of Literature, Commentary, and other periodicals of interest to men of letters.

Mr. Pick has just returned from the International Pen Club Congress in Vienna, where he had been sent as delegate representing the New York Pen Club. Undoubtedly he will have much to tell about the many internationally known authors he had met at the Congress.

Maverick Concert Will Feature Henry Cowell

Woodstock, Aug. 24—World famous composer-pianist Henry Cowell will be the guest artist on the Claremont Quartet's concert at the Maverick, Sunday at 4 p. m. A resident of Shady, where he spends a few weeks each year.

Henry Cowell has completed the sketches of his Twelfth Symphony and hopes to finish the full score before the summer is over.

For his appearance at the Maverick, Cowell has chosen to play a number of his famous "tone-cluster" piano pieces which caused such a furore when first performed by the composer. In spite of their revolutionary new techniques these piano pieces have become almost classics within the course of only two decades. Whereas many American composers are influenced by European masters. Henry Cowell is one of the few Americans whose influence on composers of other countries has been deep and strong. Composers like Krenek, Alban Berg and Bartok openly acknowledged Cowell's influence.

In appearing in the forthcoming concert, Henry Cowell has responded for the first time to an invitation to publicly perform a representative group of his piano pieces in Woodstock. It is also his first appearance at the Maverick Concerts.

The main part of the concert will be carried by the Claremont Quartet. Their program will consist of the Adagio and Fugue by Mozart, the Quartet in C major op. 59 No. 3 by Beethoven and Debussy's only String Quartet.

Onteora Field Team Defeats Woodstock

Woodstock, Aug. 24—The Onteora Recreation Field team won the baseball game over the Woodstock team, at the Recreation field, Wednesday morning by the score of 10 to 7. Woodstock made one hit in the sixth inning having made its total score of seven in the seventh inning. Wayne Underhill Jr., made the only "grand slam" of the game.

For the Woodstock team Wayne Underhill Jr., was catcher Richard Ostrander, pitcher, replaced by Danny Wilber in the third inning. There were 24 men on the Woodstock team including "Barbie" Cohn.

Tom McCrossen was pitcher for the Onteora team.

Helen Wolfert Offers Poetry at Parnassus

Woodstock, Aug. 24—At Parnassus Square Galleries Friday, Helen Wolfert read her most current poetry to an appreciative and stimulating audience.

For the non-poet audience, her poems and her consummate reading of them were an experience in music and imagery; music peneterating, gratifying, and imagery that is alive and uniquely beautiful.

To the poets in the audience, her poems were accomplishments of immense importance.

At the end of her reading, Mrs. Wolfert said: "I have always written in an intuitive way. It is true that artists should trust their unconscious mind. But at the same time, we cannot help but try to figure out what is going on. For me there is trust of the unconscious, but also curiosity."

The discussion after the reading proved exciting, taking up the poet's intuitive approach to writing.

Mark Vukovic Holds One-Man Exhibition

Woodstock, Aug. 24 — Mark Vukovic, whose one-man show of paintings opened at Parnassus Square Galleries, demonstrates his versatility in several fields of the oil medium. The artist is equally at home in portraiture, landscape and still life. All of his paintings are carefully composed and vigorously painted accenting the highly individual qualities of his many subjects.

In the gently rocking figures of "Motherhood" he has caught the tender harmony between the mother and child. "Hunter With Dog" is an appealing study, and there is sparkle and brilliance in "The Red Bridge." There is a self-portrait in "Artist at Work," while the repose and clarity of "Anne" is refreshing.

Among the skilfully handled landscapes "Downe's Farm" exudes a fine luminous quality as does "East Kingston Landscape." "Abandoned Light House" is convincingly eerie and a strong feeling of movement is conveyed in the rich "Hay Harvest."

Spacious arrangement is to be found in "Still Life With Violin" and "Girl Arranging Flowers." This is an altogether satisfying and rewarding exhibition.

Chest X-ray Clinic Planned Sept. 13-14

Woodstock, Aug. 24—A meeting under the auspices of the Ulster County Department of Health and the Ulster County TB and Health Association was held at the town clerk's office Friday night to discuss plans for the free chest X-ray survey in Woodstock. Present were: Joseph Fitzsimmons, town supervisor; Miss Katherine Murphy of the TB and Health Association; Leon Carey, in charge of publicity in the absence of James Kinns; Mrs. Ian Vance of Willow; Mrs. Gene Howland of Lake Hill; Mrs. Caril T. Harrington of Woodstock; and Mrs. William K. Gregory, who will be in charge of canvassing in Woodstock village. Other chairmen in their own districts are: Mrs. Daniel Kleine of Shady; Mrs. Montcena DeWitt of Zena, and Mrs. Daniel Gillmor of Wittenberg.

There will also be a committee on transportation. One canvasser will take care of every ten homes, each canvasser to have master sheet on which will be listed the name of the person seen, and the approximate time of the X-ray to be taken. Each person will receive an appointment card signed by the canvasser.

It is also planned that hostesses will be appointed for the days the X-rays will be taken, with six women on duty during the afternoon, and another six for the evening, four of each group to act as clerks.

The chest X-rays will be made on September 13 and 14, time and place to be announced.

The next meeting of the planning committees will be held at the Woodstock Fire Hall, Aug. 30, at 8 p. m., to include the chairman and the workers. X-rays are to be taken of everyone over 15 years of age.

Field Day Planned By Local Riding Club

Woodstock, Aug. 24—George Hard, chairman of the annual fall field day of the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., which is to be held Sunday starting promptly at 9 a. m., has expressed the hope that a day of fun on horseback will be provided for many. The Field Day Committee learned that many entries to the Horse Show of the Ulster County Fair in Kingston were disappointed at being rained out and it is hoped that they will avail themselves of the opportunity to appear at the Woodstock show on Sunday. The committee hopes to provide good fun and competition for all entries.

WoodstockFoundation Plan Fall Production

Woodstock, Aug. 24 — The Woodstock Foundation announced at a meeting held at the home of artist John Pike Friday night, that the annual fall production will be a variety show this year, entitled "Fun Za-Poppin.'" The show will be given two evenings, Friday, Sept. 9, and Saturday, Sept. 10, starting at 8:40 p. m. There will probably be about 16 acts in the production, with a cast of 50 performers.

To date such well-known Woodstock personalities are scheduled to be included in the cast: Alexander Semmler, William Spanhake Sr., Abe Molyneaux, and possibly, A. L. Sainer, owner of the Woodstock Playhouse which he has donated for the use of the Foundation for the two performances.

Mrs. Carl Hubbell is writing a number of skits to be included in the show. Mrs. Kevin Sweeney is in charge of tickets.

The entire production will be under the direction of Helen Fletcher, and music will be provided by John Pike and his orchestra. Refreshments will be available.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the Foundation, will be available at retail outlets throughout the village and at the box office of the Woodstock Playhouse after the close of the Playhouse summer season, time to be announced. Telephone reservations may be made at the box office when it is open.

Proceeds from the show are used to make annual awards to worthy people in the fields of art, music and literature in Woodstock.

International Songs Heard at Parnassus

Woodstock, Aug. 24—Robert and Louise DeCormier presented an evening of International folksongs Wednesday at the Parnassus Square Galleries before an audience of more than 100. The folksongs were rather too refined for their idiom.

For the first half of the program they presented English and Polish folksongs, and the second portion was devoted to songs of the Catskill Mountains which were more amusing and less formal than those heard in the first part of the program.

Mr. DeCormier accompanied the songs on the guitar.

Such songs as "I Walk the Road Again," "The Knickerbocker Line," and their final offering "So Long, It's Been So Good to Know You" were among the outstanding numbers.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Aug. 24—Susan Reed, ballad singer and actress who starred in the Woodstock Playhouse production of Shaw's "Misalliance" was seen Aug. 22 on NBC's TV spectacular. Immediately after the show she left again for summer stock to sing the lead in "Finian's Rainbow" a role she created for summer theatres, here at the Woodstock Playhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Brice Banks and their sons, Stephan and Laurie, of Wilmington, Calif., were the guests Monday and Tuesday of Mrs. Arthur F. Wyman and Herbert Wyman at their home on Plochmann Lane.

Miss Judy Small, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Small left for Europe Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Striebel plan to leave for Europe, Sept. 1.

Woodstck, Aug. 24 — On Wednesday evening at the Woodstock Recreation Field, the Woodstock Jones Boys won the last game of the season against West Shokan, with a score of 6 to 2. The game ran for four innings, the official time for the Little Leagues.

Woodstock, Aug. 24 — The Agapae Rebekah fair and supper will be held at the Odd Fellows Hall. Thursday, the fair to start at 2 p. m., and the supper to be served at 5:30 p. m.

Art Gallery Features Harth Trio Recital

Woodstock, Aug. 24—A recital of the Sidney Harth Trio will be presented at the Gallery Evening of the Woodstock Artists Association, in the Gallery garden, Friday, at 8:30 p. m. The participating artists are Sidney Harth, violinist; Teresa Testa, violinist and Grace Whitney, cellist. They will play works by Gossec, Beethoven, Kodaly, Prokofieff and Boccherini.

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, Sidney Harth is a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Music, a student of Joseph Kuitzer, Georges Enesco, and Mishel Piastro. A participant by special invitation to the Bachcasalo Prades Festival in 1950, Mr. Harth also made a tour of North Africa, France and Corsica for Les Jeunesses Musicales de France, and a State Department sponsored tour of Germany in 1952. He was the winner of Naumberg Award in 1948 with subsequent appearances on the Telephone Hour and in Town Hall in New York.

Harth was leader of the Woodstock String Quartet and the Musical Arts Quartet, as well as a faculty member of Bennington College. With Teresa Testa (Mrs. Harth) he formed a violin duo that has appeared on coast-to-coast tours and made several record albums.

Teresa Testa was a former member of the Cleveland Ensemble, a student of Kuitzer and Louis Persinger. She made two nationwide tours for Columbia Concerts as violinist of the Columbia Concerts Trio. She now makes her home in Louisville with her husband. She is assistant concert-master of the Louisville Orchestra and a member of the Louisville String Quartet.

Mr. and Mrs. Harth have one daughter Laura, aged two.

Grace Whitney, cellist of the trio, is the principal cellist of the Louisville Orchestra. A native of Chicago, she is a member of the Louisville String Quartet. She toured throughout the country with the Whitney Chamber Music Players, and is also on the staff of NBC in Chicago. At present she is a member of the faculty of the University of Louisville.

Robert Pick to Speak At Parnassus Square

Woodstock, Aug. 24—The public is invited to a lecture to be given by Robert Pick at Parnassus Square Galleries on Saturday at 8:30 p. m.

Mr. Pick will answer the provocative, unanswerable question, "What Makes a Book Live?" The question was asked by artist Pat Collins several weeks ago of another speaker.

Robert Pick is the author of "Guests of Don Lorenzo" and several other books. The last book, "Escape of Socrates," published by Alfred A. Knopf, is now being published in three countries.

He has been a visiting professor at the University of Kansas City and twice a Guggenheim Fellow. Also he is a steady contributor to the Saturday Review of Literature ,Commentary, and other periodicals of interest to men of letters.

Mr. Pick has just returned from the International Pen Club Congress in Vienna, where he had been sent as delegate representing the New York Pen Club. Undoubtedly he will have much to tell about the many internationally known authors he had met at the Congress.

Maverick Concert Will Feature Henry Cowell

Woodstock, Aug. 24—World famous composer-pianist Henry Cowell will be the guest artist on the Claremont Quartet's concert at the Maverick, Sunday at 4 p. m. A resident of Shady, where he spends a few weeks each year.

Henry Cowell has completed the sketches of his Twelfth Symphony and hopes to finish the full score before the summer is over.

For his appearance at the Maverick, Cowell has chosen to play a number of his famous "tone-cluster" piano pieces which caused such a furore when first performed by the composer. In spite of their revolutionary new techniques these piano pieces have become almost classics within the course of only two decades. Whereas many American composers are influenced by European masters. Henry Cowell is one of the few Americans whose influence on composers of other countries has been deep and strong. Composers like Krenek, Alban Berg and Bartok openly acknowledged Cowell's influence.

In appearing in the forthcoming concert, Henry Cowell has responded for the first time to an invitation to publicly perform a representative group of his piano pieces in Woodstock. It is also his first appearance at the Maverick Concerts.

The main part of the concert will be carried by the Claremont Quartet. Their program will consist of the Adagio and Fugue by Mozart, the Quartet in C major op. 59 No. 3 by Beethoven and Debussy's only String Quartet.

Onteora Field Team Defeats Woodstock

Woodstock, Aug. 24—The Onteora Recreation Field team won the baseball game over the Woodstock team, at the Recreation field, Wednesday morning by the score of 10 to 7. Woodstock made one hit in the sixth inning having made its total score of seven in the seventh inning. Wayne Underhill Jr., made the only "grand slam" of the game.

For the Woodstock team Wayne Underhill Jr., was catcher Richard Ostrander, pitcher, replaced by Danny Wilber in the third inning. There were 24 men on the Woodstock team including "Barbie" Cohn.

Tom McCrossen was pitcher for the Onteora team.

Helen Wolfert Offers Poetry at Parnassus

Woodstock, Aug. 24—At Parnassus Square Galleries Friday, Helen Wolfert read her most current poetry to an appreciative and stimulating audience.

For the non-poet audience, her poems and her consummate reading of them were an experience in music and imagery: music peneterating, gratifying, and imagery that is alive and uniquely beautiful.

To the poets in the audience, her poems were accomplishments of immense importance.

At the end of her reading, Mrs. Wolfert said: "I have always written in an intuitive way. It is true that artists should trust their unconscious mind. But at the same time, we cannot help but try to figure out what is going on. For me there is trust of the unconscious, but also curiosity."

The discussion after the reading proved exciting, taking up the poet's intuitive approach to writing.

Mark Vukovic Holds One-Man Exhibition

Woodstock, Aug. 24 — Mark Vukovic, whose one-man show of paintings opened at Parnassus Square Galleries, demonstrates his versatility in several fields of the oil medium. The artist is equally at home in portraiture, landscape and still life. All of his paintings are carefully composed and vigorously painted accenting the highly individual qualities of his many subjects.

In the gently rocking figures of "Motherhood" he has caught the tender harmony between the mother and child. "Hunter With Dog" is an appealing study, and there is sparkle and brilliance in "The Red Bridge." There is a self-portrait in "Artist at Work," while the repose and clarity of "Anne" is refreshing.

Among the skilfully handled landscapes "Downe's Farm" exudes a fine luminous quality as does "East Kingston Landscape." "Abandoned Light House" is convincingly eerie and a strong feeling of movement is conveyed in the rich "Hay Harvest."

Spacious arrangement is to be found in "Still Life With Violin" and "Girl Arranging Flowers." This is an altogether satisfying and rewarding exhibition.

Chest X-ray Clinic Planned Sept. 13-14

Woodstock, Aug. 24—A meeting under the auspices of the Ulster County Department of Health and the Ulster County TB and Health Association was held at the town clerk's office Friday night to discuss plans for the free chest X-ray survey in Woodstock. Present were: Joseph Fitzsimmons, town supervisor; Miss Katherine Murphy of the TB and Health Association; Leon Carey, in charge of publicity in the absence of James Kinns; Mrs. Ian Vance of Willow; Mrs. Gene Howland of Lake Hill; Mrs. Caril T. Harrington of Woodstock; and Mrs. William K. Gregory, who will be in charge of canvassing in Woodstock village. Other chairmen in their own districts are: Mrs. Daniel Kleine of Shady; Mrs. Montcena DeWitt of Zena, and Mrs. Daniel Gillmor of Wittenberg.

There will also be a committee on transportation. One canvasser will take care of every ten homes, each canvasser to have master sheet on which will be listed the name of the person seen, and the approximate time of the X-ray to be taken. Each person will receive an appointment card signed by the canvasser.

It is also planned that hostesses will be appointed for the days the X-rays will be taken, with six women on duty during the afternoon, and another six for the evening, four of each group to act as clerks.

The chest X-rays will be made on September 13 and 14, time and place to be announced.

The next meeting of the planning committees will be held at the Woodstock Fire Hall, Aug. 30, at 8 p. m., to include the chairman and the workers. X-rays are to be taken of everyone over 15 years of age.

Field Day Planned By Local Riding Club

Woodstock, Aug. 24—George Hard, chairman of the annual fall field day of the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., which is to be held Sunday starting promptly at 9 a. m., has expressed the hope that a day of fun on horseback will be provided for many. The Field Day Committee learned that many entries to the Horse Show of the Ulster County Fair in Kingston were disappointed at being rained out and it is hoped that they will avail themselves of the opportunity to appear at the Woodstock show on Sunday. The committee hopes to provide good fun and competition for all entries.

WoodstockFoundation Plan Fall Production

Woodstock, Aug. 24 — The Woodstock Foundation announced at a meeting held at the home of artist John Pike Friday night, that the annual fall production will be a variety show this year, entitled "Fun Za-Poppin.'" The show will be given two evenings, Friday, Sept. 9, and Saturday, Sept. 10, starting at 8:40 p. m. There will probably be about 16 acts in the production, with a cast of 50 performers.

To date such well-known Woodstock personalities are scheduled to be included in the cast: Alexander Semmler, William Spanhake Sr., Abe Molyneaux, and possibly, A. L. Sainer, owner of the Woodstock Playhouse which he has donated for the use of the Foundation for the two performances.

Mrs. Carl Hubbell is writing a number of skits to be included in the show. Mrs. Kevin Sweeney is in charge of tickets.

The entire production will be under the direction of Helen Fletcher, and music will be provided by John Pike and his orchestra. Refreshments will be available.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the Foundation, will be available at retail outlets throughout the village and at the box office of the Woodstock Playhouse after the close of the Playhouse summer season, time to be announced. Telephone reservations may be made at the box office when it is open.

Proceeds from the show are used to make annual awards to worthy people in the fields of art, music and literature in Woodstock.

Search Continues For Kight Body

Search for the body of William John Kight, 12, of the town of Hurley, who was swept into the seething waters of Esopus creek at a point known as the Spillway near Ashokan Reservoir Sunday afternoon, was continuing today. The search has been underway night and day since the boy, trapped in the swift current, was torn from the grasp of a friend, Donald Skea, 13, and plunged over 50-foot falls into the raging flood.

THE SHERIFF'S office, Kingston state police, New York city Water Department personnel and members of the Olive and West Hurley Fire Departments were searching the creek as far as six miles below the point where the boy disappeared.

Boats were brought to the scene and grappling operations begun yesterday. Prior to that, grappling had been done from shore.

Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg paid special tribute to the ladies' auxiliary of the West Hurley Fire Department which has provided coffee and food for members of the search party since young Kight was reported lost. The auxiliary has functioned day and night, the undersheriff reported.

TROOPER H. H. Ganss, working with a search volunteer, got dunked in the boiling waters below the Spillway falls when his canoe turned over, it was reported to The Freeman. Occupants of the canoe were none the worse except for a drenching.

Dynamite charges dropped into the deep pool below the falls in hope the concussion might bring the body to the surface were without effect, it was said.

Returns to Sudan

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 24 (AP)—British Governor General Sir Alexander Knox Helm hurried back to the Sudan today to strength government efforts to force the surrender of 200 army mutineers holding out in a southern province of the upper Nile territory. Before leaving for Khartoum, Knox Helm planned to confer with Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and Maj. Salah Salem, Egyptian minister of Sudanese affairs.

Gets Suspended Term

Ann DeGroat, 29, of Hasbrouck avenue, who was arrested Aug. 13, by Officer Hydrect Armstrong on a disorderly conduct charge, pleaded guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino yesterday, and was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. She had been arrested by the same officer on a like charge Aug. 8 and on that was fined $10.

Probation Report Cites Need for Office Facilities

Edmund U. Burhans, chief probation officer of Ulster county, in his annual report for the year 1954 which was filed with the board of supervisors last week, points out the need for "adequate" office facilities for the probation department.

The need for additional facilities is now more urgent than in the past since the appointment of an additional probation worker. Presently the office of the probation officer is in the public office of the county judge where private interviews and consultations are impossible. Probation Officer Burhans has made a request to the board that additional space be allocated. Work of the department is increasing each year, he points out, and suggests another stenographer be appointed to give the probation officer and worker more time for investigations and interviews.

DURING 1954 the amount of monies collected through the probation office increased about $10,000 over the previous year. The total collected in 1954 was $92,057.59. Of this the sum of $899.50 was from restitution; $1,133 special funds and $90,025.09 was for family support paid through the office. The special fund is the amount received for physically handicapped children through payments made by parents.

Much of the money collected for family support would have had to come from Public Welfare, had not the probation department followed up cases and required payment. This also aids the morale of the dependents to feel, that they are not a burden on the taxpayers.

During the past year probation was revoked for four male adults and two were committed to the Reception Center at Elmira, one to the Ulster county jail and one to Sing Sing from Orange county for a new offense.

AT THE BEGINNING of 1954 there were 54 adult cases continued from the previous year, 31 were received during 1954 and three were transferred from other counties and one was restored to probation, making a total of 86 cases. There passed from probation 28 and three were transferred to other courts leaving 55 on probation at the close of the year. Of these there were 34 men and one woman charged with misdemeanors and 20 men charged with felonies.

In the misdemeanor category there was only one female who was charged with petit larceny. There was one male charged with assault, third degree; five with petit larceny, five with unlawful entry and there were seven Youthful Offender actions and four other offenses. Those placed on probation for felony violations were all males, two charged with rape and assault, one for assault, one for forgery, three for grand larceny and one for other offense. The terms of probation are from six months to the full term of three years.

PROBATION WAS revoked in the case of four boys and they were all committed to the State Agricultural and Industrial School at Industry, N. Y. Two other boys who were on probation from Children's Court violated their probation after they had become 16 years of age and both were adjudged Youthful Offenders, one was placed on probation as an adult and the other was committed to the Ulster county jail.

Children's court activities are protected by law from publication as to names and other data and the amount of work which is involved in Children's court cases is increasing each year. Of the many cases before the Children's Court, 34 boys and five girls were on probation at the end of the year, 19 boys and three girls having been received on probation during the year in addition to those already on probation from the previous year. There passed from probation 27 boys and two girls and one was transferred to another court.

The charges against those placed on probation from Children's Court were: Automobile stealing 1 boy; other stealing eight boys; burglary or unlawful entry, eight boys and one girl; ungovernable one boy; sex offenses one boy and acts of carelessness or mischief one boy and one girl.

In his report Probation Officer Burhans urges that the board of supervisors explore the matter of 50 per cent reimbursement through the New York State Youth Commission.

Farley Remarks Cashin to Make Fine U. S. Judge

Letters of congratulation from James A. Farley on the appointment of Judge John M. Cashin to the federal bench have been received by Judge Cashin and Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, it was learned today.

He wrote to Judge Cashin that he was "delighted to see the announcement of your having been named a federal district judge by President Eisenhower. I know you will make a fine judge and that you will more than justify the confidence reposed in you by the President.

"With kindest regards and all good wishes for a happy and successful tenure of office, sincerely yours."

His letter to Sen. Wicks follows:

"As a good Democrat, I want you to know that I was very much pleased when I saw the announcement of John's having been named a Federal District Judge. I wrote him as per the attached copy. I know what his appointment means to you, Arthur, and I congratulate you.

"I am sorry our paths do not cross as frequently as I should like.

With kindest regards and all good wishes for the days ahead, sincerely yours, Jim."

He completed his tour in June 1955 and shortly thereafter came to Kingston.

Would Ban Night TV

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—The New York Yankees have proposed to the Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers that the three clubs enter into an agreement next year not to televise night games, the World-Telegram and Sun said today. Dan Daniel, writing for the newspaper, said the move is aimed at curing slumping attendance at New York baseball parks. He said George Weiss, general manager of the Yankees, would confer with Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, next week. Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, will confer with Stoneham later.

Georgia had a homicide rate of 14.6 per 100,000 people in 1952, about 30 times the rate in Vermont.

Search Continues For Kight Body

Search for the body of William John Kight, 12, of the town of Hurley, who was swept into the seething waters of Esopus creek at a point known as the Spillway near Ashokan Reservoir Sunday afternoon, was continuing today. The search has been underway night and day since the boy, trapped in the swift current, was torn from the grasp of a friend, Donald Skea, 13, and plunged over 50-foot falls into the raging flood.

THE SHERIFF'S office, Kingston state police, New York city Water Department personnel and members of the Olive and West Hurley Fire Departments were searching the creek as far as six miles below the point where the boy disappeared.

Boats were brought to the scene and grappling operations begun yesterday. Prior to that, grappling had been done from shore.

Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg paid special tribute to the ladies' auxiliary of the West Hurley Fire Department which has provided coffee and food for members of the search party since young Kight was reported lost. The auxiliary has functioned day and night, the undersheriff reported.

TROOPER H. H. Ganss, working with a search volunteer, got dunked in the boiling waters below the Spillway falls when his canoe turned over, it was reported to The Freeman. Occupants of the canoe were none the worse except for a drenching.

Dynamite charges dropped into the deep pool below the falls in hope the concussion might bring the body to the surface were without effect, it was said.

Returns to Sudan

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 24 (AP)—British Governor General Sir Alexander Knox Helm hurried back to the Sudan today to strength government efforts to force the surrender of 200 army mutineers holding out in a southern province of the upper Nile territory. Before leaving for Khartoum, Knox Helm planned to confer with Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and Maj. Salah Salem, Egyptian minister of Sudanese affairs.

Gets Suspended Term

Ann DeGroat, 29, of Hasbrouck avenue, who was arrested Aug. 13, by Officer Hydrect Armstrong on a disorderly conduct charge, pleaded guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino yesterday, and was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. She had been arrested by the same officer on a like charge Aug. 8 and on that was fined $10.

Probation Report Cites Need for Office Facilities

Edmund U. Burhans, chief probation officer of Ulster county, in his annual report for the year 1954 which was filed with the board of supervisors last week, points out the need for "adequate" office facilities for the probation department.

The need for additional facilities is now more urgent than in the past since the appointment of an additional probation worker. Presently the office of the probation officer is in the public office of the county judge where private interviews and consultations are impossible. Probation Officer Burhans has made a request to the board that additional space be allocated. Work of the department is increasing each year, he points out, and suggests another stenographer be appointed to give the probation officer and worker more time for investigations and interviews.

Eight 4-H Girls Win Trip to State Fair At Saratoga Revue

Eight of the 15 Ulster county 4-H girls who participated in the district dress revue at Saratoga Springs Aug. 19, received excellent awards which entitles them to participate in the New York State 4-H Dress Revue at the New York State Fair Sept. 9.

Nancy Ellsworth, Port Ewen; Enid Goetchius, Hurley; Jean Kelder and Nancy Larsen, Stone Ridge; Karen Trowbridge, Kyserike; Donna Pearson and Kathy Nolan, Lake Katrine; and Beth Smith, High Falls were among 21 girls chosen from 57 contestants.

Girls from seven counties were represented in the dress revue which was held at the Hall of Springs at the Saratoga Spa Reservation. The garments were judged by Miss Gladys Adams, district 4-H Club agent; Miss Laurain Lasher, assistant 4-H club agent in Delaware county; Mrs. Raymond Liddle, and Miss Wanda Montgomery, 4-H clothing specialist. Awards were presented by Mrs. Frederick Miller, assistant state 4-H Club leader.

Other girls from Ulster county who participated in the event were Mary Ellsworth, Port Ewen; Kathleen Gaffney and Shirley Altizio (Triboro), Highland; Wanda Roosa, Kripplebush; Margaret Coutant, Ruby; Dorothy Quick, Palentown; and Leilani Roosa, High Falls.

Movie in Port Ewen

Lucille Ball will be featured in the movie, The Fuller Brush Girl, to be shown today at 8:15 p. m. on the grounds of the Port Ewen Recreation Department.

Roseann Crosby and John Purcell United At 10:30 Nuptial Mass

Roseann Mary Crosby and John McConnel Purcell were united in marriage at a nuptial Mass Saturday in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church with the Rt. Rev. Stephen P. Connelly officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln E. Crosby of 140 Downs street. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Purcell of Valatie.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli and white ribbon bows marked the pews. Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and Miss Catherine Juhl sang the solos.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin, fashioned with a lace bodice, long sleeves, and a v-neckline outlined in scallops. Her very full gathered tulle skirt had a deep peplum of lace and terminated in a chapel train. Her veil was silk illusion, fingertip length, secured to a matching lace cap of pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a prayer book marked with a white orchid and streamers of stephanotis.

Mrs. Edward R. Crosby was matron of honor for her sister-in-law. Her gown was of forget-me-not blue crystallette, with sculptured bodice, short sleeves, portrait neckline and a bouffant skirt. She wore a band of pink roses for a headpiece and carried a matching pink rose bouquet.

Richard Carney of Valatie was best man and serving as ushers were John E. Van Buren of Valatie, and Edward R. Crosby, the bride's brother, of Rhinebeck.

After a reception for 125 guests at The Barn, the couple left for a wedding trip to northern New York and Canada. The bride wore a traveling ensemble of a Dior blue dress trimmed with Irish crochet lace, navy blue accessories and a white orchid corsage. The couple will make their home in Valatie.

Mrs. Purcell is a graduate of St. Ursula Academy and College of St. Rose. She is a language teacher at Gilboa Central School.

Mr. Purcell is a graduate of Martin H. Glynn High School in Valatie and the Veterans Vocational School in Troy. He was with the army for two and a half years and now conducts a plumbing and heating business in Valatie.

Questions U. S. View

Tokyo, Aug. 24 (AP)—The chief physician in charge of Japan's 23 Bikini hydrogen bomb victims today challenged a U. S. Defense Department statement that jaundice from blood transfusions caused the death last October of fisherman Aikichi Kuboyama. He reaffirmed his belief that death resulted from radiation sickness. Dr. Kazuo Kiyoshi, a medical professor at Tokyo University and the doctor in direct charge of the atomic fallout victims, conducted the autopsy on Kuboyama in the presence of U. S. specialists. He said all agreed that Kuboyama's liver and bone marrow contained radioactive elements, apparently as the result of breathing dust from the hydrogen bomb fallout in March 1954.

ANNOYING HABIT

"When playing cards, shouldn't they be left on the table until the dealer has finished dealing them out?" a reader asks. "There is a woman in our bridge club who picks each card up as they are being dealt out and starts assorting them. I don't think it's right and find it very annoying. Will you please tell me how I can bring this to her attention without hurting her feelings?"

I don't think you can call her attention to this habit of hers. While it is incorrect it certainly is not hurting anybody, and you ought not let it annoy you.

At the Beauty Parlor

Dear Mrs. Post: I've noticed in the beauty parlor to which I go that people tip the woman who ownes the place. She is also one of the operators. I've always imagined that tipping the owner was not necessary nor even proper. What is your advice in a case like this where others are tipping her?

Answer: If it is true that everyone is tipping the proprietress you could hardly do other than follow suit, but I agree that this practice is improper. The real fault, however, is on the part of the proprietress who accepts the tip in addition to the profit that she makes.

Wearing White

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be proper for a guest to wear a white dress to the wedding and reception of a close friend or is the bride the only one who wears white at a wedding? Please advise me as I don't want to do anything that would in any way detract from the bride.

Answer: In mid-summer a simple white dress would be perfectly all right.

What should the wedding guests wear to the wedding reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Clothes for the daytime or evening wedding are described in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-6. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Miss Higgens Goes To Canal Zone With American Red Cross

Miss Higgens, who has a permanent home now in Verona, N. J., has been with the Red Cross since September 1946. She spent two years in Korea from 1946 to 1948, mostly in the southern part near Seoul, and then Inchon, Taegue and Kwangju. Of the Korean people, Miss Higgens said, "They have fine character and a great deal of dignity. I liked them very much."

From 1949 to 1952, Miss Higgens was stationed in Japan mostly at the jet bases. During the first part of the Korean war she was at Itazuki, nearest base to Korea, where all wounded were evacuated to by air. While in Japan she organized volunteer projects among the wives to take care of the incoming wounded.

In early 1952, Miss Higgens returned to this country and was stationed at Bolling Air Force Base in Washington, D. C., for two years. In July of 1954 she was transferred to New Castle County Airport near Wilmington, Del., where again she worked with jet crews in the Eastern Air Defense system until her present transfer.

Lucille Ball will be featured in the movie, The Fuller Brush Girl, to be shown today at 8:15 p. m. on the grounds of the Port Ewen Recreation Department.

Roseann Crosby and John Purcell United At 10:30 Nuptial Mass

Roseann Mary Crosby and John McConnel Purcell were united in marriage at a nuptial Mass Saturday in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church with the Rt. Rev. Stephen P. Connelly officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln E. Crosby of 140 Downs street. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Purcell of Valatie.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli and white ribbon bows marked the pews. Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and Miss Catherine Juhl sang the solos.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin, fashioned with a lace bodice, long sleeves, and a v-neckline outlined in scallops. Her very full gathered tulle skirt had a deep peplum of lace and terminated in a chapel train. Her veil was silk illusion, fingertip length, secured to a matching lace cap of pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a prayer book marked with a white orchid and streamers of stephanotis.

Mrs. Edward R. Crosby was matron of honor for her sister-in-law. Her gown was of forget-me-not blue crystallette, with sculptured bodice, short sleeves, portrait neckline and a bouffant skirt. She wore a band of pink roses for a headpiece and carried a matching pink rose bouquet.

Richard Carney of Valatie was best man and serving as ushers were John E. Van Buren of Valatie, and Edward R. Crosby, the bride's brother, of Rhinebeck.

After a reception for 125 guests at The Barn, the couple left for a wedding trip to northern New York and Canada. The bride wore a traveling ensemble of a Dior blue dress trimmed with Irish crochet lace, navy blue accessories and a white orchid corsage. The couple will make their home in Valatie.

Mrs. Purcell is a graduate of St. Ursula Academy and College of St. Rose. She is a language teacher at Gilboa Central School.

Mr. Purcell is a graduate of Martin H. Glynn High School in Valatie and the Veterans Vocational School in Troy. He was with the army for two and a half years and now conducts a plumbing and heating business in Valatie.

Questions U. S. View

Tokyo, Aug. 24 (AP)—The chief physician in charge of Japan's 23 Bikini hydrogen bomb victims today challenged a U. S. Defense Department statement that jaundice from blood transfusions caused the death last October of fisherman Aikichi Kuboyama. He reaffirmed his belief that death resulted from radiation sickness. Dr. Kazuo Kiyoshi, a medical professor at Tokyo University and the doctor in direct charge of the atomic fallout victims, conducted the autopsy on Kuboyama in the presence of U. S. specialists. He said all agreed that Kuboyama's liver and bone marrow contained radioactive elements, apparently as the result of breathing dust from the hydrogen bomb fallout in March 1954.

ANNOYING HABIT

"When playing cards, shouldn't they be left on the table until the dealer has finished dealing them out?" a reader asks. "There is a woman in our bridge club who picks each card up as they are being dealt out and starts assorting them. I don't think it's right and find it very annoying. Will you please tell me how I can bring this to her attention without hurting her feelings?"

I don't think you can call her attention to this habit of hers. While it is incorrect it certainly is not hurting anybody, and you ought not let it annoy you.

At the Beauty Parlor

Dear Mrs. Post: I've noticed in the beauty parlor to which I go that people tip the woman who ownes the place. She is also one of the operators. I've always imagined that tipping the owner was not necessary nor even proper. What is your advice in a case like this where others are tipping her?

Answer: If it is true that everyone is tipping the proprietress you could hardly do other than follow suit, but I agree that this practice is improper. The real fault, however, is on the part of the proprietress who accepts the tip in addition to the profit that she makes.

Wearing White

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be proper for a guest to wear a white dress to the wedding and reception of a close friend or is the bride the only one who wears white at a wedding? Please advise me as I don't want to do anything that would in any way detract from the bride.

Answer: In mid-summer a simple white dress would be perfectly all right.

What should the wedding guests wear to the wedding reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Clothes for the daytime or evening wedding are described in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-6. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Miss Higgens, who has a permanent home now in Verona, N. J., has been with the Red Cross since September 1946. She spent two years in Korea from 1946 to 1948, mostly in the southern part near Seoul, and then Inchon, Taegue and Kwangju. Of the Korean people, Miss Higgens said, "They have fine character and a great deal of dignity. I liked them very much."

From 1949 to 1952, Miss Higgens was stationed in Japan mostly at the jet bases. During the first part of the Korean war she was at Itazuki, nearest base to Korea, where all wounded were evacuated to by air. While in Japan she organized volunteer projects among the wives to take care of the incoming wounded.

In early 1952, Miss Higgens returned to this country and was stationed at Bolling Air Force Base in Washington, D. C., for two years. In July of 1954 she was transferred to New Castle County Airport near Wilmington, Del., where again she worked with jet crews in the Eastern Air Defense system until her present transfer.

THE SUMMER STAGE

'Ginger' Comes to Woodstock

Ronald Alexander's riotous comedy, "Time Out for Ginger" will be the last production of the season at the Woodstock Playhouse. "Ginger" was a hit of the 1952-53 Broadway season with Melvin Douglas as the father of three growing daughters, whose antics dismay everyone but him.

In the Woodstock production, Frank Overton takes over the role of "Daddy" Carol with Viola Harris as Mrs. Carol. Originally written for summer stock tryout, "Ginger" was such a success with summer audiences, that the producers brought it to Broadway where it was acclaimed by audiences and critics as one of the finest family comedies of the season.

Ginger, the youngest of Mr. Carol's three daughters, takes to football playing, much to the dismay of sisters, boyfriends and mother, but only to the delight of her father. Father feels that self-expression by high school students, no matter what form it takes, is a wonderful thing, and the way he explains it and goes about helping Ginger, makes a wonderful situation comedy.

Phyllis Wynn returns after a week's absence, to play Ginger. James Karen and Howard Wierum complete the cast.

New Production at Cragsmoor

Peter Pagan plays the egocentric comic strip artist in "King of Hearts" which opens tonight at the Cragsmoor Playhouse. Mr. Pagan has been a leading actor in both Australia and England and since coming to the United States, he has toured the country with Barter Theatre and last season appeared twice on Broadway—with Jennifer Jones in "Portrait of a Lady" and with Katharine Cornell and Tyrone Power in "The Dark Is Light Enough."

"King of Hearts" is a yarn about a successful comic strip artist, his meekly smitten secretary-fiancee and the slow-burning ghost artist he employs to do the strip while the couple honeymoon. The authors are Jean Kerr and Eleanor Brooks and their play was quite well received on Broadway.

Featured in the play is young John Calabrese, making his professional acting debut. He is also a violin prodigy. Gerald Richards takes on the role of the substitute artist whose uneasy stomach betrays him in times of anger. As the lady in question, Angela Paton appears at the playhouse and John Calabrese is the moppett who is adopted by the cartoonist.

Supporting roles are turned in by Arthur Seelen as the dry-tongued publisher, Dinnie Smith as a philosophical maid, David Howell as a young neighbor and Lewis Banci as a policemen susceptible to flattery. The play is directed by Elaine Perry who produced "King of Hearts" on Broadway.

Galan Gives Recital Saturday

Natalio Galan, Cuban composer, will give a lecture-recital in the garden of the Catskill Book and Record Shop at 8:30 p. m. Saturday.

Mr. Galan studied in Havana with Jose Ardevol, later coming to the United States where he studied orchestration with Henry Cowell and modern techniques and orchestration with Henry Brant at the Juilliard School. His works have been played here as well as in Havana and Argentina. Last winter he finished a comic opera, "The Walk," written in English with Cuban rhythms, which will have its premier next summer in the White Barn, Westport, Conn.

Mr. Galan's lecture-recital will cover Cuban music from the 16th Century to contemporary composers. He will analyze the Spanish and African influences in Cuban music illustrating it with examples taken from the folklore and compositions of contemporary composers whose music is unknown in the United States. Galan's "Cuban Sonata", which will be heard, is recorded by the SMC Pro-Arte in New York and was first performed in Carnegie Hall.

All the records played will be "first performances." In the event of rain the lecture-recital will be held the following Wednesday.

Stage Notes

Donald Woods opened Tuesday at Hyde Park Playhouse in the spicy comedy, "The Moon Is Blue." Chester Morris in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" will wind up the season next week at Hyde Park.

"Dial M for Murder" finishes at Woodstock next Sunday.

Susan Reed, ballad singer and actress who starred at Woodstock in Shaw's "Misalliance" was seen Monday on NBC's TV spectacular. Miss Reed is now doing the summer stock role in "Finian's Rainbow," which she created here for Woodstock last year.

The Festival at Ellenville continues this week with two opera presentations, "Cosi fan tutte" on Thursday and Saturday, and "Love Triumphant" tonight and Friday. Arthur Feidler takes over the Symphony of the Air Sunday.

"Carmen Jones" which is coming to Ellenville Saturday evening, is considered by many critics, to be one of the finest operetta offerings ever produced. Muriel Rahn who plays the title role is also considered one of this country's outstanding operatic performers.

The Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood, which ended its season two weeks ago, had record attendance this year, in spite of the great heat wave and the torrential rains which washed out some of its performances.

Heads Fire Association

Auburn, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—Seward Irland of Seneca Falls is the new president of the New York State Permanent Firemen's Assn. Irland was elected yesterday at the close of a three-day meeting here to succeed Robert Flynn of Auburn. Other officers chosen were De Rayne Holtsberry of Syracuse, first vice president; Dallas L. Photo Workshop Features Speedlight Photography

Speedlight photography, the latest word in modern picture-taking technique, combines comfort with speed. Employing electronics, a high-intensity flash is used to take the picture, thus doing away with the discomfort caused by hot, glaring floodlights. The subject sits restfully under lamps no brighter than those found in an average living room.

Another advantage is the normal appearance of the pupils of the eyes. As is commonly known, the pupil shrinks in bright light. This does not happen with speedlight photography. The eyes remain normal showing the natural personality sparkle of the person whose portrait is being made.

How to Keep Hate From Mesmerizing Your Child

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Last vacation, eight-year-old George stayed with his father's parents while his family took a trip.

Since then his grandparents show unrestrained disapproval of George. When they visit, he becomes so rude and show-offy that he has to be punished. Last week, because he locked his grandpa out on the porch, his father refused to forgive him. His mother writes, "I have begged him to show his grandparents more respect with no results. I suppose you'd say the child has a right to his feeling . . ."

I do say it. I also say George is old enough to be told how to dispose of a feeling that exposes him to criticism and punishment.

We'll not get a snail's inch by demanding "respect" for his grandparents. If they can't get it for themselves, we can't get it for them. But we can restore it to George.

We say to him, "Listen, son. Suppose I said to you, 'George, your leg is bleeding.' What would you say to me? You'd say 'It's not bleeding, mother. You see crooked.' Because you'd know it was not bleeding, you'd ignore what I thought about it, wouldn't you? Then why are you so rude and naughty when your grandparents are here just because they see you crooked? Why do you let their dislike of you make you act like a bad boy when the truth is you are nothing of the kind?"

We've got a child suffering from manipulation by resentment.

In all its degrees, hate can wield a mesmeric influence upon children who have not been taught how to resist it. Promptly, in its environment, they'll begin to express the faults it wants from them exactly as the mesmerist's subject will start picking apples from an imaginary tree because the mesmerist says to.

George knows what hate does to him when it's around. But he's got to be told we're on to it, too—and are behind him with love's power to maintain his hold on his actual identity.

Let's get him to admit how uneasy resentment has made him feel. Then we can say, "Darling, that's always the way resentment begins its performance. It's out to shake our certainty that we're good. Well, it can't do it to you. Next time you feel this uneasiness when your grandparents are here, come to me. We'll slip away together to laugh the lie that you're bad right out of existence. That's how we kill hate—with a great big burst of happy laughter."

The trouble is, in these situations, we are apt to attack children ourselves for the false behavior. It's neither kind nor realistic. Hate's influence claims great power. It's the world's problem. And it's as stupid to keep children in ignorance of its claims as it is to withhold the fact that electricity shocks, fire burns and guns kill.

THE SUMMER STAGE

'Ginger' Comes to Woodstock

Ronald Alexander's riotous comedy, "Time Out for Ginger" will be the last production of the season at the Woodstock Playhouse. "Ginger" was a hit of the 1952-53 Broadway season with Melvin Douglas as the father of three growing daughters, whose antics dismay everyone but him.

In the Woodstock production, Frank Overton takes over the role of "Daddy" Carol with Viola Harris as Mrs. Carol. Originally written for summer stock tryout, "Ginger" was such a success with summer audiences, that the producers brought it to Broadway where it was acclaimed by audiences and critics as one of the finest family comedies of the season.

Ginger, the youngest of Mr. Carol's three daughters, takes to football playing, much to the dismay of sisters, boyfriends and mother, but only to the delight of her father. Father feels that self-expression by high school students, no matter what form it takes, is a wonderful thing, and the way he explains it and goes about helping Ginger, makes a wonderful situation comedy.

New Production at Cragsmoor

Peter Pagan plays the egocentric comic strip artist in "King of Hearts" which opens tonight at the Cragsmoor Playhouse. Mr. Pagan has been a leading actor in both Australia and England and since coming to the United States, he has toured the country with Barter Theatre and last season appeared twice on Broadway—with Jennifer Jones in "Portrait of a Lady" and with Katharine Cornell and Tyrone Power in "The Dark Is Light Enough."

"King of Hearts" is a yarn about a successful comic strip artist, his meekly smitten secretary-fiancee and the slow-burning ghost artist he employs to do the strip while the couple honeymoon. The authors are Jean Kerr and Eleanor Brooks and their play was quite well received on Broadway.

Featured in the play is young John Calabrese, making his professional acting debut. He is also a violin prodigy. Gerald Richards takes on the role of the substitute artist whose uneasy stomach betrays him in times of anger. As the lady in question, Angela Paton appears at the playhouse and John Calabrese is the moppett who is adopted by the cartoonist.

Supporting roles are turned in by Arthur Seelen as the dry-tongued publisher, Dinnie Smith as a philosophical maid, David Howell as a young neighbor and Lewis Banci as a policemen susceptible to flattery. The play is directed by Elaine Perry who produced "King of Hearts" on Broadway.

Galan Gives Recital Saturday

Natalio Galan, Cuban composer, will give a lecture-recital in the garden of the Catskill Book and Record Shop at 8:30 p. m. Saturday.

Mr. Galan studied in Havana with Jose Ardevol, later coming to the United States where he studied orchestration with Henry Cowell and modern techniques and orchestration with Henry Brant at the Juilliard School. His works have been played here as well as in Havana and Argentina. Last winter he finished a comic opera, "The Walk," written in English with Cuban rhythms, which will have its premier next summer in the White Barn, Westport, Conn.

Mr. Galan's lecture-recital will cover Cuban music from the 16th Century to contemporary composers. He will analyze the Spanish and African influences in Cuban music illustrating it with examples taken from the folklore and compositions of contemporary composers whose music is unknown in the United States. Galan's "Cuban Sonata", which will be heard, is recorded by the SMC Pro-Arte in New York and was first performed in Carnegie Hall.

All the records played will be "first performances." In the event of rain the lecture-recital will be held the following Wednesday.

Stage Notes

Donald Woods opened Tuesday at Hyde Park Playhouse in the spicy comedy, "The Moon Is Blue." Chester Morris in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" will wind up the season next week at Hyde Park.

"Dial M for Murder" finishes at Woodstock next Sunday.

Susan Reed, ballad singer and actress who starred at Woodstock in Shaw's "Misalliance" was seen Monday on NBC's TV spectacular. Miss Reed is now doing the summer stock role in "Finian's Rainbow," which she created here for Woodstock last year.

The Festival at Ellenville continues this week with two opera presentations, "Cosi fan tutte" on Thursday and Saturday, and "Love Triumphant" tonight and Friday. Arthur Feidler takes over the Symphony of the Air Sunday.

"Carmen Jones" which is coming to Ellenville Saturday evening, is considered by many critics, to be one of the finest operetta offerings ever produced. Muriel Rahn who plays the title role is also considered one of this country's outstanding operatic performers.

The Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood, which ended its season two weeks ago, had record attendance this year, in spite of the great heat wave and the torrential rains which washed out some of its performances.

Auburn, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—Seward Irland of Seneca Falls is the new president of the New York State Permanent Firemen's Assn. Irland was elected yesterday at the close of a three-day meeting here to succeed Robert Flynn of Auburn. Other officers chosen were De Rayne Holtsberry of Syracuse, first vice president; Dallas L. Speedlight photography, the latest word in modern picture-taking technique, combines comfort with speed. Employing electronics, a high-intensity flash is used to take the picture, thus doing away with the discomfort caused by hot, glaring floodlights. The subject sits restfully under lamps no brighter than those found in an average living room.

Another advantage is the normal appearance of the pupils of the eyes. As is commonly known, the pupil shrinks in bright light. This does not happen with speedlight photography. The eyes remain normal showing the natural personality sparkle of the person whose portrait is being made.

How to Keep Hate From Mesmerizing Your Child

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Last vacation, eight-year-old George stayed with his father's parents while his family took a trip.

Since then his grandparents show unrestrained disapproval of George. When they visit, he becomes so rude and show-offy that he has to be punished. Last week, because he locked his grandpa out on the porch, his father refused to forgive him. His mother writes, "I have begged him to show his grandparents more respect with no results. I suppose you'd say the child has a right to his feeling . . ."

I do say it. I also say George is old enough to be told how to dispose of a feeling that exposes him to criticism and punishment.

We'll not get a snail's inch by demanding "respect" for his grandparents. If they can't get it for themselves, we can't get it for them. But we can restore it to George.

We say to him, "Listen, son. Suppose I said to you, 'George, your leg is bleeding.' What would you say to me? You'd say 'It's not bleeding, mother. You see crooked.' Because you'd know it was not bleeding, you'd ignore what I thought about it, wouldn't you? Then why are you so rude and naughty when your grandparents are here just because they see you crooked? Why do you let their dislike of you make you act like a bad boy when the truth is you are nothing of the kind?"

We've got a child suffering from manipulation by resentment.

In all its degrees, hate can wield a mesmeric influence upon children who have not been taught how to resist it. Promptly, in its environment, they'll begin to express the faults it wants from them exactly as the mesmerist's subject will start picking apples from an imaginary tree because the mesmerist says to.

George knows what hate does to him when it's around. But he's got to be told we're on to it, too—and are behind him with love's power to maintain his hold on his actual identity.

Let's get him to admit how uneasy resentment has made him feel. Then we can say, "Darling, that's always the way resentment begins its performance. It's out to shake our certainty that we're good. Well, it can't do it to you. Next time you feel this uneasiness when your grandparents are here, come to me. We'll slip away together to laugh the lie that you're bad right out of existence. That's how we kill hate—with a great big burst of happy laughter."

The trouble is, in these situations, we are apt to attack children ourselves for the false behavior. It's neither kind nor realistic. Hate's influence claims great power. It's the world's problem. And it's as stupid to keep children in ignorance of its claims as it is to withhold the fact that electricity shocks, fire burns and guns kill.

Ridgely Farms Enters Holsteins At Dutchess Fair

Ridgely Farms, Stone Ridge, has entered a large herd of show dairy cattle in the Holstein section of the 110th Dutchess County Fair at Rhinebeck. The fair opens Saturday for a five day, five night stand.

The Ridgely Farms herd helped boost the Holsteins to the greatest breed show on record at Rhinebeck. There are to be 143 Holsteins on the showgrounds, part of an 800-head show of dairy and beef cattle.

Because of the large entry, officials of the fair believe judging will require between 10 and 12 hours. Some individual classes will call for more than 20 head of Holsteins in the show ring at one time. The breed will be judged by Dr. C. M. Cairns, dean of agriculture, University of Maryland on Tuesday at 9 a. m.

There will be cattle judging every day except Sunday.

Horse shows are scheduled Saturday, Sunday and Monday; with harness racing Monday and Tuesday afternoons using the first mobile starting gate ever introduced at Rhinebeck. Grandstand shows will be presented every afternoon and night with Irish Horan's Hell Drivers as an added attraction on the final shows next Wednesday.

IBM Plans Second Family Day Sept. 3

The second family day for area employes of International Business Machines Corporation, their families and friends, will be held Saturday, Sept. 3, at the IBM Country Club grounds, Poughkeepsie, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The first family day in this region was held in Poughkeepsie over the Labor Day weekend last year and attracted thousands. It is expected that many from IBM Kingston operations will participate in the day-long program.

Free mechanical rides consisting of seven adult attractions and four for children, will be continuous. A stage show running approximately 45 minutes will be at 11 a. m., 1:30 p. m. and again at 4 o'clock. No night program is scheduled.

THOMAS J. WATSON, chairman of the IBM Board, and Mrs. Watson have accepted the invitation to attend the employe-family event. It is expected that the board chairman will deliver a message to the employes and families of the Kingston and Poughkeepsie plants prior to one of the stage shows.

Acts of trained seals, bears and chimpanzees, a magician and a circus clown will be presided over by a master of ceremonies. An authentic circus calliope will dispense its merry music throughout the day. Mechanical rides will include the popoular merry-go-round, ferris wheel, roller coaster and chair plane. There will be 11 rides in all for all age groups.

Conveniently-located refreshments booths will be set up in the area, and for those who will hold family picnics additional tables will be made available in the Country Club picnic area.

PARKING FACILITIES on the Country Club grounds and at the Oakwood School are being made available. Cars from the Kingston area arriving on Route 9 will be parked in lots entered from the main club entrance, or at the Oakwood School on Spackenkill road. All cars coming from the south will make use of parking lots provided by entering the driveway at the IBM Colonial House, one mile south of the club entrance on Route 9.

The IBM Advisory Committee will supervise the events, will man information booths, communication centers and will provide assistance at the rides and shows.

All Country Club activities are being suspended for the day in order to place full concentration on the family outing. In the event of rain, the activities will continue as the weather permits; the stage show will be held in the Field House.

Real Lead Seen

St. Louis, Aug. 23 (AP)—There were indications today the FBI has its first real lead in the mystery of the missing Greenlease ransom money in the discovery of a $20 bill earlier this month at Minot, N. D. Several developments indicated the FBI attaches considerable importance to the discovery. The federal agency detailed a large squad of agents to the Minot area after the find. And it was reported to be checking on the movements of certain figures in the ransome case and on their associates to determine whether they have been in the Minot area.

AMERICAN MENU

Steak Is Main Attraction For Back-Yard Barbecue

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Let's have another back-yard barbecue. Be great for Labor Day holidays too. Everybody likes them. We went to one outside Chicago the other day. Of course, Chicago means good steaks, so that is what we had.

Although steak still reigns supreme for the outdoor barbecue, preferences for steaks vary. Some prefer individual steaks to be cooked to the favored degree of doneness.

Select 1-inch to 1½-inch thick beef tenderloin, club or the boneless loin steak, known as the strip steak.

Porterhouse of T-bone steaks cut 1½ inches thick will serve two people and, for more servings, select sirloin steaks, cut from 1-inch to 2 inches thick.

Other cuts of beef may be broiled or grilled if they are of top quality, bearing a packer's brand and are aged.

Chuck or shoulder, rib, rump and top round steak usually are best if cut ½ to ¾-inch thick and soaked ahead of time in French dressing or garlic-seasoned salad oil. Plan on ½ to 1 pound of meat per serving depending on the amount of bone. This is greater than usual, but remember those outdoor appetites.

FOR A BACK-YARD BARBECUE de luxe serve steak, corn-on-the-cob, crisp salad, fruit and cupcakes.

Time for broiling steaks depends on the distance of the meat from the coals. In general, 1-inch thick steaks, medium rare, will require 20 minutes, while 2-inch beef steaks will take 40 minutes. Turn the steaks every 15 minutes and daub with barbecue sauce during the grilling period.

E-Z Barbecue Sauce (Hot)—
(Yield: 1 cup)

One tablespoon chopped onion, 1 tablespoon fat, 1 clove garlic, ½ cup catsup, 2 tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup water, ¼ teaspoon chili powder, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 tablespoone prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Cook onion in fat over low heat until soft but not brown. Peel garlic and add. Add remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Bring to boiling point, lower heat, and simmer 10 minutes. Remove garlic. Prepare in advance and store in refrigerator.

Powdered Lemonade

The current trend for instant powdered beverages, from milk to coffee, now is joined by powdered lemonade, latest fruit powder developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Orange juice powder already is on the market, packaged for institutions and other large-scale users. Tomato juice powder and the new lemonade powder will be ready for distribution soon. All the fruit powders require no refrigeration and dissolve instantly in cold water.

Ridgely Farms Enters Holsteins At Dutchess Fair

Ridgely Farms, Stone Ridge, has entered a large herd of show dairy cattle in the Holstein section of the 110th Dutchess County Fair at Rhinebeck. The fair opens Saturday for a five day, five night stand.

The Ridgely Farms herd helped boost the Holsteins to the greatest breed show on record at Rhinebeck. There are to be 143 Holsteins on the showgrounds, part of an 800-head show of dairy and beef cattle.

Because of the large entry, officials of the fair believe judging will require between 10 and 12 hours. Some individual classes will call for more than 20 head of Holsteins in the show ring at one time. The breed will be judged by Dr. C. M. Cairns, dean of agriculture, University of Maryland on Tuesday at 9 a. m.

There will be cattle judging every day except Sunday.

Horse shows are scheduled Saturday, Sunday and Monday; with harness racing Monday and Tuesday afternoons using the first mobile starting gate ever introduced at Rhinebeck. Grandstand shows will be presented every afternoon and night with Irish Horan's Hell Drivers as an added attraction on the final shows next Wednesday.

IBM Plans Second Family Day Sept. 3

The second family day for area employes of International Business Machines Corporation, their families and friends, will be held Saturday, Sept. 3, at the IBM Country Club grounds, Poughkeepsie, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The first family day in this region was held in Poughkeepsie over the Labor Day weekend last year and attracted thousands. It is expected that many from IBM Kingston operations will participate in the day-long program.

Free mechanical rides consisting of seven adult attractions and four for children, will be continuous. A stage show running approximately 45 minutes will be at 11 a. m., 1:30 p. m. and again at 4 o'clock. No night program is scheduled.

THOMAS J. WATSON, chairman of the IBM Board, and Mrs. Watson have accepted the invitation to attend the employe-family event. It is expected that the board chairman will deliver a message to the employes and families of the Kingston and Poughkeepsie plants prior to one of the stage shows.

Acts of trained seals, bears and chimpanzees, a magician and a circus clown will be presided over by a master of ceremonies. An authentic circus calliope will dispense its merry music throughout the day. Mechanical rides will include the popular merry-go-round, ferris wheel, roller coaster and chair plane. There will be 11 rides in all for all age groups.

Conveniently-located refreshments booths will be set up in the area, and for those who will hold family picnics additional tables will be made available in the Country Club picnic area.

PARKING FACILITIES on the Country Club grounds and at the Oakwood School are being made available. Cars from the Kingston area arriving on Route 9 will be parked in lots entered from the main club entrance, or at the Oakwood School on Spackenkill road. All cars coming from the south will make use of parking lots provided by entering the driveway at the IBM Colonial House, one mile south of the club entrance on Route 9.

The IBM Advisory Committee will supervise the events, will man information booths, communication centers and will provide assistance at the rides and shows.

All Country Club activities are being suspended for the day in order to place full concentration on the family outing. In the event of rain, the activities will continue as the weather permits; the stage show will be held in the Field House.

Real Lead Seen

St. Louis, Aug. 23 (AP)—There were indications today the FBI has its first real lead in the mystery of the missing Greenlease ransom money in the discovery of a $20 bill earlier this month at Minot, N. D. Several developments indicated the FBI attaches considerable importance to the discovery. The federal agency detailed a large squad of agents to the Minot area after the find. And it was reported to be checking on the movements of certain figures in the ransome case and on their associates to determine whether they have been in the Minot area.

AMERICAN MENU

Steak Is Main Attraction For Back-Yard Barbecue

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Let's have another back-yard barbecue. Be great for Labor Day holidays too. Everybody likes them. We went to one outside Chicago the other day. Of course, Chicago means good steaks, so that is what we had.

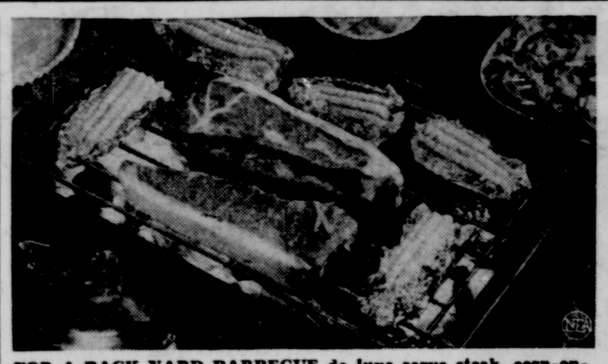

Although steak still reigns supreme for the outdoor barbecue, preferences for steaks vary. Some prefer individual steaks to be cooked to the favored degree of doneness.

Select 1-inch to 1½-inch thick beef tenderloin, club or the boneless loin steak, known as the strip steak.

Porterhouse of T-bone steaks cut 1½ inches thick will serve two people and, for more servings, select sirloin steaks, cut from 1-inch to 2 inches thick.

Other cuts of beef may be broiled or grilled if they are of top quality, bearing a packer's brand and are aged.

Chuck or shoulder, rib, rump and top round steak usually are best if cut ½ to ¾-inch thick and soaked ahead of time in French dressing or garlic-seasoned salad oil. Plan on ½ to 1 pound of meat per serving depending on the amount of bone.

FOR A BACK-YARD BARBECUE de luxe serve steak, corn-on-the-cob, crisp salad, fruit and cupcakes.

This is greater than usual, but remember those outdoor appetites.

Time for broiling steaks depends on the distance of the meat from the coals. In general, 1-inch thick steaks, medium rare, will require 20 minutes, while 2-inch beef steaks will take 40 minutes. Turn the steaks every 15 minutes and daub with barbecue sauce during the grilling period.

E-Z Barbecue Sauce (Hot)—
(Yield: 1 cup)

One tablespoon chopped onion, 1 tablespoon fat, 1 clove garlic, ½ cup catsup, 2 tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup water, ¼ teaspoon chili powder, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 tablespoone prepared mustard, teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ teaspoon salt.

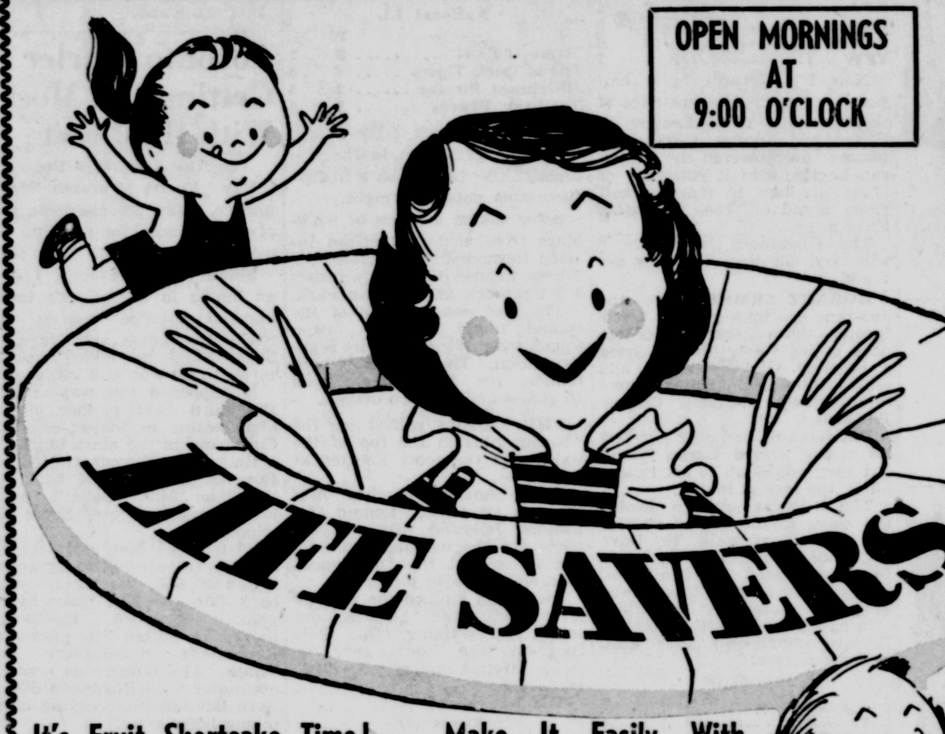

Cook onion in fat over low heat until soft but not brown. Peel garlic and add. Add remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Bring to boiling point, lower heat, and simmer 10 minutes. Remove garlic. Prepare in advance and store in refrigerator.

Powdered Lemonade

The current trend for instant powdered beverages, from milk to coffee, now is joined by powdered lemonade, latest fruit powder developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Orange juice powder already is on the market, packaged for institutions and other large-scale users. Tomato juice powder and the new lemonade powder will be ready for distribution soon. All the fruit powders require no refrigeration and dissolve instantly in cold water.

FYL Grads Score First Win Over Brooklyn Dodger Rookies

Bechtold Checks Foe On 4 Hits

Fans Nine as Locals Cash in on Walks

Before last night's annual clash with the Fraternal Youth League grads at Dietz Stadium, the Brooklyn Dodger Rookie brass was lamenting the lack of hitters on the 1955 edition of the Stars of Tomorrow.

But, they insisted, the pitching is on the strong side.

Six and one half innings later the Dodger officials had been proved wrong on both counts. The Rookies had neither pitching nor hitting and their three hurlers issued free passes to first like an advance man for a circus, a total of 13 in all.

THE GRADS WON this one by the emphatic margin of 11 to 2, the first Kingston triumph in six starts against the Dodgers, thanks to a brillian pitching chore by Bruce Bechtold.

The young Lehigh frosh was troubled with wildness in the early going but once he settled down the Rookies couldn't touch him. He permitted only four hits, none over the last four rounds, walked four and fanned nine. He was going strong when Manager Art Dede decided seven innings was enough. At that time the clock was crowding midnight.

CARL USATCH, a graduate of Spring Valley, started for the Rookies and quickly set the tempo for the night. He issued four walks in the first inning and yielded a single to Johnny Armstrong for three runs. Frank Secreto stole second and third on successive pitches and that wasn't calculated to do Usatch's composure any good.

The Rookies picked up their two runs in the third on a couple of walks, a single and a double by John Gigon, a shot to right field that Bob Maines misjudged.

THE FYL GRADS broke the game wide open with seven runs on only two hits in fifth inning. One was a looper near third where three Rookies converged on the ball but none made the catch and a sharp single to right center by Paul Giannuzzi. The Rookie hurlers did the rest. Usatch went out during the wild walking spree. Before the inning was over the visitors had called on Joseph Materile and Walter Merrigan. But not before eight men had strolled. Merrigan restored a semblance of sanity in the fifth and was impressive in the sixth.

Armstrong collected two singles and a walk for the FYL squad. Maines, Paul Giannuzzi and Bob Shelightner accounted for the other Kingston safeties.

Drake 7-5 Pick Over Giovanelli

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Ray Drake is a 7-5 favorite to make good in his Madison Square Garden debut as a headliner tonight.

The solidly built, 25-year old Brooklyn middleweight faces Danny Giovanelli, another Brooklyn leatherpusher, in a television 10-rounder (ABC-TV and radio) starting at 9 p. m. (EST).

As an amateur Drake beat Floyd Patterson, now the No. 1 light heavyweight contender, three times. While Patterson has had a meteoric rise in the pros, Drake has been climbing slowly but steadily.

Winner of four straight, handsome Ray now has a 20-4 pro record. In his last start, a Garden semi-final, Drake whipped Eddie Prince on May 13. He is six feet tall and weighs 158.

Giants Score First Victory In American Playoffs, 5-1

Harder Stops Dodgers On 3 Hits, 14 Ks

Scoring all their runs in the fifth inning, the Electrol Giants defeated the Sprague Dodgers 5-1 at the Little League Stadium last night in the opener of the American loop playoffs.

The second of the best-of-three series is slated tonight at the same site, beginning at 6 o'clock. A third game, if necessary, will be played tomorrow night.

It was a double loss for the Dodgers. Ronnie Secreto, one of the team's best pitchers, broke his arm when he tripped and fell trying to beat out an infield roller in the third inning.

TOM CIONI was pitching a fine game and his Dodger mates had handed him a 1-0 lead when the Giants rallied.

Successive walks to Bob Black, Vince Meleski and Vince Smedes got Cioni in hot water. Black was forced at the plate on Tom Gardner's grounder.

Walt Harder and Joe Uhl did the damage with back-to-back doubles to left center. The two blows were good for four runs. An error scored Uhl with the final one.

THE DODGERS' sole run came in the fourth when Garry Barnes doubled and scored on an error.

Barnes' hit was one of the three that Harder allowed. Walt pitched an exceptional game, striking out 14. He gave up five bases on balls.

Cioni gave up only four hits. He walked four and failed to get a man out on strikes. He had good defensive support from his mates.

Roosevelt Feature To Dynamic Hal

Yonkers, Aug. 24 (AP)—Dynamic Hal, the favorite, with Billy Haughton on the reins, came from fifth place at the top of the stretch to win the featured Somers purse at Yonkers Raceway last night.

The 8-year-old horse owned by the Happy Valley Stock Farm of Suffolk, Va., came with a rush on the outside to win by three quarters of a length in 2:05.2. The winner paid $4.90, 3.50 and 2.80. In second place was Dance Me Loose and a neck farther back, Adios Eden.

Michigan has 36,350 miles of streams, about half of which are trout waters.

Now it's Kiwanis by a half game in see-saw sweepstakes of the Fraternal Youth League.

Manager Jimmy Gilpatrick's tossers overpowered the American Legion, 6 to 1, yesterday at Dietz Stadium to move a half game ahead of the Volunteer Firemen.

The Kiwanians now have 8 wins and one loss. The Vols are 7 and 1.

HOBART ARMSTRONG, the one-time one man gang of Little League, showed that he has lost none of his versatility. He tried a pitching stint yesterday and set down the Legionnaires on two hits, both by shortstop Charlie Williams.

But Kiwanis had only two hits off strong armed Danny Steltz but they added un to six runs—all in the second inning.

The winners quickly loaded the bases in the second on two errors and a walk to Dave O'Connor. Victor Locke's single to center chased in two runs. Steltz walked Van Loan and Frank Sammons promptly cleared the bases with a double. He later scored on a passed ball.

The Island Dock Tigers ended their regular season in the National Little League on a highly-successful note last night.

After taking a series of whippings from champion Miron Indians throughout the season, the Tigers handed their antagonists a 3-1 setback at Kingman Park.

The loss was the first of the second round for the Miron squad, which also ended its regular season. The champs of both rounds, the Miron team won 16 games and lost two overall.

THE TIGERS rallied for the winning runs in the top of the sixth with the score knotted at 1-all.

Dick Showers reached first base on an error. Lonnie McAndrew followed with a hefty triple for the winning run. McAndrew scored the "insurance" marker on a wild pitch.

Joe Spada pitched the win, allowing six hits, striking out seven and walking one. Pete Brennan, the loser, gave up seven safeties, fanned and walked four.

Toronto Hurler Getting the Most With the Least

(By The Associated Press)

Ray Shore, Toronto relief pitcher, must possess some sort of record today for "getting the most with the least."

Shore pitched exactly 1/3 of an inning in last night's International League contest between the Leafs and Havana's Sugar Kings, but added two victories to his won and lost record.

It happened this way—Shore, the third Leaf pitcher of the night, came in to get the last Cuban out in the ninth inning at a time when Toronto trailed 5-3. But the Leafs struck back for three on Mike Goliat's bases loaded double to give Shore the triumph.

With the Montreal Royals dropping a twin-bill to Syracuse, 2-1 and 6-3, the Leafs went back into the first place by ½ game. Syracuse meanwhile moved to within 2½ games of Rochester's fourth-place Red Wings. The Wings won a single encounter with Richmond 6-3 on Vern Benson's tie-breaking ninth inning home run.

Buffalo whacked Columbus twice, 7-3 and 8-2, and assured itself of at least a split in the season series with the Jets.

Blue Jays Bump Williamsport From 4th Place

(By The Associated Press)

The Schenectady Blue Jays have edged the Williamsport Grays out of the Eastern League's first division.

The Grays split a twin bill with the Johnstown Johnnies yesterday and dropped out of a three-way tie for third place. The Grays took the opener 3-2. But a wild streak by pitcher Don Dangleis in the seventh inning of the nightcap touched off a Johnnie rally. Dangleis blew a two run lead and gave the game to Johnstown 5-3.

MEANWHILE, the Jays made it a clean sweep of their four-game series with Albany by shutting out the Senators 9-0. Henry Mason scattered six hits.

The Allentown Red Birds defeated the league-leading Reading Indians 5-2, thanks to a bases-loaded double by Jim Mcardle that shattered a tie in the eighth.

But Allentown dropped from second to third place in the standings, one percentage point behind the Binghamton Triplets. The Trips swept a double header from the Elmira Pioneers, 5-1 and 5-2.

FYL Grads Score First Win Over Brooklyn Dodger Rookies

Fans Nine as Locals Cash in on Walks

Before last night's annual clash with the Fraternal Youth League grads at Dietz Stadium, the Brooklyn Dodger Rookie brass was lamenting the lack of hitters on the 1955 edition of the Stars of Tomorrow.

But, they insisted, the pitching is on the strong side.

Six and one half innings later the Dodger officials had been proved wrong on both counts. The Rookies had neither pitching nor hitting and their three hurlers issued free passes to first like an advance man for a circus, a total of 13 in all.

THE GRADS WON this one by the emphatic margin of 11 to 2, the first Kingston triumph in six starts against the Dodgers, thanks to a brillian pitching chore by Bruce Bechtold.

The young Lehigh frosh was troubled with wildness in the early going but once he settled down the Rookies couldn't touch him. He permitted only four hits, none over the last four rounds, walked four and fanned nine. He was going strong when Manager Art Dede decided seven innings was enough. At that time the clock was crowding midnight.

CARL USATCH, a graduate of Spring Valley, started for the Rookies and quickly set the tempo for the night. He issued four walks in the first inning and yielded a single to Johnny Armstrong for three runs. Frank Secreto stole second and third on successive pitches and that wasn't calculated to do Usatch's composure any good.

The Rookies picked up their two runs in the third on a couple of walks, a single and a double by John Gigon, a shot to right field that Bob Maines misjudged.

THE FYL GRADS broke the game wide open with seven runs on only two hits in fifth inning. One was a looper near third where three Rookies converged on the ball but none made the catch and a sharp single to right center by Paul Giannuzzi. The Rookie hurlers did the rest. Usatch went out during the wild walking spree. Before the inning was over the visitors had called on Joseph Materile and Walter Merrigan. But not before eight men had strolled. Merrigan restored a semblance of sanity in the fifth and was impressive in the sixth.

Armstrong collected two singles and a walk for the FYL squad. Maines, Paul Giannuzzi and Bob Shelightner accounted for the other Kingston safeties.

Drake 7-5 Pick Over Giovanelli

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Ray Drake is a 7-5 favorite to make good in his Madison Square Garden debut as a headliner tonight.

The solidly built, 25-year old Brooklyn middleweight faces Danny Giovanelli, another Brooklyn leatherpusher, in a television 10-rounder (ABC-TV and radio) starting at 9 p. m. (EST).

As an amateur Drake beat Floyd Patterson, now the No. 1 light heavyweight contender, three times. While Patterson has had a meteoric rise in the pros, Drake has been climbing slowly but steadily.

Winner of four straight, handsome Ray now has a 20-4 pro record. In his last start, a Garden semi-final, Drake whipped Eddie Prince on May 13. He is six feet tall and weighs 158.

Giants Score First Victory In American Playoffs, 5-1

Harder Stops Dodgers On 3 Hits, 14 Ks

Scoring all their runs in the fifth inning, the Electrol Giants defeated the Sprague Dodgers 5-1 at the Little League Stadium last night in the opener of the American loop playoffs.

The second of the best-of-three series is slated tonight at the same site, beginning at 6 o'clock. A third game, if necessary, will be played tomorrow night.

It was a double loss for the Dodgers. Ronnie Secreto, one of the team's best pitchers, broke his arm when he tripped and fell trying to beat out an infield roller in the third inning.

TOM CIONI was pitching a fine game and his Dodger mates had handed him a 1-0 lead when the Giants rallied.

Successive walks to Bob Black, Vince Meleski and Vince Smedes got Cioni in hot water. Black was forced at the plate on Tom Gardner's grounder.

Walt Harder and Joe Uhl did the damage with back-to-back doubles to left center. The two blows were good for four runs. An error scored Uhl with the final one.

THE. DODGERS' sole run came in the fourth when Garry Barnes doubled and scored on an error.

Barnes' hit was one of the three that Harder allowed. Walt pitched an exceptional game, striking out 14. He gave up five bases on balls.

Cioni gave up only four hits. He walked four and failed to get a man out on strikes. He had good defensive support from his mates.

Roosevelt Feature To Dynamic Hal

Yonkers, Aug. 24 (AP)—Dynamic Hal, the favorite, with Billy Haughton on the reins, came from fifth place at the top of the stretch to win the featured Somers purse at Yonkers Raceway last night.

The 8-year-old horse owned by the Happy Valley Stock Farm of Suffolk, Va., came with a rush on the outside to win by three quarters of a length in 2:05.2. The winner paid $4.90, 3.50 and 2.80. In second place was Dance Me Loose and a neck farther back, Adios Eden.

Now it's Kiwanis by a half game in see-saw sweepstakes of the Fraternal Youth League.

Manager Jimmy Gilpatrick's tossers overpowered the American Legion, 6 to 1, yesterday at Dietz Stadium to move a half game ahead of the Volunteer Firemen.

The Kiwanians now have 8 wins and one loss. The Vols are 7 and 1.

HOBART ARMSTRONG, the one-time one man gang of Little League, showed that he has lost none of his versatility. He tried a pitching stint yesterday and set down the Legionnaires on two hits, both by shortstop Charlie Williams.

But Kiwanis had only two hits off strong armed Danny Steltz but they added un to six runs—all in the second inning.

The winners quickly loaded the bases in the second on two errors and a walk to Dave O'Connor. Victor Locke's single to center chased in two runs. Steltz walked Van Loan and Frank Sammons promptly cleared the bases with a double. He later scored on a passed ball.

The Island Dock Tigers ended their regular season in the National Little League on a highly-successful note last night.

After taking a series of whippings from champion Miron Indians throughout the season, the Tigers handed their antagonists a 3-1 setback at Kingman Park.

The loss was the first of the second round for the Miron squad, which also ended its regular season. The champs of both rounds, the Miron team won 16 games and lost two overall.

THE TIGERS rallied for the winning runs in the top of the sixth with the score knotted at 1-all.

Dick Showers reached first base on an error. Lonnie McAndrew followed with a hefty triple for the winning run. McAndrew scored the "insurance" marker on a wild pitch.

Joe Spada pitched the win, allowing six hits, striking out seven and walking one. Pete Brennan, the loser, gave up seven safeties, fanned and walked four.

Doblers Trounce Panthers 10-0 on Bill Anderson's No-Hitter

Bill Anderson pitched a five-inning no-hit, no-run game as Dobler Beer creamed the New York Panthers, 10 to 0, in a five-inning City League game yesterday at the Athletic Field.

The final result proved a couple of points emphatically. Mr. Anderson was quite a pitcher yesterday. And it seems quite unikely the Panthers will achieve a sweep of both halves of the pennant race. Incidentally, it was the league's first no-hitter of the season. Even an abbreviated one.

PAUL GIANNUZZI was the Panther flinger and he just didn't have it. The Brewmeisters raked him for 10 hits and, of course, 10 runs in his five inning stint. He walked seven and fanned one. Anderson issued five passes and whiffed three.

The issue was settled as early as the first inning when Doblers picked up three runs on a couple of walks and singles by the Benjamins—Joe Jr. and Joe Sr.—and Willie Cragan.

It went to 7-0 in the fourth when Doblers combined three walks with a couple of Panther miscues and singles by Benjamin Jr. and Bill Glaser.

JUST TO MAKE sure Brewmeisters tacked on three superflous tallies in their last turn at bat. Old Joe Benjamin prodded a double between singles by Beichert, Anderson and Gerry Bechtold.

Glaser and the father-son Benjamins collected two hits apiece for Doblers.

Jones Dairy plays Nadler Motor in the battle of unbeaten teams Thursday at 6 o'clock.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

The next time you see a group of adult spectators or the combatants themselves giving a volunteer umpire the business, remember this. None of the leagues . . . Little League . . . FYL . . . City Softball . . . and others could operate without these hardy souls.

Some of them are paid, to be sure, but hardly the princely stipend that many folks suspect. And hardly enough to compensate for the abuse some are subjected to by fans and players alike.

The difference between the fan and the umpire is understandable and there will be inevitable situations in which they won't see eye to eye. And "Kill the Umpire" is still one of the more colorful phrases of American sports jargon.

They are inherent to baseball for the reason that the fan seldom, if ever, has an opportunity to regard a baseball game from an umpire's-eye-view.

Little League baseball provides a much wider area of understanding between the fan and the umpire, for the reason that they share the philosophies of the program, but there always remains the chance that they can, and will disagree on a given play or call.

In order to fully appreciate the position of the umpire, the fan or spectator must try to put himself in the umpire's place. He must realize the umpire—and no one else—is close enough, nor in the right position, to accurately call balls and strikes or a play on the bases.

In Little League, and most other circuits these days, for that matter, most umpires as well as managers and coaches are non-professional. For the most part, they are volunteers in a most exacting job. They do make mistakes, but like the coaches and managers, they too, are contributing their time and effort to the program. The level of volunteer umpiring in Little League is exceptionally high and the men who offer their services to the local leagues are to be congratulated.

The fan who attends Little League and other types of games should consider this important aspect, and should encourage, rather than criticize these men.

Billy Evans, one of baseball's great major league umpires, once observed: "It is to be regretted that every fan cannot at some time act as an umpire in a ball game of some importance."

Next time you're tempted to second-guess the umpire, remember he's doing the job for which you didn't volunteer.

Chez Routs Cedar Rest, 17-1; Hilltop, Hercules Also Win City Softball League Games

Chez Emile, Hercules and Hilltop Rest teams scored City Softball League triumphs last night.

The Chezzies routed the Cedar Rest, 17-1. The Powdermen blasted Local 259, 9-4, while the Hilltoppers tripped Turcam, 7-1.

Joe Enright turned in a well-spaced eight-hitter for the Chez Emile outfit.

Ronnie Scheffel and Bill Tierney teed off for home runs against loser Curly Bosco. Fred Schryver had two triples and Frank Embree a trio of singles.

THE HERCULES club rallied in the late innings to trounce the Brickmakers. The winners scored twice in the fifth, sixth and seventh frames.

John Betkowski was the winning pitcher, allowing six hits. Hercules batters got 11 off Lou Secreto. Home runs by Leo Bechtold and Squeak Avery featured the attack.

Red Leirey clubbed a homer and a double to lead the Hilltop attack. All told, the winners had nine hits off Ronnie Sickler. The Hilltops' inner defense also sparkled with four double plays.

Allie Cross worked for the Hilltoppers, spacing seven base knocks.

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—The State Conservation Department predicts 16 million persons will visit Michigan State Parks in 1955.

Farina, Gerlak Head Woodstock Open Field Friday

The man they always have to beat returns to the 27-hole Woodstock Open after a one-year absence Friday.

Doughty Armand Farina of Schenectady, three-time winner of the event, will vie against 19 or 20 other Northeastern PGA pros and a bumper crop of 60 amateurs in this year's renewal.

Farina, a four-time District PGA kingpin, captured the Open three successive years (1951, 52, 53). On the final nine holes in the 1952 event, he carded six consecutive birdies from the first hole to post a 29.

THE BEN HOGAN of the field, Farina hit the winter tournament trail a couple of seasons. He placed 6th in the last Empire State Open held in Albany in 1952 and was fourth in the 1949 San Francisco Open.

Farina set the national PGA record for nine holes with a 28 at Harlingen, Texas, in 1951 and it held up until Mike Souchak fired a 27 during the recent winter tour.

Farina's stiffest competition, as usual, will come from Alex Gerlak, of Twaalfskill, last year's winner who holds four Woodstock Open crowns.

THE STAR-STUDDED field also will feature the Stuhler brothers—Art of Great Barrington and Frank of the Antlers Club of Amsterdam; Fred Lux of the Dutchess Country Club; Scotty Robertson, Onteora and others.

Steve Savel, of Western Turnpike (Albany) one of the hottest players on the Northeastern PGA trail, is also expected, along with John Gaucas, of Cohoes; Eddie Brown, Columbia CC; Steve Kay, the long-hitting Sharon Springs pro; Dic Stennard, Amsterdam; Charlie DeStefano, Poughkeepsie; Jim and Guy Farina, brothers to Armand and a host of others.

Top rated amateurs include Dom Mangino of Schenectady and Clinton Traver of the Columbia Club at Claverack.

AMATEURS WITH a 10 handicap or less are eligible and they will play the full 27-hole route.

The events as usual will attract the best amateurs in Ulster county. Among them will be Alvin Boice, George Hughes of Twaalfskill, Bill Van Aken, Boyer Gonzales, Allen and Bill Waterous of Woodstock; J. Watson Bailey, Bob Daley, Maurice Davenport, Clyde Wonderly Jr., Dubby Raichle, Charles J. Turck and many others.

Woodstock members will conduct their annual Calcutta drawing on pros following a steak roast Thursday evening.

Horan's Drivers In Two Shows at Rhinebeck Fair

Irish Horan's Lucky Hell Drivers, an automobile thrill show, will give two performances at the Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck Wednesday afternoon and night, Aug. 31.

The Horan show had added a few new acts this season. Among these is the use of a turbo-jet auto which is catapulated through a giant 55-foot cannon.

Precision driving from high ramps and a "slide-for-life" through a pool of flaming oil are also on the program.

Doblers Trounce Panthers 10-0 on Bill Anderson's No-Hitter

Bill Anderson pitched a five-inning no-hit, no-run game as Dobler Beer creamed the New York Panthers, 10 to 0, in a five-inning City League game yesterday at the Athletic Field.

The final result proved a couple of points emphatically. Mr. Anderson was quite a pitcher yesterday. And it seems quite unikely the Panthers will achieve a sweep of both halves of the pennant race. Incidentally, it was the league's first no-hitter of the season. Even an abbreviated one.

PAUL GIANNUZZI was the Panther flinger and he just didn't have it. The Brewmeisters raked him for 10 hits and, of course, 10 runs in his five inning stint. He walked seven and fanned one. Anderson issued five passes and whiffed three.

The issue was settled as early as the first inning when Doblers picked up three runs on a couple of walks and singles by the Benjamins—Joe Jr. and Joe Sr.—and Willie Cragan.

It went to 7-0 in the fourth when Doblers combined three walks with a couple of Panther miscues and singles by Benjamin Jr. and Bill Glaser.

JUST TO MAKE sure Brewmeisters tacked on three superflous tallies in their last turn at bat. Old Joe Benjamin prodded a double between singles by Beichert, Anderson and Gerry Bechtold.

Glaser and the father-son Benjamins collected two hits apiece for Doblers.

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

The next time you see a group of adult spectators or the combatants themselves giving a volunteer umpire the business, remember this. None of the leagues . . . Little League . . . FYL . . . City Softball . . . and others could operate without these hardy souls.

Some of them are paid, to be sure, but hardly the princely stipend that many folks suspect. And hardly enough to compensate for the abuse some are subjected to by fans and players alike.

The difference between the fan and the umpire is understandable and there will be inevitable situations in which they won't see eye to eye. And "Kill the Umpire" is still one of the more colorful phrases of American sports jargon.

They are inherent to baseball for the reason that the fan seldom, if ever, has an opportunity to regard a baseball game from an umpire's-eye-view.

Little League baseball provides a much wider area of understanding between the fan and the umpire, for the reason that they share the philosophies of the program, but there always remains the chance that they can, and will disagree on a given play or call.

In order to fully appreciate the position of the umpire, the fan or spectator must try to put himself in the umpire's place. He must realize the umpire—and no one else—is close enough, nor in the right position, to accurately call balls and strikes or a play on the bases.

In Little League, and most other circuits these days, for that matter, most umpires as well as managers and coaches are non-professional. For the most part, they are volunteers in a most exacting job. They do make mistakes, but like the coaches and managers, they too, are contributing their time and effort to the program. The level of volunteer umpiring in Little League is exceptionally high and the men who offer their services to the local leagues are to be congratulated.

The fan who attends Little League and other types of games should consider this important aspect, and should encourage, rather than criticize these men.

Billy Evans, one of baseball's great major league umpires, once observed: "It is to be regretted that every fan cannot at some time act as an umpire in a ball game of some importance."

Next time you're tempted to second-guess the umpire, remember he's doing the job for which you didn't volunteer.

Farina, Gerlak Head Woodstock Open Field Friday

The man they always have to beat returns to the 27-hole Woodstock Open after a one-year absence Friday.

One Don Bessent Saves Another Don Newcombe in Dodger Win

By JOHN CHANDLER
(The Associated Press)

Big Don Newcombe may still be considered the ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers pitching staff, but he must be wondering today whether he'll ever connect for his 19th victory of the season.

Thanks to some power hitting by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider, the Dodgers snapped out of a slump last night to defeat the Chicago Cubs 6-4, but Newcombe wasn't around for the finish. The Cubs rapped him for three runs in the second inning to go ahead 4-3, and Newcombe retired in the third inning with a strained shoulder muscle.

It was his fifth shot at victory No. 19 since he beat St. Louis July 31 to run his season's record to 18-1. Don's mark is now 18-4. The victory boosted Brooklyn's National League lead to 12 games over Milwaukee, defeated 4-3 by the Philadelphia Phillies.

THE AMERICAN League race, meanwhile, continued on its merry whirl with the Chicago White Sox taking over first place by two percentage points over the New York Yankees, and the Boston Red Sox only 3½ games back in fourth place.

Chicago regained first place, although splitting a twin bill with the Baltimore Orioles, winning the opener 6-2, and losing the second game 10-3. The Yankees committed five erors, and Detroit thumped New York 7-2, while Ted Williams had another big night driving in four runs as Boston defeated the Cleveland Indians 8-3. This left Cleveland in third place, a game behind Chicago and New York, in a virtual tie for first. Kansas City edged Washington 4-3.

In other National League tilts the St. Louis Cardinals beat the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Cincinnati Redlegs, both by 2-1 scores.

DON BESSENT relieved Newcombe and posted his sixth victory without defeat when Furillo hit his 21st homer with one on in the seventh. Furillo also had a single and double. Duke Snider chipped in two doubles, driving home two runs.

Stan Lopata singled with the bases full in the ninth as the Phillies scored three times to defeat Milwaukee. Jack Meyer ace reliefer, got the decision after taking over from Murry Dickson in the ninth.

Four Baltimore errors aided Chicago in winning the opener, while Virgil Trucks gained his 13th victory. Bob Kennedy homered for the Sox. In the second game, however, the Sox muffed a chance to take a clear league lead when the Orioles racked four Chicago hurlers for 15 hits. Dave Philley touched off a five-run Oriole rally in the fifth inning with a two-run homer. George Zuverink got his first pitching victory of the year.

NEW YORK' defenses fell apart, and Bob Turley was wild as a March hare at Detroit, while the Tigers' rookie Frank Lary went all the way, spacing eight hits. Turley suffered his 12th defeat against 13 wins.

Williams drove in four runs with a two-run homer, his 23rd, and a double to prevent Cleveland from joining Chicago and New York in a three-way jam atop the league. Tom Brewer got his ninth victory for Boston, while Herb Score was losing his 10th game. Al Smith hit his 17th homer for the Indians.

With the bases loaded in the eighth inning, Bill Sarni of St. Louis dribbled a slow roller down the third base line that hit the bag for a single, scoring Stan Musial with the run that beat the Giants. Paul LaPalme pitched the last three innings to gain his fourth decision for the Cards— and his third over the Giants.

High Diving Out

Chicago, Aug. 24 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago has objected to a French priest's plan to raise money for his parish by giving high diving exhibitions. The Rev. Robert Simon, who made 35 110-foot dives at water shows in Europe, expressed surprise at an interview last night. In Europe, he said, no one objected. His exhibitions in France, Belgium, Switzerland and Morocco provided funds to rebuild his his church at Saone, France, build a dispensary and finance two local industries for his parishioners.

India has about 350,000 motor vehicles—about one for every 1,000 people.

THE BIG SWEEP—Ted Williams, at 36, still the most feared hitter in baseball, shows the powerful swing which keeps pitchers worried. The Red Sox swatter snaps his wrists viciously bringing the lumber around.

Sweeping to a 12-4 victory over the Hawks, the Crows insured themselves of at least a tie for the Jaycee Little League pennant last night.

The Forsyth Park game saw the Crows unload 11 base blows on three Hawks hurlers while Bill Reardon tossed a three-hitter.

It was the Crow's 12th triumph against three losses. The Hawks, in second place, have an 8-6 mark. The Crows would have to lose each of their remaining three games and the Hawks win their four to cause a tie. The Wrens also have an outside chance with their 7-6 mark.

The Hawks got off to a two-run lead in the first inning. The score stayed that way until the Crows unloaded 10 runs in the bottom of the third. It was no contest thereafter.

DON HUGHES led the Crows with three hits, including a home run—his fifth—and a double. Duane Vandemark had a triple and two singles.

Losing pitcher John Chedeleff had two of the Hawks' hits off Reardon, who posted his fifth triumph.

Quits Lake Swim Until Next Year

Wicked Point, Ont., Aug. 24 (AP) — A 29-year-old appliance salesman and ex-judo instructor has failed in his attempt to swim 50 miles across Lake Ontario but he says he will challenge the lake again next year.

Wesley Struble of Rochester was pulled out of the water last night with severe leg cramps after swimming 15 miles. He had spent a little more than six hours in what he described as "brutally cold" water.

The water temperature was about 52 degrees when he was lifted into one of four escort boats about 6:05 p. m. (EDT).

"I'm not giving up this lake yet," Struble said.

But he added that he would not make another attempt until early next year, when he said conditions would be more favorable than at this time of year.

Against New Attacks

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 24 (AP)—Informed Egyptian sources said today Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser has demanded guarantees against Israeli attacks as a condition of reopening negotiations with Israel on ways of reducing tension in the Gaza area. Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, UN Palestine truce supervisor, conferred for 30 minutes with Nasser yesterday. Details of their talk were not disclosed, but Burns said today a shooting incident between Israelis and Egyptians on the Gaza front Monday had delayed the resumption of talks.

U. S.-Soviet Visits Backed by Ellender

Moscow, Aug. 24 (AP)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) says he is an all-out advocate of a get-acquainted policy between Russians and Americans.

The touring senator told reporters last night at a Romanian Embassy party he would propose at the next session of Congress that a joint committee of senators and representatives be named to visit Russia.

And he said he had invited the Soviet leaders at the party in the Sovietskaya Hotel to visit Louisiana and the United States.

Those present included Deputy Premiers A. I. Mikoyan, L. M. Kaganovich, M. G. Pervukhin and Georgi Malenkov, and M. A. Suslov, a member of the presidium.

"I invited them all," said the senator.

Mayor Faces Charge

Mechanicville, N. Y.,, Aug. 24 (AP)—Mayor James G. Heffernan is facing a contempt-of-court action for refusing to sign a $6,740 insurance check. Justice Felix J. Aulisi of State Supreme Court has ordered Heffernan to appear in Amsterdam Monday to show why he should not be cited for refusing to obey an order Aulisi issued Aug. 3. Aulisi directed Heffernan to follow the City Council's wishes and sign the check, payable to John W. Lynd, a Mechanicville insurance man. Heffernan said he would appeal Aulisi's order on the ground the Lynd policy was an "inferior substitute" to the one promised.

Green Thumb

Norfolk, Va. (AP) — Edwin H. Fox's commanding officer once called him the world's worst gardener—one who violated every rule any good flower gardener would tell you is a must. But flowers are blooming at the Cost Guard's Berkley Base like never before. And the gardener is Fox, a retired machinst's mate with 30 years of service. Nobody understands his methods, it seems, except the flowers.

One Don Bessent Saves Another Don Newcombe in Dodger Win

(The Associated Press)

Big Don Newcombe may still be considered the ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers pitching staff, but he must be wondering today whether he'll ever connect for his 19th victory of the season.

Thanks to some power hitting by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider, the Dodgers snapped out of a slump last night to defeat the Chicago Cubs 6-4, but Newcombe wasn't around for the finish. The Cubs rapped him for three runs in the second inning to go ahead 4-3, and Newcombe retired in the third inning with a strained shoulder muscle.

It was his fifth shot at victory No. 19 since he beat St. Louis July 31 to run his season's record to 18-1. Don's mark is now 18-4. The victory boosted Brooklyn's National League lead to 12 games over Milwaukee, defeated 4-3 by the Philadelphia Phillies.

THE AMERICAN League race, meanwhile, continued on its merry whirl with the Chicago White Sox taking over first place by two percentage points over the New York Yankees, and the Boston Red Sox only 3½ games back in fourth place.

Chicago regained first place, although splitting a twin bill with the Baltimore Orioles, winning the opener 6-2, and losing the second game 10-3. The Yankees committed five erors, and Detroit thumped New York 7-2, while Ted Williams had another big night driving in four runs as Boston defeated the Cleveland Indians 8-3. This left Cleveland in third place, a game behind Chicago and New York, in a virtual tie for first. Kansas City edged Washington 4-3.

In other National League tilts the St. Louis Cardinals beat the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Cincinnati Redlegs, both by 2-1 scores.

DON BESSENT relieved Newcombe and posted his sixth victory without defeat when Furillo hit his 21st homer with one on in the seventh. Furillo also had a single and double. Duke Snider chipped in two doubles, driving home two runs.

Stan Lopata singled with the bases full in the ninth as the Phillies scored three times to defeat Milwaukee. Jack Meyer ace reliefer, got the decision after taking over from Murry Dickson in the ninth.

Four Baltimore errors aided Chicago in winning the opener, while Virgil Trucks gained his 13th victory. Bob Kennedy homered for the Sox. In the second game, however, the Sox muffed a chance to take a clear league lead when the Orioles racked four Chicago hurlers for 15 hits. Dave Philley touched off a five-run Oriole rally in the fifth inning with a two-run homer. George Zuverink got his first pitching victory of the year.

NEW YORK' defenses fell apart, and Bob Turley was wild as a March hare at Detroit, while the Tigers' rookie Frank Lary went all the way, spacing eight hits. Turley suffered his 12th defeat against 13 wins.

Williams drove in four runs with a two-run homer, his 23rd, and a double to prevent Cleveland from joining Chicago and New York in a three-way jam atop the league. Tom Brewer got his ninth victory for Boston, while Herb Score was losing his 10th game. Al Smith hit his 17th homer for the Indians.

With the bases loaded in the eighth inning, Bill Sarni of St. Louis dribbled a slow roller down the third base line that hit the bag for a single, scoring Stan Musial with the run that beat the Giants. Paul LaPalme pitched the last three innings to gain his fourth decision for the Cards— and his third over the Giants.

High Diving Out

Chicago, Aug. 24 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago has objected to a French priest's plan to raise money for his parish by giving high diving exhibitions. The Rev. Robert Simon, who made 35 110-foot dives at water shows in Europe, expressed surprise at the Chicago church's decision in an interview last night. In Europe, he said, no one objected. His exhibitions in France, Belgium, Switzerland and Morocco provided funds to rebuild his his church at Saone, France, build a dispensary and finance two local industries for his parishioners.

India has about 350,000 motor vehicles—about one for every 1,000 people.

THE BIG SWEEP—Ted Williams, at 36, still the most feared hitter in baseball, shows the powerful swing which keeps pitchers worried. The Red Sox swatter snaps his wrists viciously bringing the lumber around.

Sweeping to a 12-4 victory over the Hawks, the Crows insured themselves of at least a tie for the Jaycee Little League pennant last night.

The Forsyth Park game saw the Crows unload 11 base blows on three Hawks hurlers while Bill Reardon tossed a three-hitter.

It was the Crow's 12th triumph against three losses. The Hawks, in second place, have an 8-6 mark. The Crows would have to lose each of their remaining three games and the Hawks win their four to cause a tie. The Wrens also have an outside chance with their 7-6 mark.

The Hawks got off to a two-run lead in the first inning. The score stayed that way until the Crows unloaded 10 runs in the bottom of the third. It was no contest thereafter.

DON HUGHES led the Crows with three hits, including a home run—his fifth—and a double. Duane Vandemark had a triple and two singles.

Losing pitcher John Chedeleff had two of the Hawks' hits off Reardon, who posted his fifth triumph.

Reardon struck out six and walked five.

Quits Lake Swim Until Next Year

Wicked Point, Ont., Aug. 24 (AP) — A 29-year-old appliance salesman and ex-judo instructor has failed in his attempt to swim 50 miles across Lake Ontario but he says he will challenge the lake again next year.

Wesley Struble of Rochester was pulled out of the water last night with severe leg cramps after swimming 15 miles. He had spent a little more than six hours in what he described as "brutally cold" water.

The water temperature was about 52 degrees when he was lifted into one of four escort boats about 6:05 p. m. (EDT).

"I'm not giving up this lake yet," Struble said.

But he added that he would not make another attempt until early next year, when he said conditions would be more favorable than at this time of year.

Against New Attacks

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 24 (AP)—Informed Egyptian sources said today Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser has demanded guarantees against Israeli attacks as a condition of reopening negotiations with Israel on ways of reducing tension in the Gaza area. Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, UN Palestine truce supervisor, conferred for 30 minutes with Nasser yesterday. Details of their talk were not disclosed, but Burns said today a shooting incident between Israelis and Egyptians on the Gaza front Monday had delayed the resumption of talks.

U. S.-Soviet Visits Backed by Ellender

Moscow, Aug. 24 (AP)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) says he is an all-out advocate of a get-acquainted policy between Russians and Americans.

The touring senator told reporters last night at a Romanian Embassy party he would propose at the next session of Congress that a joint committee of senators and representatives be named to visit Russia.

And he said he had invited the Soviet leaders at the party in the Sovietskaya Hotel to visit Louisiana and the United States.

Those present included Deputy Premiers A. I. Mikoyan, L. M. Kaganovich, M. G. Pervukhin and Georgi Malenkov, and M. A. Suslov, a member of the presidium.

"I invited them all," said the senator.

Mayor Faces Charge

Mechanicville, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—Mayor James G. Heffernan is facing a contempt-of-court action for refusing to sign a $6,740 insurance check. Justice Felix J. Aulisi of State Supreme Court has ordered Heffernan to appear in Amsterdam Monday to show why he should not be cited for refusing to obey an order Aulisi issued Aug. 3. Aulisi directed Heffernan to follow the City Council's wishes and sign the check, payable to John W. Lynd, a Mechanicville insurance man. Heffernan said he would appeal Aulisi's order on the ground the Lynd policy was an "inferior substitute" to the one promised.

Green Thumb

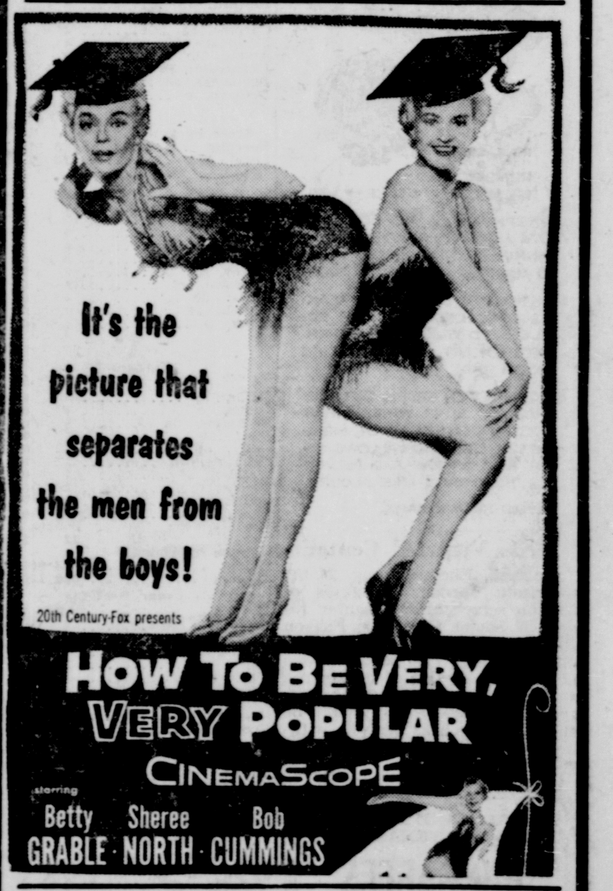

Norfolk, Va. (AP) — Edwin H. Fox's commanding officer once called him the world's worst gardener—one who violated every rule any good flower gardener would tell you is a must. But flowers are blooming at the Cost Guard's Berkley Base like never before. And the gardener is Fox, a retired machinst's mate with 30 years of service. Nobody understands his methods, it seems, except the flowers.

Firm Is Warned On 'Amazing' Arthritis Drug

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—A Federal Trade Commission (FTC) examiner has ordered Kordol Corp. of America, (618 Lexington avenue) New York city to stop "exaggerating the effectiveness" of Kordolin tablets in treating arthritis and rheumatism.

The hearing examiner's order, subject to review by the full commission, was announced by the FTC today.

It said that examiner James A. Purcell had declared to be false the firm's advertising claims that Kordolin is an "amazing" discovery, or seven times more effective than "old fashioned aspirin remedies."

His decision stated. FTC said, that a Kordolin tablet contains ordinary aspirin, but contains less of it than the usual aspirin tablet.

The order prohibits advertising to the effect that Kordolin:

Will relieve severe aches, pains and discomfort of arthritic or rheumatic conditions or have any curing effect.

Is a new or amazing discovery of scientific research.

The FTC complaint in the case was issued March 24, 1953.

Says He's 'Key Man

Orlando, Fla., Aug. 24 (AP)—Sheriff Dave Starr says a 55-year-old man in custody here was the key man in a ring that stole at least 16 house trailers in eight eastern states. Starr said yesterday that Joseph Palumbo and an accomplice in Warsaw, N. Y., had been operating since 1947. The sheriff said the thefts uncovered so far amount to more than $100,000. Palumbo was arrested Aug. 15 and charged with fraud in connection with a deal involving a new trailer the sheriff said was stolen in St. Petersburg. He pleaded innocent. Starr said Palumbo had stolen trailers in Buffalo, East Avalon and Caneadea, N. Y.

Injured Man Rescued Near Niagara Rapids

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 24 (AP)—A 51-year-old man who had lain for three days with a broken leg and other injuries on a ledge 100 feet above the roaring rapids of the Niagara river was rescued by firemen last night.

Edward Dunphy of Toronto told police that he had fallen asleep under a tree atop the 200-foot gorge Saturday afternoon. He said he apparently tossed in his sleep until he tumbled down the bank.

He was unconscious for most of the three days he spent on the ledge.

Officials at the greater Niagara General Hospital said Dunphy suffered a fractured right leg, abrasions of both legs, a head laceration and exposure. He was reported in fair condition.

Earl Wesley, a Niagara Parks Commission employe, discovered Dunphy's plight when he heard a feeble call for help while cutting weeds along the gorge yesterday.

Dunphy was described by police as a transient. They said an empty wine bottle was found near his jacket at the top of the gorge.

Coleman Elected As New Governor Of Mississippi

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 24 (AP)—Mississippi voters elected Atty. Gen. J. P. Coleman their new governor, the job a poor farm boy set as his goal more than 20 years ago.

Coleman held a commanding lead today with virtually all precincts reporting.

UNOFFICIAL and nearly complete returns from 1,707 of 1,850 precincts in Tuesday's Democratic primary run-off election gave Coleman 204,397 votes to Johnson's 155,606.

Coleman won the top post in his first statewide campaign. He worked up the judicial ladder as district attorney, circuit judge, supreme court justice and attorney general before making the try. He was elected attorney general without opposition.

The 41-year-old winner, a husky six feet, five inches, will be Mississippi's youngest governor since 1932.

Sued by Beverage Co.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—The Coca-Cola Co. has filed a Federal Court suit here in which it has charged a Rochester, N. Y., soft drink concessionaire with "unfair competition." The complaint filed yesterday charged Philip Kates, trading as Theatre Confections, with "passing off * * * a beverage similar in appearance to the plaintiff's" in response to orders for Coca-Cola or Coke. The company requested the court to issue an injunction restraining the alleged practice. It also asked an award for damages and general relief. Kates, the complaint stated, operates concessions at 32 drive-in theatres in New York and Pennsylvania.

Landy Hearing Postponed

Newark, N. J., Aug. 24 (AP)—A navy hearing for Eugene Landy, the Merchant Marine Academy honor graduate who was refused a navy reserve commission, has been postponed until sometime after Sept. 5, his lawyer says. Landy, 21, was denied a navy reserve commission after his graduation from the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N. Y., reportedly on security grounds because his mother had been a Communist. Unger said Landy had told the navy he would be available for a hearing between Aug. 20 and Aug. 29, when he expects to ship out again as a seaman aboard a merchant vessel.

No More Open Charges

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 24 (AP)—Prisoners in Toledo no longer may be held on open charges. The city's law department yesterday banned the practice of many police departments that of holding prisoners "on suspicion" or "for investigation," without more specific charges. Now prisoners must be charged as soon as they are booked, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Law Director William D. Driscoll. More than 1,000 arrests have been made each year, and about 300 persons a year have been released without any charges ever being placed.

11th Child Dies

Spring City, Tenn., Aug. 24 (AP)—The toll in Tennessee's worst school bus accident rose to 11 today with the death in a Rockwood Hospital of 8-year-old Jerry Mincey. Several others are still listed in serious condition at hospitals at Rockwood and Chattanooga. Ten were killed when the Rhea county bus, taking 40 children from the Spring City elementary school to their homes, was struck Monday by a freight train just two blocks from the school at a crossing.

Buys All News Stock

Philadelphia, Aug. 24 (AP)—Matthew H. McCloskey, chairman of the board of the Philadelphia Daily News, Inc., announced last night that he has purchased all outstanding stock in the corporation. McCloskey, a builder and contractor and treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, said he bought the stock held by Mrs. W. Ellmaker, widow of Lee Ellmaker, Daily News founder and former publisher.

Steel Supply Dwindles

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Customers yelling for hard-to-get steel "haven't seen anything yet," The Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said today. "The steel industry is headed for new records in order volume, in production and in the delicacy of customer relations," said the publication. "These will start abuilding after Labor Day and will swamp individual steelmakers."

Six Die in Fire

Cleveland, Aug. 24 (AP)—Five children and a woman died today in a fire at a house in the crowded east side Negro district. A police radio report said the bodies, none immediately identified, were on the way to the morgue. The fire spread from the house at 2359 East 63rd street to the Progressive Baptist Church next door.

School Girl Goes To $16,000 Mark In Quiz Program

Gloria Lockerman calmly spelled out this sentence:

"The belligerent astigmatic anthropologist annihilated innumerable chrysanthemums."

THE LITTLE Negro girl was acute and methodical as master of ceremonies Hal March read her the sentence last night. She asked him a question. Did he want the last word singular or plural?

Before the show, Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland had sent Gloria a telegram saying: "We're all watching you and all certain that you will pass the $16,000 barrier just as easily as you completed the earlier hurdles."

Gloria's success last night makes her eligible to try for $32,000 next Tuesday night in her spelling category on the CBS TV show.

THE DECISION whether to keep the $16,000 or go on is up to her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Key.

If Gloria tries for $32,000 and misses, she still will have a consolation prize of $4,000. If she tries and wins, she can go on to the $64,000 question the next week.

All the child's winning will be put into a trust fund, where the money will be kept until she needs it for her education or reaches legal age.

LAST NIGHT, for the third consecutive week, Gloria was accompanied by her grandmother, with whom she lives in Baltimore. The grandmother, wife of the Rev. V. T. Key, a Methodist pastor, was given the responsibility of deciding whether the child tackled questions in the various money brackets which start at $64 and advance through four weeks to a possible high of $64,000.

Another winner last night was Marine Corps Capt. Richard S. McCutchen, an expert in the "food and cooking" category, who advanced to $8,000.

McCutchen, whose home in is Worthington, Ohio, reached the $4,000 mark by describing three French sauces—Soubise (onions), Maitre d'Hotel (butter and parsley) and Mornay (cheese).

The $8,000 question was to pick and describe the two edible things among these four Scotch items—Sporran, Haggis, Pibroch and Kebbuck.

"Haggis and Kebbuck," McCutchen answered correctly.

To Keep Segregation

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 24 (AP)—Segregation of the races will be maintained in Montgomery county schools during the coming year, city-county school Supt. C. M. Dannelly said yesterday. Local chapters of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People have filed petitions in Montgomery and several other Alabama counties demanding immediate classroom integration.

Officials at the greater Niagara General Hospital said Dunphy suffered a fractured right leg, abrasions of both legs, a head laceration and exposure. He was reported in fair condition.

Earl Wesley, a Niagara Parks Commission employe, discovered Dunphy's plight when he heard a feeble call for help while cutting weeds along the gorge yesterday.

Dunphy was described by police as a transient. They said an empty wine bottle was found near his jacket at the top of the gorge.

Coleman Elected As New Governor Of Mississippi

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 24 (AP)—Mississippi voters elected Atty. Gen. J. P. Coleman their new governor, the job a poor farm boy set as his goal more than 20 years ago.

Coleman held a commanding lead today with virtually all precincts reporting.

The farm boy who worked his way through college and law school defeated Atty. Paul B. Johnson, son of a former governor making his third bid for the post.

UNOFFICIAL and nearly complete returns from 1,707 of 1,850 precincts in Tuesday's Democratic primary run-off election gave Coleman 204,397 votes to Johnson's 155,606.

Coleman won the top post in his first statewide campaign. He worked up the judicial ladder as district attorney, circuit judge, supreme court justice and attorney general before making the try. He was elected attorney general without opposition.

The 41-year-old winner, a husky six feet, five inches, will be Mississippi's youngest governor since 1932.

Sued by Beverage Co.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP)—The Coca-Cola Co. has filed a Federal Court suit here in which it has charged a Rochester, N. Y., soft drink concessionaire with "unfair competition." The complaint filed yesterday charged Philip Kates, trading as Theatre Confections, with "passing off * * * a beverage similar in appearance to the plaintiff's" in response to orders for Coca-Cola or Coke. The company requested the court to issue an injunction restraining the alleged practice. It also asked an award for damages and general relief. Kates, the complaint stated, operates concessions at 32 drive-in theatres in New York and Pennsylvania.

Landy Hearing Postponed

Newark, N. J., Aug. 24 (AP)—A navy hearing for Eugene Landy, the Merchant Marine Academy honor graduate who was refused a navy reserve commission, has been postponed until sometime after Sept. 5, his lawyer says. Landy, 21, was denied a navy reserve commission after his graduation from the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N. Y., reportedly on security grounds because his mother had been a Communist. Unger said Landy had told the navy he would be available for a hearing between Aug. 20 and Aug. 29, when he expects to ship out again as a seaman aboard a merchant vessel.

No More Open Charges

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 24 (AP)—Prisoners in Toledo no longer may be held on open charges. The city's law department yesterday banned the practice of many police departments that of holding prisoners "on suspicion" or "for investigation," without more specific charges. Now prisoners must be charged as soon as they are booked, according to an opinion issued by Assistant Law Director William D. Driscoll. More than 1,000 arrests have been made each year, and about 300 persons a year have been released without any charges ever being placed.

11th Child Dies

Spring City, Tenn., Aug. 24 (AP)—The toll in Tennessee's worst school bus accident rose to 11 today with the death in a Rockwood Hospital of 8-year-old Jerry Mincey. Several others are still listed in serious condition at hospitals at Rockwood and Chattanooga. Ten were killed when the Rhea county bus, taking 40 children from the Spring City elementary school to their homes, was struck Monday by a freight train just two blocks from the school at a crossing.

Buys All News Stock

Philadelphia, Aug. 24 (AP)—Matthew H. McCloskey, chairman of the board of the Philadelphia Daily News, Inc., announced last night that he has purchased all outstanding stock in the corporation. McCloskey, a builder and contractor and treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, said he bought the stock held by Mrs. W. Ellmaker, widow of Lee Ellmaker, Daily News founder and former publisher.

Steel Supply Dwindles

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Customers yelling for hard-to-get steel "haven't seen anything yet," The Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said today. "The steel industry is headed for new records in order volume, in production and in the delicacy of customer relations," said the publication. "These will start abuilding after Labor Day and will swamp individual steelmakers."

Six Die in Fire

Cleveland, Aug. 24 (AP)—Five children and a woman died today in a fire at a house in the crowded east side Negro district. A police radio report said the bodies, none immediately identified, were on the way to the morgue. The fire spread from the house at 2359 East 63rd street to the Progressive Baptist Church next door.

School Girl Goes To $16,000 Mark In Quiz Program

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—A 12-year-old Baltimore schoolgirl, grinning wide in self confidence, has spelled herself to the $16,000 mark on "The $64,000 Question" television show.

Gloria Lockerman calmly spelled out this sentence:

"The belligerent astigmatic anthropologist annihilated innumerable chrysanthemums."

THE LITTLE Negro girl was acute and methodical as master of ceremonies Hal March read her the sentence last night. She asked him a question. Did he want the last word singular or plural?

Before the show, Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland had sent Gloria a telegram saying: "We're all watching you and all certain that you will pass the $16,000 barrier just as easily as you completed the earlier hurdles."

Gloria's success last night makes her eligible to try for $32,000 next Tuesday night in her spelling category on the CBS TV show.

THE DECISION whether to keep the $16,000 or go on is up to her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Key.

If Gloria tries for $32,000 and misses, she still will have a consolation prize of $4,000. If she tries and wins, she can go on to the $64,000 question the next week.

All the child's winning will be put into a trust fund, where the money will be kept until she needs it for her education or reaches legal age.

LAST NIGHT, for the third consecutive week, Gloria was accompanied by her grandmother, with whom she lives in Baltimore. The grandmother, wife of the Rev. V. T. Key, a Methodist pastor, was given the responsibility of deciding whether the child tackled questions in the various money brackets which start at $64 and advance through four weeks to a possible high of $64,000.

Another winner last night was Marine Corps Capt. Richard S. McCutchen, an expert in the "food and cooking" category, who advanced to $8,000.

McCutchen, whose home in is Worthington, Ohio, reached the $4,000 mark by describing three French sauces—Soubise (onions), Maitre d'Hotel (butter and parsley) and Mornay (cheese).

The $8,000 question was to pick and describe the two edible things among these four Scotch items—Sporran, Haggis, Pibroch and Kebbuck.

"Haggis and Kebbuck," McCutchen answered correctly.

To Keep Segregation

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 24 (AP)—Segregation of the races will be maintained in Montgomery county schools during the coming year, city-county school Supt. C. M. Dannelly said yesterday. Local chapters of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People have filed petitions in Montgomery and several other Alabama counties demanding immediate classroom integration.

Ike Warns of Accepting Red Wrongs to Avoid War

Philadelphia, Aug. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today that America is on a "crusade for peace" but can never accept Russian wrongs to men and nations in an "eagerness to avoid war."

In a prepared address to the American Bar Assn., Eisenhower voiced confidence that the Geneva Summit Conference spells opportunity to advance toward a peace "based on justice and security."

DISLIKES TRUCE — South Korean Ambassador You Chan Yang is urging the United States to declare the Korean armistice "null and void." He has labeled Polish and Czech truce supervisors "thieves in our parlor."

"CAN WE ACHIEVE that sort of peace?" he asked. "I think we can."

Yet, without naming the Soviet Union, Eisenhower said that the division of Germany, the domination of captive countries and the use of international subversion are "violations of the rights of men and nations."

They probably result, he said, from "a compound of suspicions and fear." But he added quickly: "That explains. It cannot excuse."

"In justice to others and to ourselves," he said, "we can never accept those wrongs as a part of the peace that we desire and seek."

THE PRESIDENT spoke at the annual convention of the Bar Association, which is observing the 200th anniversary of the birth of John Marshall, the fourth chief justice of the United States.

Eisenhower extolled Marshall as a "foremost leader in developing and maintaining the liberties of the people" of the United States, as a man whose decisions "made of the constitution a vital, dynamic, deathless charter for free and orderly living."

He said he will appoint nobody to the federal judiciary who will not serve in the tradition of Marshall.

IN MAKING a nomination to the federal bench, he said, the realization is with him sharply that "the independence and integrity and capacity of the judiciary are vital to our nation's continued existence."

In general, the presidential speech took a somewhat unruffled, philosophical approach to global rather than domestic problems, drawing lessons from the career of Marshall.

The famed chief justice, he said, was patient, tireless, understanding, logical, persistent and a crusader in the cause of interpreting the constitution "to achieve ordered liberty and justice under law."

"Now," he said, "America needs to exercise, in the crusade for peace, the qualities of John Marshall. Peace and security for all can be established — for the fearful, for the oppressed, for the weak, for the strong. But this can be done only if we stand uncompromisingly for principle, for great issues, with the fervor of Marshall—with the zeal of the crusader."

AS MEN and women committed to a search for truth so that justice may prevail and human rights may be secured, he said, "you of the American Bar Association will play a critical part in the presentation of freedom's case."

"Above all," Eisenhower said, "conscious of towering achievements manifest in the republic's history under the Constitution, assured that no human problem is beyond solution given the will, the perserverance and the strength—each of us can help arouse in America a renewed and flaming dedication to justice and liberty, prosperity and peace among men.

"So acting, we shall prove ourselves—lawyers and laymen alike—worthy heirs to the example and spirit of John Marshall. Like him in his great mission, we shall succeed."

Nixon Scheduled For Middle East Tour in November

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon will make a good will tour of the Middle East and several African countries late this year, probably in November.

The White House announcement of the trip yesterday stirred speculation that Nixon would seek to improve relations between Israel and the Arab states in furtherance of the American policy of seeking greater stability in the troubled Middle Eastern area.

DIPLOMATIC officials said, however, that the tour would have no particular policy purpose other than the development of friendship and good will between the United States and the countries to be visited.

There has also been speculation that sometime in the months ahead Nixon will visit the Soviet Union. This, so far, is without any official confirmation although it is understood to be a definite possibility.

THE PROJECTED good will mission which is still in the formative stage, will be the third to be undertaken by the vice president. About 18 months ago he toured the Far East and south Asia and early this year he visited a number of Latin American countries.

On his Middle Eastern and African visit he will be accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and representatives of the State Department. The exact countries which he will visit have yet to be determined. It was understood however, that he is not presently planning to visit North Africa which in recent weeks has been torn by a series of anti-French riots.

Seven Crewmen Hurt

Lowell, Mass., Aug. 24 (AP)—Ten cars of a 13-car Boston to Montreal train and at least two cars from a freight train were derailed in wild disorder after a collision on a bridge over the Concord river shortly before midnight last night. Seven crewmen were injured, one seriously. None of the passenger train's occupants required treatment of any kind, a spokesman for the Boston & Maine Railroad said. Kenneth Brannoch, 43, a trainman on the freight train, suffered back and neck injuries. Doctors at St. John's Hospital said it could not be determined if any bones were broken until X-rays are taken.

Traveling Smokes

Raleigh, N. C. (AP)—Chief Justice M. V. Barnhill of the State Supreme Court, has found a way to cut down on smoking. Barnhill's office is on the third floor of the Justice Building but he keeps his cigarettes in the desk drawer of the court secretary on the second floor.

5th Ward Drive Slated 3 Days For Tablet Fund

A drive for funds will be held three days this week to help complete the service honor roll in the Fifth Ward, located on the grounds of Public School No. 4, Delaware and Lindsley avenues.

Announcement about the drive was made today by Alderman Samuel J. Perry, a member of the Fifth Ward Community Organization, whose intention it is to purchase a bronze plaque with names of all residents of the ward who were members of the armed forces.

The bluestone monument for the plaque has been completed for some time, but the names have to be affixed.

Supervisor James Fiore, chairman of the memorial committee, said early action is being taken on ordering the plaque so it may be ready for dedication on next Memorial Day.

The drive will be conducted by solicitors from the ward, who will call at every home on Thursday, Friday and Saturday to accept whatever donations families care to give. It is hoped to collect enough money on the drive to go ahead with the tablet of bronze, two feet wide and three feet long.

Alderman Perry said that the monument committee has $320, plus interest, in the bank collected some 10 years ago, when the ward formulated plans for honoring those who served in World War 2.

Protest Survey for U. S.

Tachikawa, Japan, Aug. 24 (AP)—Enraged farmers and labor unionists locked arms and formed human walls today to block a government survey of land for expanding a U. S. Air Force base. There was some shoving and pushing but no injuries were reported. In late afternoon, the conservative villagers of nearby Sunakawa and leftist outsiders opened ranks and let the 20 surveyors go home.

Flood Forecasting Center to Open

Windsor Locks, Conn., Aug. 24 (AP)—A river and flood forecasting center serving New England and eastern New York will open at the Springfield-Hartford Weather Bureau at Bradley Field Sept. 1, Chief Meteorologist Lawrence Mahar said last night.

Mahar also announced a chain of radar stations will be set up across southern New England by 1956. He said stations in Worcester, Boston, Nantucket Island, and New York city, will permit weather bureaus to predict floods by tracing areas of heavy rainfall.

The radar also will be used for hurricane forecasts, Mahar said.

He said the River Forecasting Service in Harrisburg, Pa., now serves New England.

Fifteen per cent of U. S. families with both parents working have children under 6.

Ike Warns of Accepting Red Wrongs to Avoid War

Philadelphia, Aug. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today that America is on a "crusade for peace" but can never accept Russian wrongs to men and nations in an "eagerness to avoid war."

In a prepared address to the American Bar Assn., Eisenhower voiced confidence that the Geneva Summit Conference spells opportunity to advance toward a peace "based on justice and security."

DISLIKES TRUCE — South Korean Ambassador You Chan Yang is urging the United States to declare the Korean armistice "null and void." He has labeled Polish and Czech truce supervisors "thieves in our parlor."

"CAN WE ACHIEVE that sort of peace?" he asked. "I think we can."

Yet, without naming the Soviet Union, Eisenhower said that the division of Germany, the domination of captive countries and the use of international subversion are "violations of the rights of men and nations."

They probably result, he said, from "a compound of suspicions and fear." But he added quickly: "That explains. It cannot excuse."

"In justice to others and to ourselves," he said, "we can never accept those wrongs as a part of the peace that we desire and seek."

THE PRESIDENT spoke at the annual convention of the Bar Association, which is observing the 200th anniversary of the birth of John Marshall, the fourth chief justice of the United States.

Eisenhower extolled Marshall as a "foremost leader in developing and maintaining the liberties of the people" of the United States, as a man whose decisions "made of the constitution a vital, dynamic, deathless charter for free and orderly living."

He said he will appoint nobody to the federal judiciary who will not serve in the tradition of Marshall.

IN MAKING a nomination to the federal bench, he said, the realization is with him sharply that "the independence and integrity and capacity of the judiciary are vital to our nation's continued existence."

In general, the presidential speech took a somewhat unruffled, philosophical approach to global rather than domestic problems, drawing lessons from the career of Marshall.

The famed chief justice, he said, was patient, tireless, understanding, logical, persistent and a crusader in the cause of interpreting the constitution "to achieve ordered liberty and justice under law."

"Now," he said, "America needs to exercise, in the crusade for peace, the qualities of John Marshall. Peace and security for all can be established — for the fearful, for the oppressed, for the weak, for the strong. But this can be done only if we stand uncomprisingly for principle, for great issues, with the fervor of Marshall—with the zeal of the crusader."

AS MEN and women committed to a search for truth so that justice may prevail and human rights may be secured, he said, "you of the American Bar Association will play a critical part in the presentation of freedom's case."

"Above all," Eisenhower said, "conscious of towering achievements manifest in the republic's history under the Constitution, assured that no human problem is beyond solution given the will, the perserverance and the strength—each of us can help arouse in America a renewed and flaming dedication to justice and liberty, prosperity and peace among men.

"So acting, we shall prove ourselves—lawyers and laymen alike—worthy heirs to the example and spirit of John Marshall. Like him in his great mission, we shall succeed."

Nixon Scheduled For Middle East Tour in November

Washington, Aug. 24 (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon will make a good will tour of the Middle East and several African countries late this year, probably in November.

The White House announcement of the trip yesterday stirred speculation that Nixon would seek to improve relations between Israel and the Arab states in furtherance of the American policy of seeking greater stability in the troubled Middle Eastern area.

DIPLOMATIC officials said, however, that the tour would have no particular policy purpose other than the development of friendship and good will between the United States and the countries to be visited.

There has also been speculation that sometime in the months ahead Nixon will visit the Soviet Union. This, so far, is without any official confirmation although it is understood to be a definite possibility.

THE PROJECTED good will mission which is still in the formative stage, will be the third to be undertaken by the vice president. About 18 months ago he toured the Far East and south Asia and early this year he visited a number of Latin American countries.

On his Middle Eastern and African visit he will be accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and representatives of the State Department. The exact countries which he will visit have yet to be determined. It was understood however, that he is not presently planning to visit North Africa which in recent weeks has been torn by a series of anti-French riots.

5th Ward Drive Slated 3 Days For Tablet Fund

A drive for funds will be held three days this week to help complete the service honor roll in the Fifth Ward, located on the grounds of Public School No. 4, Delaware and Lindsley avenues.

Announcement about the drive was made today by Alderman Samuel J. Perry, a member of the Fifth Ward Community Organization, whose intention it is to purchase a bronze plaque with names of all residents of the ward who were members of the armed forces.

The bluestone monument for the plaque has been completed for some time, but the names have to be affixed.

Supervisor James Fiore, chairman of the memorial committee, said early action is being taken on ordering the plaque so it may be ready for dedication on next Memorial Day.

The drive will be conducted by solicitors from the ward, who will call at every home on Thursday, Friday and Saturday to accept whatever donations families care to give. It is hoped to collect enough money on the drive to go ahead with the tablet of bronze, two feet wide and three feet long.

Alderman Perry said that the monument committee has $320, plus interest, in the bank collected some 10 years ago, when the ward formulated plans for honoring those who served in World War 2.

Protest Survey for U. S.

Tachikawa, Japan, Aug. 24 (AP)—Enraged farmers and labor unionists locked arms and formed human walls today to block a government survey of land for expanding a U. S. Air Force base. There was some shoving and pushing but no injuries were reported. In late afternoon, the conservative villagers of nearby Sunakawa and leftist outsiders opened ranks and let the 20 surveyors go home.

Seven Crewmen Hurt

Lowell, Mass., Aug. 24 (AP)—Ten cars of a 13-car Boston to Montreal train and at least two cars from a freight train were derailed in wild disorder after a collision on a bridge over the Concord river shortly before midnight last night. Seven crewmen were injured, one seriously. None of the passenger train's occupants required treatment of any kind, a spokesman for the Boston & Maine Railroad said. Kenneth Brannoch, 43, a trainman on the freight train, suffered back and neck injuries. Doctors at St. John's Hospital said it could not be determined if any bones were broken until X-rays are taken.

Traveling Smokes

Raleigh, N. C. (AP)—Chief Justice M. V. Barnhill of the State Supreme Court, has found a way to cut down on smoking. Barnhill's office is on the third floor of the Justice Building but he keeps his cigarettes in the desk drawer of the court secretary on the second floor.

Flood Forecasting Center to Open

Windsor Locks, Conn., Aug. 24 (AP)—A river and flood forecasting center serving New England and eastern New York will open at the Springfield-Hartford Weather Bureau at Bradley Field Sept. 1, Chief Meteorologist Lawrence Mahar said last night.

Mahar also announced a chain of radar stations will be set up across southern New England by 1956. He said stations in Worcester, Boston, Nantucket Island, and New York city, will permit weather bureaus to predict floods by tracing areas of heavy rainfall.

The radar also will be used for hurricane forecasts, Mahar said.

He said the River Forecasting Service in Harrisburg, Pa., now serves New England.

Fifteen per cent of U. S. families with both parents working have children under 6.

$160,000 Is Voted

B. Ewig for Nathan L. Feldman, 110 Wall street, and Conrad Robinson, 282 Main street, was referred to Corporation Counsel, James J. Abernethy.

The claimants say that a lot, 50 by 100 feet at 331-33 Broadway, has been wrongly assessed and overtaxed to the extent of $4,998.48 over a period of several years.

From 1941 up to the tax year of 1947-48, the claim said, the property had been assessed at $1,500. Then in 1948-49 it was assesed at $2,000, and still is at that figure.

Claimants note that a building was demolished on the property in 1941 and the land has since been unimproved. The value of the non-existant building from 1941 to 1946-47 was listed at $4,500, and they claim that in 1948-49 it was erroneously assessed at $7,000, and from 1948-49 to the present at $9,300.

OF THE $160,000 to be used for the Burgevin development in the Pearl street extension area, $90,000 will be for street work and $70,000 for storm and sanitary sewers. V. J. Costanzi Inc., of Poughkeepsie was low bidder for the sewer work and James Berardi, of this city, was low for the street work.

The work is to develop Hope street, Wilkie avenue, Ringtop road and Pearl street extension. Taxpayers are to pay 75 per cent and the city 25 per cent of the cost. The $30,000 for the Broadway project is a full charge against the city because it is an improvement project.

The new pumpers requested by the fire department, if approved, would go to Excelsior and Union hose companies.

Fire Chief James M. Brett, in a letter, said "need for this equipment is urgent," and he proposed buying it from the low bidder, the American-LaFrance Foamite Corp., of Elmira, which bid $34,974. The other bidders were City Garage, $37,908.40 and the Seagrave Corp., $39,970. The latter did not conform to specifications, Brett noted. Its bid was on a 1,000-gallon, instead of a 750-gallon unit.

MAYOR STANG in a letter to the aldermen on the fire department request that the volunteer fire department service was a valuable one to the city which would benefit in fire protection by purchase of the new units.

A resolution by Alderman James K. Ryan, 10th ward, and Edwin Radel, third ward, proposed that the city should consider pay increases for its employes so that none would be lost because of more attractive salaries elsewhere.

Pay raises "for the elected officials instituted by the administration," the resolution said, "are indicative of a higher cost of living to be met by wage earners of the area."

EMPLOYES in all city departments, it noted, "have to meet the same general expenses as other wage earners" and new jobs are being created by private industry, and will be a future factor" in determining adequate wage sales for city employes."

"Although it is normal for jobs, protected by civil service, to carry a slightly lower pay scale, than their counterpart in private industry," the resolution said, "it is the intent of this resolution to counsel the department heads against allowing this gap to become too great, as the city can ill afford to lose the services of a large number of our experienced personnel."

THE ALDERMEN asked that the resolution be directed to the mayor and all department heads" as a guide in preparing their departmental budgets for the year 1956."

Mayor Stang, in a letter to the aldermen, advised them of the reappointment of Joseph Avis of 152 St. James street, to the city's zoning board for a three-year team to expire Aug. 21, 1958.

A report of the traffic committee recommending a stop-sign on Bruyn avenue at Downs street, "to alleviate a serious traffic hazard, was adopted.

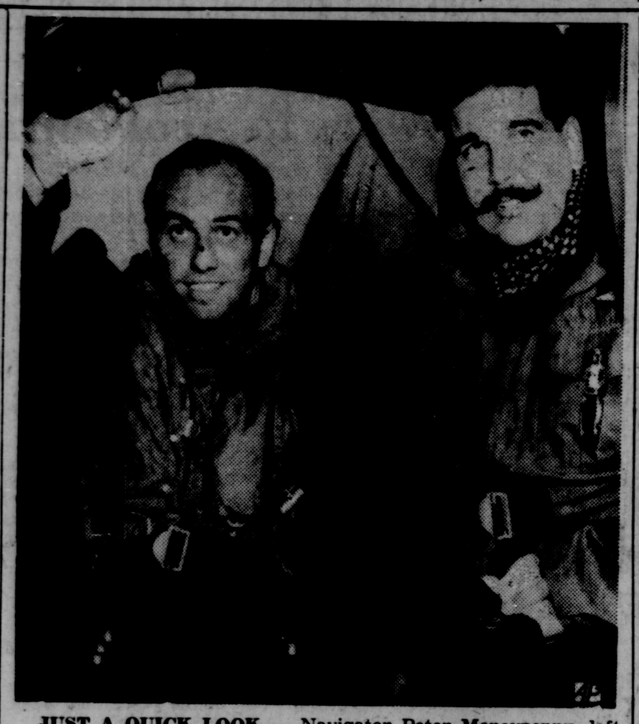

Rules Evidence Lacking

Special City Judge Harry Gold, who had reserved decision after trial of Patrick J. Jordan, of 316 Hasbrouck avenue, on a disorderly conduct charge, this week announced dismissal of the charge. Jordan was arrested on complaint of his wife, Martha last May 14 and the trial was held July 26. Dismissal, the judge said, was on the basis of a lack of evidence indicating that the alleged acts of the defendant were sufficient to constitute disorderly conduct. Attorney Charles H. Gaffney appeared for the complainant and Thomas J. Plunket for the defendant.

Dockers Stay Away

New York, Aug. 24 (AP)—Disgruntled longshoremen stayed off the job again today at many of Manhattan's west side docks but resumed work at luxury liner piers. Patrick J. Connolly, executive vice president of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.), had ordered all union members back to work last night. At that time, however, he said the men were angry and he didn't know whether they would heed orders.

exhibits, the first of two flower shows, an all-day western horse show, the vegetable and fruit exhibits, grains and grasses, poultry, rabbits and cavies, arts and crafts, and the 4H dairy and beef showmanship classes. Ayrshires will be judged Saturday night at 8 p. m. so that night fairgoers will have an opportunity to observe a cattle show ring in action.

On Sunday, the Pony show, scheduled at 2 p. m., will be the only event judged.

On Monday, August 29, there will be an all-day English horse show, registered by the American Horse Show Association. Also scheduled is the first afternoon of a two-day harness racing meet. For the first time at Rhinebeck, a mobile starting gate will be used for the trotters. Other Monday events include the judging of 4H and open class sheep, 4H Club Holsteins at 10 a. m., and open class Aberdeen-Angus, also at 10 a. m.

On Tuesday there will be the 4-H Club Baby Beef show at 9 a. m., the 4-H Club Guernsey at 1 p. m., open class Holsteins at 9 a. m., open class Herefords at 11 a. m. and the windup of the open class sheep, as well as the second afternoon of harness racing.

On Wednesday's windup there will be the judging of open class Guernseys at 10 a. m., and Irish Horan's auto daredevils before the Grandstand at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. The latter will unveil their turbo-jet car which will be blasted from a cannon.

IRISH HORAN'S auto maniacs will appear in the final day's showing only, as an added attraction to a big seven-act Grandstand program including trained seals, beautiful dancing girls, song stylists, jugglers, musicians, a contortionist, and the breath-taking Sky Kings atop their sway poles. The Grandstand show will be seen at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. every day, Saturday through Wednesday.

AN ADDED attraction for horse lovers will be the appearance of the famous Budweiser four-team brewery hitch — eight tons of perfectly matched Clydesdale horses. The team will perform daily in front of a gaily painted Anheuser-Busch wagon.

Miss Rheingold of 1955, Nancy Woodruff, also will visit on the grounds and the Schaefer train will be there, too.

MORE THAN 800 dairy and beef cattle are to be on the showgrounds, with thousands of free exhibits including attractions such as the wildlife show, 4H and Home Bureau exhibits, the latest in farm machinery and automobiles, and educational exhibits.

Children will be admitted free to the grounds Saturday and Wednesday to cut down on the anticipated all-time record attendance at the fair's first Sunday showing.

sent more than 260 trained disaster workers into six state flood areas to assist chapters in meeting emergency needs and preparing for major rehabilitation program.

He said he continued to receive first-hand reports from most of the communities stricken by the catastrophe, all of which indicated there would be "major destruction" in many communities.

"At this hour American Red Cross is operating 107 shelters, housing and feeding 12,000 homeless and providing clothing to everyone who needs it. We have established headquarters operating around the clock in disaster areas, have more than 400 nurses and 150 physicians who have volunteered for service.

"Following initial appropriation of two million dollars have informed President Eisenhower and governors of states concerned that Red Cross will make additional appropriations as needed and will continue to assist disaster-stricken families until job is finished.

"While these preliminary reports are incomplete due to character of destruction and isolation of communities and rural areas affected, present indications are that over 8,000 families will register for Red Cross assistance and that there has been severe property damage in the major areas. On the basis of these preliminary figures it is estimated that Red Cross relief required might well reach or exceed five million dollars.

"While we are not assigning an official disaster fund quota to your chapter, I personally urge that your chapter prepare for a direct appeal to the community for disaster funds and that in planning your fund raising the community be organized in a way that will provide an opportunity for all groups and corporations to receive a direct appeal for contributions."

A telegram from Harold B. Nearman of the Eastern Area, American Red Cross, pointed out that thousands of families in nine states had been affected by the floods and that the Red Cross was rendering extensive service in evacuation, food, clothing, shelter and emergency care with hundreds of homes destroyed and thousands damaged.

He said families required assistance with repair and rebuilding of homes and in the matter of household furnishings.

"Urge your chapter to initiate aggressive appeal for contributions for flood sufferers."

Charge Arising From Picketing Action Dismissed

A third degree assault charge against Samuel W. Seigel, of Mist Maid Fashions, Inc., 17 Cornell street, as an outgrowth of picketing there, is dismissed through a decision reported today by City Judge Harry Gold.

Seigel was arrested recently on complaint of Frances Colao, of the Flatbush road, one of the pickets at the plant in an effort by Local 259, International Ladies Garment Workers Union to organize about 40 workers.

TRIAL EVIDENCE indicated that the complainant and three other pickets were in front of the building as a soda delivery truck stopped there. The defendant came quickly out of the building, it was indicated and three pickets moved out of his path, but he came in contact with the complainant.

Information indicated that the contact was with an arm and elbow. This, the judge ruled, did not constitute assault, but was more an act of rudeness, because it lacked evidence of a "willful or intentional act."

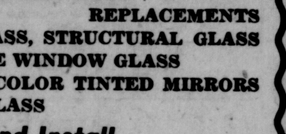

Attorney Arthur B. Ewig appeared for the defendant and Frank Martocci for the complainant.

The answers to everyday insurance problems*
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: I note that the terms of my automobile insurance state that my car is not to be used to carry passengers for hire. If I carry fellow employes to work and they share the cost am I violating those terms?

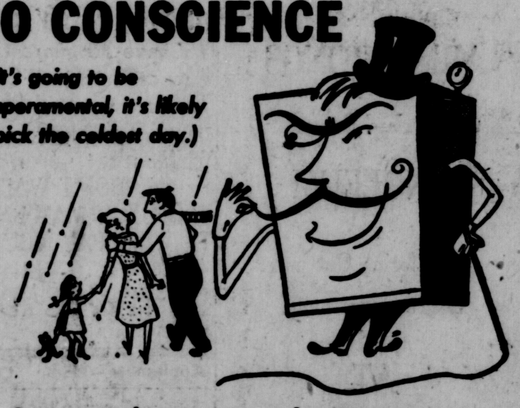

ANSWER: Only the courts can decide whether a driver is legally liable for injuries sustained by his passengers but we know of no instance of an Insurance Company denying its own liability in "share the ride" cases.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Ayrshires will be judged Saturday night at 8 p. m. so that night fairgoers will have an opportunity to observe a cattle show ring in action.

On Sunday, the Pony show, scheduled at 2 p. m., will be the only event judged.

On Monday, August 29, there will be an all-day English horse show, registered by the American Horse Show Association. Also scheduled is the first afternoon of a two-day harness racing meet. For the first time at Rhinebeck, a mobile starting gate will be used for the trotters. Other Monday events include the judging of 4H and open class sheep, 4H Club Holsteins at 10 a. m., and open class Aberdeen-Angus, also at 10 a. m.

On Tuesday there will be the 4-H Club Baby Beef show at 9 a. m., the 4-H Club Guernsey at 1 p. m., open class Holsteins at 9 a. m., open class Herefords at 11 a. m. and the windup of the open class sheep, as well as the second afternoon of harness racing.

On Wednesday's windup there will be the judging of open class Guernseys at 10 a. m., and Irish Horan's auto daredevils before the Grandstand at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. The latter will unveil their turbo-jet car which will be blasted from a cannon.

IRISH HORAN'S auto maniacs will appear in the final day's showing only, as an added attraction to a big seven-act Grandstand program including trained seals, beautiful dancing girls, song stylists, jugglers, musicians, a contortionist, and the breath-taking Sky Kings atop their sway poles. The Grandstand show will be seen at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. every day, Saturday through Wednesday.

Because stable space sold out early, horse shows manager Samuel H. Bridges said post entries will be accepted in all three horse shows.

AN ADDED attraction for horse lovers will be the appearance of the famous Budweiser four-team brewery hitch — eight tons of perfectly matched Clydesdale horses. The team will perform daily in front of a gaily painted Anheuser-Busch wagon.

Miss Rheingold of 1955, Nancy Woodruff, also will visit on the grounds and the Schaefer train will be there, too.

MORE THAN 800 dairy and beef cattle are to be on the showgrounds, with thousands of free exhibits including attractions such as the wildlife show, 4H and Home Bureau exhibits, the latest in farm machinery and automobiles, and educational exhibits.

Children will be admitted free to the grounds Saturday and Wednesday to cut down on the anticipated all-time record attendance at the fair's first Sunday showing.

Ulster Red Cross

sent more than 260 trained disaster workers into six state flood areas to assist chapters in meeting emergency needs and preparing for major rehabilitation program.

He said he continued to receive first-hand reports from most of the communities stricken by the catastrophe, all of which indicated there would be "major destruction" in many communities.

"At this hour American Red Cross is operating 107 shelters, housing and feeding 12,000 homeless and providing clothing to everyone who needs it. We have established headquarters operating around the clock in disaster areas, have more than 400 nurses and 150 physicians who have volunteered for service.

"Following initial appropriation of two million dollars have informed President Eisenhower and governors of states concerned that Red Cross will make additional appropriations as needed and will continue to assist disaster-stricken families until job is finished.

"While these preliminary reports are incomplete due to character of destruction and isolation of communities and rural areas affected, present indications are that over 8,000 families will register for Red Cross assistance and that there has been severe property damage in the major areas. On the basis of these preliminary figures it is estimated that Red Cross relief required might well reach or exceed five million dollars.

"While we are not assigning an official disaster fund quota to your chapter, I personally urge that your chapter prepare for a direct appeal to the community for disaster funds and that in planning your fund raising the community be organized in a way that will provide an opportunity for all groups and corporations to receive a direct appeal for contributions."

A telegram from Harold B. Nearman of the Eastern Area, American Red Cross, pointed out that thousands of families in nine states had been affected by the floods and that the Red Cross was rendering extensive service in evacuation, food, clothing, shelter and emergency care with hundreds of homes destroyed and thousands damaged.

He said families required assistance with repair and rebuilding of homes and in the matter of household furnishings.

"Urge your chapter to initiate aggressive appeal for contributions for flood sufferers."

Charge Arising From Picketing Action Dismissed

A third degree assault charge against Samuel W. Seigel, of Mist Maid Fashions, Inc., 17 Cornell street, as an outgrowth of picketing there, is dismissed through a decision reported today by City Judge Harry Gold.

Seigel was arrested recently on complaint of Frances Colao, of the Flatbush road, one of the pickets at the plant in an effort by Local 259, International Ladies Garment Workers Union to organize about 40 workers.

TRIAL EVIDENCE indicated that the complainant and three other pickets were in front of the building as a soda delivery truck stopped there. The defendant came quickly out of the building, it was indicated and three pickets moved out of his path, but he came in contact with the complainant.

Information indicated that the contact was with an arm and elbow. This, the judge ruled, did not constitute assault, but was more an act of rudeness, because it lacked evidence of a "willful or intentional act."

Attorney Arthur B. Ewig appeared for the defendant and Frank Martocci for the complainant.

The judge, in another reserved decision, recently dismissed disorderly conduct charges against James H. Uhl, Jr., of East Chester street extension, and James Colao, of Flatbush road, who were arrested by Seigel after a disturbance was reported at the plant during recent picketing.

Now you Know!
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: I note that the terms of my automobile insurance state that my car is not to be used to carry passengers for hire. If I carry fellow employes to work and they share the cost am I violating those terms?
ANSWER: Only the courts can decide whether a driver is legally liable for injuries sustained by his passengers but we know of no instance of an Insurance Company denying its own liability in "share the ride" cases.
* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.
